Pasture for Horses and Cattle.
We have an extensive pasture on sections 8 and 9 in Walnut Creek township. Upland and bottom land, shade creek runs through it, besides two good wells with tanks and windmill. Good corral for taking up stock. Smooth top wire in pasture. Horses can be left at our stable and we will deliver them to pasture. For further particulars enquire of J. C. Holcomb & Co., Holland House Livery or Frank Coulson at the farm.

Cows and Cattle.

Low prices will always sell the goods. One can see this by going into Wieners. His stock of women's shoes has been reduced to one third the size it was a month ago. His piles of Clothing are being lowered rapidly, and one can see everywhere in the large store occupied by him, that he has sold a great many goods this season. Good goods at low prices have done the work for him.

Notice to Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that I will examine all persons who may desire to offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the public schools of this county, at Red Cloud, on the third Saturday of each month.

Eva J. Kim, County Sup't.

Betts Board.

I am now making brick at my yard east of Red Cloud, any one wanting good brick for foundations or chimneys, will do well to call on me before buying elsewhere. Prices reasonable.

Westward Men.

Those of our readers who may think of emigrating to the west, or who would like to buy or trade for property in that section of the country, should address a letter, with stamp, to M. L. Thomas, Treasurer of the Yuma Board of Trade, Yuma, Colorado, for information.

Yuma is a young and flourishing country seat in northeastern Colorado, and has railroad, church, school and other advantages equal to any town in the west. The editor of this paper owns valuable property in Yuma, and would recommend those who may have an opportunity to get hold of real estate there at a small cost to do so, as the town evidently has a bright future before it.
