

THE DELUGE.

Some Stories of the Great Flood at Johnstown.

Thrilling Accounts of Narrow Escapes Told by Survivors—Many Deaths of Heroism—Pathetic Incidents of the Wrecked Disaster.

TWO MEN were sitting in a restaurant when they saw the pallid faces of people who were fleeing down the street. They sprang through the back door, through an alley and up the side of a hill, but so swift was the progress of the water that they had to wade through water up to their waists before reaching the high ground. They had little more than a block to go, and the people who were twenty feet behind them were caught by the flood and swept away. The water came in a wall, preceded by a yellowish cloud of mist or foam, and as it caught the blocks of houses it swept them down together with a succession of crashes that was terrible. As soon as possible they began the work of organizing relief parties to rescue the people who were on the houses that had been swept back into Stony Creek when the water could not escape below. One secured a clothes-line which was used to fasten to a raft with a strong man to take the people off the houses. A river man volunteered for this work, and with a rope tied securely about his body he made many trips into the flood, and each time brought two people ashore with him. The other gentlemen carried these people up to the high ground, where they were cared for by the residents of that locality. They rescued over fifty people in this way, mostly women and children.

Miss Mary Adams drifted on the top of a box-car towards the burning debris at the stone bridge. Her raft lodged about twenty feet from the flames, which were burning furiously. Boards and drift of all kinds was packed around her and she could not move any thing but her hands and head. The flames crept nearer and nearer, and she became frantic, calling out to the men on the bank to shoot her or stone her to death. At last a rope was thrown her which she fastened around her body. The flames at this time were all around her. The men dragged her ashore more dead than alive. Her left arm was broken in two places and both legs were badly crushed.

Miss George Stautler was rescued alive Thursday night from the wreck of a house. She was lying in a cavity beneath a pile of beams and rafters which held up the mass of ruins on top and prevented them from crushing her. She was unconscious and was just breathing. Her hold on life was a very slender one, and it is not probable that she will live, although she is receiving the tenderest care. When the news of her rescue, after six days and nights of exposure and lack of nourishment, spread through the town, hundreds of people crowded about the stretcher on which she was being carried to see her. It is considered almost miraculous that she should have remained alive so long. The rain and cold were enough to kill her.

The body of a woman was found with a pretty baby clasped in her arms with what had been a most loving embrace. All efforts to unclasp her arms were unavailing. The only way to get the baby from the dead mother was to break the arms, and the rescuers resolved to let them lie in death as they had in life.

William Gaffney lost fourteen relatives, including his wife and two children. Several of the bodies he recovered, and he aided in the performance of the funeral duty of digging their graves and burying them. In speaking of the matter he said: "I never thought that I could perform such a sad duty, but I had to do it and I did it. No one has any idea of the feelings of a man who acts as undertaker, grave-digger and pall-bearer for his own family."

"Mamma, mamma!" cried a child. She had recognized a body that no one else could, and in a moment the corpse was ticketed, boxed and delivered to laborers, who bore it away to join the long funeral procession. No hearses were seen in Johnstown. Relatives recognized their dead, secured the coffins and got them carried the best way they could to the graveyards. A prayer, some tears and a few more of the dead thousands were buried in Mother Earth.

Mrs. Ogilvie was the Western Union telegraph operator at Johnstown for twenty years. Her daughter, Minnie, was her assistant. She was at her post when the flood came. Her last message was one of warning to those lower down in the valley. She could have escaped with her daughter and two other assistants had she selfishly minded the first warnings that came over the wire. He ordered that no one else could, and in a moment the corpse was ticketed, boxed and delivered to laborers, who bore it away to join the long funeral procession.

A wealthy young Philadelphia named Ogilvie recently became engaged to a Johnstown lady, Miss Carrie Diehl. They were to be wedded in the middle of June, and both parties were preparing for the ceremony. The lover heard of the terrible flood, but, knowing that the residence of his dear one was up in the hills, felt little fear for her safety. To make sure, however, he started for Johnstown. Near the Fourth street morgue he met Mr. Diehl. "Thank God you are safe!" he exclaimed, then added: "Is Carrie well?" "She was visiting in the valley when the wave came," was the mournful reply, then he beckoned the young man to enter the chamber of death. A moment later Mr. Ogilvie was kneeling beside a rough bier and was kissing the cold, white face. From the lifeless finger he slipped a thin, gold ring, and in its place put one of his own. Then he stole quietly out—one of the thousands made to mourn by the bursting of the South Fork dam.

The most pathetic case yet brought to light is that of James Elgin. He had come to Johnstown to attend the wedding of his sister Ellen. He knew of the fact that a terrible disaster had taken place, but had no idea that his family was involved. His agony may be imagined rather than described when learning on his arrival that his mother and three sisters had been drowned and his father demented over the terrible affliction. The old gentleman was crying like a child and asking those he met: "Did you see them? Did you see them go down? They will come back for the wedding to-night. She has gone for her bride's dress."

SAMOAN SETTLEMENT.

The Agreement Signed—What the Commissioners Have Agreed To.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A dispatch received here from Berlin, states that the Samoan conference had met again and after a brief discussion concluded their labors when the agreement negotiated by the Commissioners was signed by all the members of the conference. At the State Department it was announced that the agreement would not be made public until confirmed by the Senate. While it was called an agreement by the officers of the State Department, Walker Blaine said last evening that he thought it would undoubtedly require ratification by the Senate. If the instrument signed was one regulating the conduct of two countries toward each other, as for instance, between the United States and Samoa, it would properly be designated as a treaty, but where the instrument signed is to shape the conduct of three Governments—the United States, England and Germany—towards a fourth party—Samoa—it is held that its proper nomenclature was an agreement. At the same time, as it was a matter affecting the foreign policy of the United States, it would need ratification by the Senate, and therefore, it could not be made public prior to action by the Senate. The agreement was cordially approved by all members of the conference and by their respective Governments. The best of feeling prevailed at the termination of the labors of the Commissioners.

WHAT THE AGREEMENT PROVIDES. BERLIN, June 15.—America having abandoned her principal objections to the agreement previously arrived at, the plenipotentiaries had only to make essential modifications in the wording of the draft of treaty. The draft guarantees an autonomous administration of the islands under the joint control of Germany and America, England acting as arbitrator in the event of differences arising. The Samoans are to elect their own King and Viceroy and to be represented in a Senate composed of the principal chiefs and chambers elected by the people. Samoa is to have the right of levying duties of every kind. The Germans are to receive a money indemnity for their losses. A special arbitrator is appointed to deal with the land question. The Americans made their adhesion conditional upon the ratification of the treaty by the United States Senate. The status quo will therefore obtain in Samoa until December. Mr. Phelps will carry the agreement to Washington and it will not be published until signed by the American Government.

Messrs. Kason, Bates and Phelps cordially thanked Count Herbert Bismarck for the courteous manner in which they had been treated and warmly praised the skill and tact with which he had presided over the deliberations of the conference. Sir Edward Malet thanked Count Herbert on behalf of the English delegates. Count Herbert in reply said he hoped they had reached a final solution of the difficult question.

Another Incendiarious Stable Fire in Kansas City—Two Hundred and Fifty Horses Perish in a Few Months. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 15.—At 12:05 o'clock yesterday morning the Metropolitan street car stable, at Seventeenth and Madison avenues, were discovered in flames. In the barn there were eighty-five mules and three horses. Of these thirteen mules and the horses were upstairs. According to Stablehand Gordon's account only two horses and four mules were got out of the second story, leaving the one horse and nine mules to perish. Of the thirteen cars in the barn eleven were saved and about half the harness was got out. At this time the burning timbers began falling and the rescuers were compelled to desist from their work. Two firemen were badly burnt during the fire. Hoseman Con O'Hara, of hose reel No. 4, became fastened in the scales on the north side of the building through the breaking of a rotten plank. The flames were close to him and he was burned about the face and almost suffocated before being taken out. His left arm was hurt and it is thought broken. Hoseman George Mooney, of hose reel No. 3, ventured too far into the burning barn and was burned in the face before he could retire.

Among the stable employes this morning there was little or no doubt that the fire was of incendiary origin. The loss is $20,000. Kansas City has of late had a fearful record in the burning of horses and mules. During the past nine months scarcely less than 250 animals have perished in flames. Among the most memorable of these losses were Goodwin's stable on Grand avenue, destroyed about two weeks ago, the Hanson Cab Company's stables at Fifth and Grand avenues, where twenty horses were burned, the Landis Company's barn on Troost avenue, in which eighty horses were lost, the Metropolitan street car stables at Fourth and Wyandotte, where fifty-three mules perished, and Spaulding's stable on Grand avenue, where eleven horses were burned to death.

Sullivan Admitted to Bail. CHICAGO, June 15.—Alexander Sullivan was admitted to bail in Judge Tuiley's court at five o'clock yesterday afternoon. His bond, which was fixed at $20,000, was promptly given and was signed by Michael W. Kirwin, James Twoby, Daniel Corkey and Ferdinand Jones. In rendering his decision upon the writ of habeas corpus, Judge Tuiley said substantially that the only important testimony from a legal point of view against Sullivan is that of J. D. Haggerty, who swears to having himself heard Sullivan use threats toward Dr. Cronin, but that taken in toto the testimony does no more than direct suspicion against him.

Suicided in His Cell. NEW YORK, June 15.—Camillo Borgatti, who was confined in the Tombs upon a charge of murdering one of his countrymen, last evening suicided by hanging himself in his cell. He made a rope from bed ticking, climbed upon the bed, fastened one end to the pipes over head in the cell and jumped off. When found he had been dead for some time.

INDIAN OUTBREAK.

The Chippewa Indians in Minnesota Reported to Have Murdered Several Families.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 14.—The following telegram was received at Governor Merriam's office at 5:30 last evening and the startling intelligence that the Chippewa Indians in the vicinity of Mille Lac lake are once more at their bloody work of butchering inoffensive settlers: MORA, Minn., June 13.—The Chippewa Indians at Mille Lac lake commenced killing and driving out the white settlers last night at midnight. Six whites killed and wounded—all inoffensive Swedes. No known cause. Five o'clock a. m.—Don't know how many may have been killed last night. Help us and quiet the Indians. Soldiers can come to Mora, thence to Mille Lac lake or to Millea station, and to lake. Answer. EVAN MCKELVIN. Prompt measures will be taken to suppress the uprising.

THREE FAMILIES PROBABLY KILLED. MORA, Minn., June 14.—Evan Nicholas arrived here from Mille Lac reservation yesterday and reported that a Swede named Mapeson had been shot and killed by an Indian and that three families who had located there were missing. The settlers are getting very anxious and are expecting an attack at any minute. The Indians have been having a dance and have come from all parts of the reservation and are drinking and making the woods ring with their hideous howls. The people of Mora are making arrangements to raise a company of home rangers and send to their relief if news of any further depredations are received.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 14.—A telegram was received by the captains of the militia companies here last evening from Mora, Minn., stating that the Chippewa Indians on the Mille Lac reservation were creating trouble; that several white families were supposed to have been murdered. The militia were asked to hold themselves in readiness to leave at once. Later, however, the order was countermanded. General Ruger, commandant at Fort Snelling, having made arrangements to leave at once with several companies of regulars upon receiving intelligence of any further troubles.

A SCAB, SURE ENOUGH.

A Villainous Engineer Commits Bigamy and Attempts Murder and Suicide. BROOKFIELD, Mo., June 14.—At noon yesterday a boy came in from the Widow Richardson farm, two miles north of this city, bearing the exciting news that his brother-in-law, Mr. Leopold, had shot his wife and then fired a fatal bullet through his own head. Mr. Leopold came to this place during the "Q" strike, and took an engine on the Hannibal & St. Joseph road. After running on the road for about a year he became acquainted with and married a Miss Richardson, who was employed in the dining room of the Lapers restaurant, the place where Leopold was boarding. All seemed to go well till a short time ago when the word leaked out that Leopold had left a wife and three children in the East when he came to Brookfield. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but he got out of the town and made good his escape. Nothing more was heard of him till yesterday, when he made his appearance at the Richardson farm, where his wife was stopping with her mother. It seems he got into a quarrel with his wife, when he fired a ball through the unfortunate woman's brain and then shot himself. It is reported that the woman is dead and that he can live only a few hours, at most.

TARIFF REFORM.

Ex-President Cleveland Writes a Letter on the Subject. BALTIMORE, Md., June 14.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland has written the following letter to the secretary of the Maryland Tariff Reform Club under date of June 11: "Your letter informing me of my election as an honorary member of the Maryland Tariff Reform Club is received. I accept the courtesy thus tendered me with thanks. The object and purposes of the club as set forth in the declaration accompanying your letter have my hearty sympathy and support, and I believe their accomplishment absolutely essential to the highest prosperity of our people and the highest development of our country. You ask, however, permit me to say that so far as parties are concerned my hope and reliance for a better condition of things are upon the Democratic organization, which, in my opinion, can not be true to its conditions and ancient creed without a hearty and sincere espousal of the cause to which your club is devoted."

Rough on Rossa. NEW YORK, June 14.—The suit of O'Donovan Rossa against Patrick Sarsfield Cassidy for libel was dismissed by Police Justice Smith yesterday, after hearing the testimony, which showed that Rossa had accepted $3250 in full settlement of any damage which he might have sustained by the publication of the alleged libel in the Catholic News. All of the citizens convened in the publication and many more discredited Rossa were proved by the testimony which included a letter written by Henry Labouchere convicting Rossa of intimacy with the British spies and informers. By the testimony of Patrick Ford, Cassidy, Richard Short, the man who stabbed Captain Phelan, and others, it was proved that Rossa had defaulted in almost every instance entrusted to him for specific objects. The judge seeing that Rossa had not a leg to stand on summarily dismissed the case.

Sympathy For Sufferers. WASHINGTON, June 14.—The President has referred the telegrams received from the mayor of Sydney, Australia, Hon. H. A. Atkinson, Premier of Wellington, New Zealand, and from a number of prominent gentlemen in England expressing their sympathy with the flood sufferers in Pennsylvania, to the Secretary of State, who has made suitable acknowledgment on the part of the Government. The President is also in receipt of a dispatch from the manager of the Lyon Fire Insurance Company, of England, offering to contribute $1,000 for the relief of the sufferers, to which Secretary Blaine replied, and requested the amount to be deposited with the United States Minister in London.

Samoa Disagreement. BERLIN, June 14.—The American Commissioners to the Samoan conference have received instructions from Secretary Blaine in relation to the protocol drawn up by the conference. Mr. Blaine disagrees with several provisions of the protocol, and also is of the opinion that England and Germany have not gone far enough in respect to the rights conferred by the United States. The conference had a sitting yesterday to receive Mr. Blaine's reply. The English and German Commissioners will afterwards consider Mr. Blaine's objections and decide upon what policy they shall pursue, and upon the attitude which they adopt depends the continuance of the conference.

THE HOSTETTER STOMACH BITTER PEOPLE.

Some Another Point.

In the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, Judge Shipman handed down an opinion a few days ago in the suit of the owners of the trade marks covering Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against Arnold Theller and Cornell Theller, the compounders located on Vesey street, New York City, in which it was decided that although the defendants made use of their own names on the labels affixed to the bottles containing bitters prepared by them, yet as they were evidently designed to imitate the Hostetter labels, they were infringers, and a perpetual injunction was granted, and an accounting of damages ordered, together with the costs of the suit. It is the evident intention of the Hostetter people to protect their valuable trade mark against all infringers.

A Piece of Her Mind. A lady correspondent has this to say: "I want to give a piece of my mind to a certain class who object to advertising when it costs them any thing—this won't cost them a cent. I suffered a living death for nearly two years with headaches, backache, in pain standing or walking, was being literally dragged out of existence, my misery increased by drugging. At last, in despair, I committed the sin of trying an advertised medicine, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and it restored me to the blessedness of sound health. I honor the physician who, when he knows he can cure, has the moral courage to advertise the fact." The medicine mentioned is guaranteed to cure those delicate diseases peculiar to females.
