DENVER THE QUEEN CITY

Of the Plains, Teeming With Enterprise, Prosperity and Success.

On last Wednesday, the editor of THE CHIEF in company with the Holland hose company departed for the Magic City of the Plains to take part in the fireman's tournament and to view the picturesque scenery of Colorado. In due season the fire boys arrived in Denver and were assigned to positions on the grounds, but unfortunately were unable to take any premiums from the fact that the judges seemed inclined towards favoring the Colorado teams to the exclusion of all foreign teams, and in many instances they wantonly fixed the time to suit themselves without regard to facts. Our boys however made fast time, but were successfully counted out and at one time it looked as if the tournament might come to an abrupt end by some of the unjust discriminating on the part of the judges. However peace was accomplished by devious methods and many promises and continued on until the day came for ending. In justice to many people of Denver, the manner of conducting the tournament was not approved of and generally condemned as being decidedly unfair to competing volunteer companies from other states. However, aside from the tournament

THE CITY OF DENVER

is one of the most charming cities on the continent, and is growing far beyond the expectations of her greatest admirers. Improvements of all kinds are going rapidly forward, new dwellings by the hundred and business houses by the dozens, are being erected just as fast as money and labor can accomplish the work. The cable company are laying track in nearly every important street and soon Denver will have the benefit of rapid transit in as good shape as any city in the country. Denver is the pride of every one of her citizens, and nothing short of Denver's prosperity will satisfy them in their race for wealth, ambition and happiness. She has all kinds of manufacturing enterprises, among the most important are her mining interests, as a visit to the great smelting works will readily show. The city of Denver is certainly the wonder of the day, as her surroundings, which go to build up most cities are conspicuously absent with the exception of her mining interests. The agricultural prospect is not desirable from the fact that the soil appears to be anything but productive except where irrigation is resorted to. However the absence of good land adjacent to the city does not seem to affect the growth of the place as she steadily goes ahead, and every year shows many hundred, added to her all ready large population. The nearly all, put up at the Western hotel on 12th street, which by the way is one of the best general hotels in Denver and from there the Nebraskans radiated to all parts of the city and to the various mountain resorts to take in the scenery of which Colorado has many places of interest most of which has been told and retold, and yet has many fascinating features to those who have many times visited those places. The trip up Clear Creek canyon, to Georgetown, Silver Plume and Graymount are features that make the imaginative mind wonder over and over again how the first settlers could ever have the nerve to leave home and friends and go to such a barren waste, but now things are differently shaped, instead of the old California stage road half way up the mountain side, a good railroad traverses the foot of the ranges up to Greymount passing through many thriving cities. This railroad and especially the Georgetown loop which rises to an elevation of 7000 feet in a mile is the admiration of all sightseers, and the engineer skill is simply to be wondered. The canyon everywhere is dotted with mines, miner's cabins and mining machinery, and some of the richest mines in the world are located at Silver Plume. At Greymount, "Grey's Peak" and the "Big Professor" mountains were only a little way distant but none of the crowd had any desire to ascend these somewhat famous mountains. There are many other places of resort notably, Pikes Peak, Manitou, Colorado Springs, Leadville, etc., etc., a description of which we have not the space to note. The trip was a very pleasant one and the Red Cloud people made the best of it enjoying it hugely, vowing that in the near future they would take in the beautiful city again.

RED CLOUD PEOPLE

You Cannot Afford

At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balsam. In the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflammation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of Reg's diarrhoea balsam will do more good in cases of this kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it. C. L. COTTING druggist.

INAVALUE.

Mr. Kenyon and son of Hudson, Mich., is visiting H. G. Sawyer and Charley Hunter has gone to Omaha with cattle and hogs. Charley is putting a nice line of hardware in his store and is getting a good trade.

Business is improving.

Mayor Irons is unloading several carloads of lumber.

E. A. VanDyke is building a nice residence north of town.

Mr. Frank Coulson has returned from California and will move in Mr. Orchard's house for the present.

Mr. Wills from the south side is showing some corn over 13 feet high.

Farmers are threshing in this neighborhood and the oats are not turning out as well as expected.

A couple of our enterprising farmers got "hot" over a business transaction the other day in Sawyer's store and invited each other out to settle the matter, but they cooled off as soon as the outside atmosphere struck them.

There is some buzzing in the air around here, partly mosquitoes, partly candidates.

Mrs. Knight has gone to Milwaukee, and G. W. looks forlorn.

Mr. Hartwell of the cheese factory has just got out a good dividend for the month of June which makes the patrons smile.

FRANKIE.

Why Is It

That people linger along always complaining about that continual tired feeling? One bottle of Reg's blood purifier and blood maker will remove this feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion. C. L. COTTING, druggist.

Cancers can be cured, having devoted a good deal of time for the last 35 years to the study and cure of cancers, and having never in one single instance failed where I had the patient before the cancer commenced to eat and agrate, and many where they had commenced. Come right along dear friends to my house and I will send you home in five days rejoicing. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so like an honest man. References: John Stoddard, Walnut creek, Neb.; Mr. Bearshley, Logan, Kan. My house is 12 miles south of Red Cloud, in Smith county Kansas.

Wonderful Effects of the Elixir of Life.

To THE EDITOR: My dear sir, I hasten to communicate to you certain facts connected with the use, by a number of our people, of the "Elixir of Life" the greatest and most wonderful discovery of the great Dr. Brown-Sequard the French chemist, whose achievement is destined to revolutionize the physical world in that this mystic compound restores the youth of the oldest man in the world if he will only have the courage to stand for a while the jeers and scoffs of this age of unbelievers. As an exemplification of what I have been saying, an advance agent of an enterprising firm called upon a number of our oldest and most influential citizens last night, and after delivering a rattling harangue to a lot of jolly old chaps, finally got their consent to try—as they supposed—humbly of the first water. By mutual understanding each old fellow was to swallow just one drop of the elixir at precisely 10 o'clock and then retire for the night. Wherefore about a dozen of the jolliest old boys in town swung off into dream-land a couple of hours earlier than usual, and dreamed their divers dreams until the early crowing of the cock, when, strange to relate, the villagers were awakened by the sound of tramping feet on the board walks, shouts of laughter and snatches of school-boys' songs such as were only familiar to the oldest inhabitants alike with these roistering songsters of the early morning. The entire village was finally aroused and then the fun began. Of course, those not on to the racket thought the old fellows were out on a bum. The scene was in some instances grotesque. One old fellow had his shoes off and with his suspenders tied around him, was climbing a telegraph pole, another had climbed a ladder and was robbing a pigeon's nest under the eaves of the grain elevator, another was stoning a neighbor's cat, another robbing a plum orchard, and another trying to back a bucking pony. By and by the sound of a tin horn was heard, and in a few moments the old chaps came dodging in and out of streets and alleys speeding like racers in the direction of the sounding bugle. Once on the ground and the fun began. Hats, coats, vests and shoes came off in a twinkling and out onto the common went the old boys for a romp. They jumped, turned hand-springs, played leap-frog etc. until their families came and besought them to return to their homes. But it was no go until they were promised immunity from being kept in doors a moment after breakfast should have been disposed of. And out of the round dozen, it is said, not a single old lad could be induced to enter the house with his hat and shoes, but hid them away outside the enclosure. Well, at this writing (4 p.m.) we can hear the songs, whoops, and boisterous laughter of this happy little band of adventurous old citizens who are sanguine in the belief that they have struck a good thing. The agent is still here offering to bet a hundred to one that the youth of these old boys will be thoroughly restored inside of six months, and another club is being formed for experiment to-night. Meanwhile our doctors look on with considerable disgust, but as a rule have agreed to await future results. Now if this great discovery proves to be half what is so confidently claimed for it, how the world will be revolutionized. I will report future progress in the premises from time to time, so that your readers may have the bottom facts. But, my dear sir, don't allow any of your obnoxious contemporaries to get hold of a bottle of this rejuvenating cordine, lest they drink and live forever.

Sincerely yours,

BILL WILLOUGHBY.

The Omaha Fair and Exposition.

The F. E. & M. V. railroad will sell excursion tickets September 2nd to 6th at $5.05. Good to return September 7.

NOTICE.

All persons that have killed wolves or coyotes in Webster county during the present year are entitled to $1.00 from the State for each animal so killed. Certificates of county clerk is necessary. Red Cloud, Aug. 27, 1889.

J. H. BAILEY.

JUDSON.

Old settlers reunion next Friday. Judging from the way some of our boys are building new houses there will be some weddings very soon.

Quite a number of our young married men have built this summer. Chas. Davis built a new house, Chas. Barrett has built one, S. Billings is laying his foundation, James Gillis is getting ready to build and Mart Payne has made the cage and caught the bird but we did not taste the cake.

James Billings and wife are visiting with his father.

Lyman Stone has gone to Colorado to his farm.

J. M. Brown painted the town of Lebanon red.

The Pride of Woman.

A clear pearly and transparent skin is always a sign of pure blood, and all persons troubled with dark, greasy, yellow or blotched skin can rest assured that their blood is out of order. A few doses of Reg's blood purifier and blood maker will remove the cause and the skin will become clear and transparent. Try it and if satisfaction is not given it will cost you nothing. It is fully warranted. C. L. COTTING, druggist.

COWLES.

Mrs. C. W. Fuller, Miss Chloe and two of the smaller children started on Monday last for Iowa to visit relatives.

L. C. Bennet started last Tuesday for Ill. to visit relatives. He took his two little boys with him.

School commences next Monday, Mr. Scroff, Principal, instead of Mr. Miller as stated last week.

O. B. Wells of Lawrence was visiting in Cowles the first part of the week.

Miss Flora Brown returned to her home near Cowles last week. She has been spending a year in New York state.

Rev. J. M. Stealy has bought property in Cowles and will return soon.

Rev. W. D. Page and wife returned to their home in Curtis this week.
