THE PIONEER

Feed, Sale and Livery Barn!

F. N. RICHARDSON, Prop, Red Cloud.

We have more hay and more corn, more oats, and more barn (all of which we purchased when prices were way down) than any firm in town, therefore we are prepared to give you lower rates than any firm between the 2 oceans. Boarding by the day, week or month. We do not brag of our horsemanship. Stock in our care shows their keeping. Call on us at the old reliable barn back of Postoffice and be convinced that what we tell you is true.

WALNUT CREEK

Knows is shaired.
School in Dist. 3 has closed for the year and the faces of the school board again begin to assume their normal expression of "peace and good will to men." Now and then however an expression of sadness fits over them as they think of the school ma'am's parting shot: "The school board don't know nuthin and they care less than they know." Heavens?
Mac Fulton has the mumps. Put a d in front of the first m and that is what ails the rest of us.
A surprise party of the "buzzing bee" order swooped down like an avalanche a few evenings since on Joe Jones. You should hear Joe tell about it. See he, "We just buzzed and buzzed until exhausted nature gave out. Then we tackled other games, amongst others was one game viz. who could repeat a sentence over and over again the fastest, such as, 'Round the rugged rocks the ragged rascal ran.' I beat the sheet and the sheet beat me etc, etc." Joe says yum yum even yet, just to think of it, and as for the sentences just try 'em yourself.
J. Thayer has moved onto the farm he bought of John VanWine.
People along the lower end of Buffalo creek, have a lurking suspicion that there is some one among 'em who has forgotten one of the ten commandments, as articles of "portable property" have taken to disappearing over night. One party reports that several loads of hay have gone hunting for a new location, and have evidently found it. Another says that his horse "have taken to clopping, forgetting to lope back." A surprise party, (not on the buzzing bee order) is being talked of in connection with this matter.
The "faithful on Walnut creek have buckled on their armour afresh in the battle with Satan. Prayer meeting Thursday night, preaching Sunday night and Sunday school on the Sabbath. All in all religion appears to have taken quite a hold—on the district wood pile.
There is talk of organizing a Farmer's alliance on Walnut creek. May it not end in talk.
As going to show that "the Lord tempests the wind, etc." it is said that a prominent democrat from "up north" was sitting in a quiet game of "draw" and was ahead of "he game when the F. & M. Fire broke out. Grand father Pittney says: "The F. & M. has a habit of helping the democrat out."
G. W. Hastings is once more a full-fledged Walnut creeker, having moved on the Vaughn farm which he bought from T. Crocker.
About "the problem for farmers." At a recent sale, the farmers ran up the price of articles sold, to fully 50 per cent above their cash value. "Time" did it. This time business with its attendant ills, etc., is what broke Benjamin Franklin once prepared a set of rules that could be read with profit by the farmers in general. The editor of the Courier hit the "bull's eye" when he said "farmers need better business methods."
There was an oyster supper last week for the benefit of the minister. The conditions were that the man who got the oyster was to treat the crowd. Nobody knows for certain who secured it although there is a dim suspicion that Vance got the oyster and an absolute certainty that the preacher got left.
It is reported that Julius Jacobson fooled the church people a trip. Noting the look of terror and anxiety on his face during the recent meetings, they thought that he was thinking of the hereafter. Well it transpires that he was thinking of it, but it wasn't the eternal hereafter, as they thought. For particulars consult list of marriage licenses. Ah Julius my boy, Dennis has been there "already," and may the Lord have mercy on your soul.
Your Ash creek correspondent makes an "smile." For his benefit allow me to state that Dennis is a battle scarred veteran that fought blind and carried a sword war in comparison to which your little chisling isn't a circumstance. You had better let Miss King orbitate your troubles for you better it is too late.

If you don't the chances are that your school will meet with the fate of Dan McGinty—a first cousin of DENNIS.

Secretary District Assembly No. 2974, M. of A.

Red Cloud, Mar. 6th, '90.

WHEREAS that gigantic monopoly, the Standard Oil Company, and the Consolidated Tank Line Co., having invaded Red Cloud with their little blue wagons, therefore be it

Resolved, that as our aim is to war against all monopolies and trusts, that we pledge ourselves as a body, not to buy or use any of their oil, and further be it.

Resolved, that we will not patronize any business house that buys, sells or uses their oil, and further

Resolved, that we call upon all K. of L. and Farmers Alliances in Smith and Jewell counties, Kansas, and Webster and Franklin counties in this state to pass similar resolutions and help us to drive the Standard Oil Co. and wagon from Red Cloud, thereby protecting one of our home industries, and further,

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be printed at least three weeks in all the county papers. Blue Hill and Riverdale papers please copy.

G. F. MILLER.

Went to Wood.
Little Lloyd E. Ferman, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ferman, stopped out of this earthly home and took his home in the regions of angels and sang to God's home on Wednesday, March 6th, 1890, at three o'clock p. m.

Little Lloyd had not been well for two weeks, but was not thought to be seriously illing, but the night before his death he was taken with serious convulsions, and though he revived some at times, it was not to recover.

The remains were followed to the M. E. Church, yesterday, by many friends of the bereaved parents, after services conducted by Rev. Dr. Mrs. the sad march to the grave was continued. After services there, the body was laid to rest, to await the resurrection morning and the funeral procession returned with heavy hearts.

While little Lloyd will be missed in the earthly home he has been welcomed to a heavenly home, and the Christian hope of the bereaved reaches to the time when this dear one will meet them at the gate to welcome them to an everlasting reunion.—Berkham Pioneer.
