

PURE RELIGION.

Dr. Talmage Discourses on the Beauties of Christianity.

Nothing in True Religion to Worry the Heart—Promises of Heaven—The Only Choice of Mortals—Pointed Out.

In a late sermon at Brooklyn upon the purity of true religion Rev. T. De Witt Talmage took for his text, "The crystal cannot equal it." Job xxviii. 7.

Of the precious stones of the Bible have come to prompt recognition. But for the present I take up the less valuable crystal. Job, in my text, compares saying wisdom with a specimen of topaz. An infidel chemist or mineralogist would pronounce the latter worth more than the former, but Job makes an intelligent comparison, looks at religion and then looks at the crystal and pronounces the former as of far superior value to the latter, explaining in the words of his text, "The crystal cannot equal it."

Every crystal has mathematical precision. God's geometry reaches through the crystal in its transformations. The diamond is only a crystallization of coal. Those crystals which adorn our persons and our homes and our museums have only been resurrected from former material.

Again I remark that religion is superior to the crystal in transparency. We know not when or where the crystal was first discovered. Beads of it have been found in the tomb of Alexander Severus. Vases of it are brought up from the ruins of Herculaneum.

It is a transparent Bible. All the mountains of the Bible come out: Sinai, the mountain of the law; Pisgah, the mountain of prospect; Olivet, the mountain of instruction; Calvary, the mountain of sacrifice. All the rivers of the Bible come out: Jordan, the river of paradise; Jordan, the river of holy christ; Cerith, or the river of prophetic supply; Nile, or the river of palaces, and the pure river of life from under the throne, clear as crystal. While the mountains and the river eyes have been touched by grace we find it transparent.

Ask him what he thinks of religion and he will tell you, "It is the most beautiful thing I ever saw." "The crystal cannot equal it."

Beautiful in its symmetry. When it presents God's character it does not present him as having love like a great protuberance on one side of his nature, but makes that love in harmony with his justice—a love that will accept all who come to Him, and a justice that will by no means clear the guilty.

Beautiful in religion in the sentiment it implants! Beautiful religion in the hope it kindles! Beautiful religion in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthronize an immortal spirit.

Beautiful in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthronize an immortal spirit. Beautiful in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthronize an immortal spirit.

Beautiful in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthronize an immortal spirit. Beautiful in the fact that it proposes to garland and enthronize an immortal spirit.

It comes to crystallization, but your heart resists. The trouble with you, my brother, is the coal wants to stay coal. I do not ask you to throw open the door and let Christ in. I only ask that you stop holding it in.

STOCK ITEMS.

Generally it is poor economy to work a horse hard a day, and then turn him out to look around all night.

Feeding stock a little dry feed daily, when they are first turned out, will often aid materially to prevent scouring.

In this season at least the cheapest and best pork is that which is made from grasses. With plenty of grass or clover, very little grain is necessary to maintain a good growth.

Early maturity and economy of production are two items of importance in breeding and feeding hogs for market. It is desirable to get the hog ready for market in as short a time and at as low a cost as possible.

A bucket full of two of cold well water is not the best thing in the world for a horse's stomach at a time, but if horses are given water but two or three times a day they will be so dry when it is given them that frequently one bucket of cold well water will not satisfy them.

It is not wise to consider that hogs are very much like themselves, are hungry and thirsty as they are, but by the want of it they would be so dry when it is given them that frequently one bucket of cold well water will not satisfy them.

THE FOOD OF MILLIONAIRES.

They Do Not Live on High as is Commonly Supposed.

It is rather an accepted idea with a great many persons that New York's wealthy citizens do not consider beefsteak and poultry as costly viands and rare delicacies. Such notion is erroneous. There are a great many talented cooks employed by the rich residents of the city and a great many alternate and exquisite menus are served at the dinner tables.

There is no time to be lost when the kidneys and bladder neglect their duty. Heredity and advanced with great strides. Bright's disease and diabetes are dreadfully common. Heredity and advanced with great strides. Bright's disease and diabetes are dreadfully common.
