

THE RED CLOUD CHIEF

A. C. SOMMER, Publisher. RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA

CURRENT COMMENT

A large party of New England capitalists, headed by Gen. Ben Butler, has been visiting Alabama.

In the London Bankruptcy Court a receiving order was made in the case of Grace Hawthorne, the actress.

ERNEST J. F. BARTON, an old artist of Providence, R. I., was found dead in his studio. He had ended his life with chloroform.

The death is announced in London of Baron Haussman, the Austrian and Greek architect. He designed the Athens Academy and the Parliament buildings in Vienna.

The report of a Berlin newspaper that the British and United States governments had agreed to submit the Behring sea question to the King of Italy for arbitration was premature.

The Brussels workmen's council is being socialist throughout Europe and the United States to an international congress August next, and because denied suffrage Belgian workmen are organizing a universal strike.

An Austrian ship will be sent out shortly to search in South Africa waters for the lost Archduke Johann, the Captain John Orth of the full-rigged iron ship Santa Margherita, which is supposed to have been wrecked off Cape Horn.

A House joint resolution was offered in Ohio legislation to vote against the admission of Senator-elect Brice to the United States Senate on the ground that he is not a resident of Ohio but of New York.

LONDON is interested in learning that Queen Victoria claims some credit for the authorship of "Ivanhoe." Her Majesty does not of course pretend that she wrote the novel, but she does assert that she suggested it to Sir Arthur Sullivan, and feels a sort of editor-in-chief responsibility for its reception.

INQUIRIES made at the Vatican show that the Pope's letter to Cardinal Gibbons on the question of school education in the United States will be of a pacific nature. His Holiness has not yet completed the letter. He is devoting much time and study to the subject upon which the letter will touch.

PROF. FRANKEL and Dr. Hermann covered by Prof. Lieberich and found it useful in tubercular diseases of the larynx. They say it has nothing in common with Prof. Koch's lymph, and that it is not derived from the tubercular bacillus. It does not cause fever.

The Berlin house was agitated one day recently over a canard announcing that Emperor William was ill. These reports, it is said, were circulated for the purpose of influencing subscriptions for the new loan. The authorities have decided to take action in the matter and are trying to trace the fabrications to their authors.

It is asserted that Chancellor Von Capri, on consultation with the Emperor, has decided to begin proceedings against Prince Bismarck the moment the publication of his memoirs begins. All copies of the book will be seized and the prince will be summoned before the courts to answer the charges he has himself often preferred against others.

The suspicion that Sadler, the sailor now in custody in London on the belief that he is the murderer of Caroly Nell, the woman found murdered in the Whitechapel district lately, is the assassin known as Jack the Ripper, are weakening under the proof that he was at sea at the time that five of the murders attributed to Jack the Ripper were committed.

In the United States court at Keokuk, Ia., Judge Shiras handed down his decision in the case of the United States vs. the Keokuk & Hamilton Bridge Co., deciding in favor of the bridge company, holding that congress can not confer upon the secretary of war the right to declare that a bridge is a public work, and that it is not a navigable waterway, and that that must be remedied or moved.

By a vote of 72 to 12 and after a heated debate the Arkansas House passed the railroad separate time bill, which passed the Senate some time ago, after amending to not apply to railroads less than twenty-five miles in length. Some of the negro members of the House gave vent to their indignation against the white members of the legislature, one of them predicting that it would precipitate a race war.

An official dispatch received at the Chilian legation in London from Santiago, states that the revolution is confined to the rebel squadron and to the troops at Tampa. This dispatch adds that the greatest part of Chili is quiet, and that the regular troops and the national guards are supporting the government. The accuracy of this news is doubted by Noncommercial firms in London having large Chilian connections.

Owing to the growing uneasiness among the colored people of Arkansas the democratic members of the legislature have promised to create one congressional district in the black belt, provided the negroes will be allowed to threaten to secede to Oklahoma. After the passage of the separate coach bill by the senate many prominent colored men held a secret caucus with distinguished members of the democratic party, and it is reported a satisfactory agreement was reached by which the black congressional district is to be formed.

It is stated on the authority of Calvin S. Brice that the object of the late Gould trip was to look after the Central and South American trade. Said he: "It was our desire to find what steps were necessary to carry out the intentions of the international congress to establish trade between these countries. We are completing our arrangements as rapidly as possible and have already two Southern ports—Brunswick, Ga., and Mobile, Ala.—under contract. We intend to establish several lines of steamers to the Spanish-American countries."

The Turgenieffs are the oldest and strongest society in Chicago and its environs. It is an organization of the most conservative. Recently one of its anarchic members indulged in strictures on it in a speech before another society. The Turgenieffs then expelled him. He appealed to the district governing the body, which ordered it to restore him to membership. A meeting was called and the society defied the district body by refusing by a large majority to restore the obnoxious member. It is assumed that the only thing that will supersede him is to expel the Turgenieffs from the national body, and much trouble may follow.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Gleaned by Telegraph and Mail

Both after the Senate vote on the 10th Mr. Quay addressed the Senate at length in relation to the death of General Sherman. He spoke of the great services rendered by the general and of the great loss to the country. He denounced as false the charges that he had in any way used the funds of the State when Treasurer of Pennsylvania, that he had defrauded or attempted to defraud the widow of a deceased friend, that he had procured the pardon of a convict through threats; that he had attempted to bribe Alexander F. Tutton, or that he had been engaged in other similar transactions which had been charged against him. All he vehemently denied. The Senate then adjourned until the 11th.

The American Loan & Trust Company of New York, has closed its doors. The little pot of fat base business was laying up for themselves has been upset by the revolt of the American Association and the deposition of President Thurman, son of the "Old Roman."

Between thirty and forty human skeletons have been exhumed by workmen excavating for a Methodist chapel at Forty-second street and Brooklyn avenue, Chicago. The skeletons were found in a hole which had been dug by Indians exterminated by whites.

A mother and four children lost their lives at 170 Tompkins street, New York. The mother who accidentally caused the disaster was fatally injured. Her husband, from the Old South mine reports at Denver, Col., a snowslide there which carried away the boarding house and six men. Three were rescued and three perished in the slide. The names of those killed are Billy Kohler, Tom Kendall and William Kerns.

It is semi-officially reported that the purchasing departments of the Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads will be consolidated, with Abraham Gould, brother of Jay Gould, as purchasing agent. The consolidation of the two railroads will be a very heavy expense with no beneficial results, will be abolished.

An explosion of natural gas occurred in the house of William Kent at Maryland Ferry, O., by which nine persons were badly burned, two of them fatally. The burning bureau announces the population of the state of Tennessee by races as follows: White, 1,322,971; colored, 434,306; Indians, 178,578; 64,449; Japanese, 1,735; Chinese, 1,735; population of West Virginia is given as follows: White, 729,262; colored, 35,563; Indians, 8; Chinese, 16; total, 764,779.

Four men were injured by the explosion of a keg of powder in a store in Chicago, Ill., on the 17th. The explosion occurred in a store on the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets. The explosion was caused by a keg of powder which had been carelessly stored in a room. The explosion killed one man and injured four others. The store was completely destroyed.

Two small children of Farmer Johnson, living north of Monticello, Wis., were burned to death while alone in a house on the 17th. The children were playing with a lamp which had been carelessly left burning. The house was completely destroyed.

The bill making prize fighting in Texas a penitentiary offense has passed the Texas house. The senate is also expected to pass it.

A SPECIAL dispatch from Lexington, Ky., says: "Antioch, the great old city of the West, is being destroyed by fire. The fire started in a store on the corner of Main and Second streets. The fire spread rapidly and destroyed the store and the houses on either side. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

A few days ago an account was published of the murder of Anthony Decker by Indians near Pine Bluff, S. D., and the scalpings of three of his children. One of the children, a boy, has just been found hung up by the heels to the limb of a tree. Nothing has been heard of the other children.

The stock market was quiet on the 17th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 18th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 19th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 20th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 21st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 22nd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 23rd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 24th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 25th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 26th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 27th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 28th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 29th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 30th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 31st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 1st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 2nd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 3rd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 4th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

NEBRASKA STATE NEWS.

Nebraska Legislature.

COMMITTEES reported in the Senate on the 17th. The committee on the bill to amend the act relating to the office of the State Auditor, reported favorably. The committee on the bill to amend the act relating to the office of the State Treasurer, reported favorably. The committee on the bill to amend the act relating to the office of the State Comptroller, reported favorably.

The American Loan & Trust Company of New York, has closed its doors. The little pot of fat base business was laying up for themselves has been upset by the revolt of the American Association and the deposition of President Thurman, son of the "Old Roman."

Between thirty and forty human skeletons have been exhumed by workmen excavating for a Methodist chapel at Forty-second street and Brooklyn avenue, Chicago. The skeletons were found in a hole which had been dug by Indians exterminated by whites.

A mother and four children lost their lives at 170 Tompkins street, New York. The mother who accidentally caused the disaster was fatally injured. Her husband, from the Old South mine reports at Denver, Col., a snowslide there which carried away the boarding house and six men. Three were rescued and three perished in the slide. The names of those killed are Billy Kohler, Tom Kendall and William Kerns.

It is semi-officially reported that the purchasing departments of the Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific railroads will be consolidated, with Abraham Gould, brother of Jay Gould, as purchasing agent. The consolidation of the two railroads will be a very heavy expense with no beneficial results, will be abolished.

An explosion of natural gas occurred in the house of William Kent at Maryland Ferry, O., by which nine persons were badly burned, two of them fatally. The burning bureau announces the population of the state of Tennessee by races as follows: White, 1,322,971; colored, 434,306; Indians, 178,578; 64,449; Japanese, 1,735; Chinese, 1,735; population of West Virginia is given as follows: White, 729,262; colored, 35,563; Indians, 8; Chinese, 16; total, 764,779.

Four men were injured by the explosion of a keg of powder in a store in Chicago, Ill., on the 17th. The explosion occurred in a store on the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets. The explosion was caused by a keg of powder which had been carelessly stored in a room. The explosion killed one man and injured four others. The store was completely destroyed.

Two small children of Farmer Johnson, living north of Monticello, Wis., were burned to death while alone in a house on the 17th. The children were playing with a lamp which had been carelessly left burning. The house was completely destroyed.

The bill making prize fighting in Texas a penitentiary offense has passed the Texas house. The senate is also expected to pass it.

A SPECIAL dispatch from Lexington, Ky., says: "Antioch, the great old city of the West, is being destroyed by fire. The fire started in a store on the corner of Main and Second streets. The fire spread rapidly and destroyed the store and the houses on either side. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

A few days ago an account was published of the murder of Anthony Decker by Indians near Pine Bluff, S. D., and the scalpings of three of his children. One of the children, a boy, has just been found hung up by the heels to the limb of a tree. Nothing has been heard of the other children.

The stock market was quiet on the 17th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 18th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 19th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 20th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 21st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 22nd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 23rd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 24th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 25th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 26th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 27th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 28th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 29th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 30th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 31st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 1st. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 2nd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 3rd. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

The stock market was quiet on the 4th. The market for gold was steady. The market for silver was also steady. The market for cotton was quiet. The market for wheat was also quiet.

SHERMAN AT REST.

The Remains of the Old Commandant Interred at St. Louis.

Honors Paid to His Memory All Along the Route From New York—Funeral Services at St. Louis—The Final Resting Place.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

STANFORD'S SCHEME.

The Senate Finance Committee Reports Its Adversely With Severe Comments.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Under instructions from the Committee on Finance, Senator Morrill, the chairman of the committee, reported adversely to the Senate on the Stanford bill, to provide the Government with means sufficient to supply the national want of a sound circulating medium. Senator Morrill, in his report, says the bill appears to be intended to supply a paper legal tender currency by permitting any owner of land to give a lien upon the same for twenty years to the United States Government, for which the mortgage is to receive legal tender paper currency, and be charged 10 per cent. interest.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and every testimony of respect was given the memory of the deceased by the people of New York.

The special train bearing the remains of General Sherman left New York for St. Louis on the 19th, after a brief funeral ceremony at his late residence in that city. Flags were at half mast, business houses closed and