A VIENNA dispatch says that the emperor recently spent a day in seclusion, it being the twenty-fourth anniversary of the death of his brother Ferdinand Maximilian, emperor of Mexico, who was executed by shooting at Queretaro. The subject of a renewal of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Austria was recently broached in Vienna and the imperial ministry was strongly inclined to favor the proposition. The emperor himself, however, put a firm veto upon the project and showed by the emphasis of his action that he never would forgive Mexico for the death of his brother. With the death of Francis Joseph, however, the personal objections will disappear, as the crown will then go to a nephew to whom the death of Maximilian will be a matter of history only.

Surface water swelled the streams, which run through and surround this city out of all proportions, and the large dams of Mead & Hartmann and H. H. Lamb broke about fifteen minutes after the storm began. The bottom land settlements were completely flooded.

Houses were swept away like straws and it is feared that many lives have been lost.

UTICA RUINED.

OTTAWA, Ill., June 20.—Utica, the little cement and brick manufacturing town, and the seat of many cozy and pretty homes, was devastated by a cloudburst yesterday.

The cloud broke just north of town, over a high bluff, and came into the valley with a roar that created a panic and caused the inhabitants to rush before it and seek shelter upon high ground.

Buildings were shaken from their foundations, sidewalks torn up and fences and outhouses carried away. No lives were lost and the water soon receded. Not a dwelling or place of business escaped damage and household goods to the value of many thousands of dollars were ruined. Beautiful lawns were despoiled and sand and mud to the depth of several inches covered the floors and carpets of dwellings.

Cross, of New York, civil engineer, has been making a careful survey of the city of Johnstown, the Conemaugh and Stony Creek rivers and all its tributaries in order to devise means to prevent the recurrence of another flood and avoid regular inundations of the city. His report was presented at a mass meeting of citizens, officials of the Cambria iron company and all leading business men being present. It recommends the expenditure of $200,000 in order to make life and property safe in the city. The Johnstown lumber log boom was a menace to the city and should be rebuilt or removed. The greatest point of danger lies in the stone bridge (famous in the flood), which, the report stated, did not have sufficient waterway to carry off ordinary freshets and backed spring floods into the town.

The water rose in the houses at Farmdale, east of here to a depth of three feet and many people narrowly escaped drowning. Herds of cows, horses, sheep and hogs were swept away. Crops throughout a large tract in the valley are utterly ruined.

In Copperas creek valley just across the line in Fulton county a family named Gray had a cabin. When the flood left the banks the father took his three boys and started to the hills while the mother refused to leave the house. When half way across the valley a floating log struck Gray and stunned him, and the rushing waters drowned the boys aged 12, 8 and 5. The father narrowly escaped by clinging to the log. His wife climbed to the roof of the house and was rescued.

About noon a terrific storm struck the village of Utica, eight miles west of this city, and for four hours a solid sheet of rain fell without ceasing. As the hours went by and the torrent did not abate, the water commenced rising in the streets and the people made preparations to move to the bluffs, at Pittsfield. FIFTY LIVES LOST.

ST. LOUIS, June 19.—Additional particulars of the terrible catastrophe which occurred on Sunday last near the mining city of Catorce, in the state of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, are to the effect that the cloud burst on Conhences mountain and a great stream poured down the mountain side, sweeping everything in its course. The habitations occupied by the miners were swept away and the tunnel of Guadalupe mine filled with water, drowning several miners who were working inside. A number of people living in cliff dwellings were buried alive. At Las Cruces and El Potrero on one side of the mountain and Los Catorce on the other, fifteen dead bodies have been recovered and there are believed to be many more. The mining companies' losses are heavy. Large quantities of high grade metal were carried away by the flood at the Concepcion property. Hundreds of pack animals were drowned and the road destroyed.

These are the meager details so far received from this remote district, though people here knowing the locality believe that there must have been at least fifty lives lost.

CHEYENNE LANDS.

First Installment to Open the Territory Goes Forward.

KINGFISHER, Ok., June 19.—The first installment of the $250,000 due the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians under the act of congress adopted March 3, 1891, went to Darlington yesterday. The installment consisted of 50,000 silver dollars, and four more of the same character and magnitude are to follow. Payment of the Indians will commence at once. It will require the remainder of this month and probably a portion of July to complete the payment. After this the allotment of lands to these Indians will commence. The allotting agents have been on the ground, under pay, for a month, waiting for the work to begin, but the Indians refused to accept their lands, or have any thing to do with the allotting agents, until they had received their pay in cash. It is estimated that the allotting will require from four to six months. After this the great Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservation, embracing some of the finest lands in the Indian territory and consisting of 4,000,000 acres, will be thrown open to homestead settlers. The act of congress provided that the allotment of lands to the Indians should be made in ninety days from the passage of the act, March 3, 1891, and the delay in the work is the occasion of great dissatisfaction among the people of Oklahoma and the western states generally.

The motion will be heard Saturday morning. The bank claims to have received enough subscriptions to its stock since the failure to pay all of its indebtedness. It is now asserted that it can reopen with from $125,000 to $160,000 in cash in its vaults, nearly all the stockholders having subscribed for 40 per cent additional stock.

The Policeman.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 19.—Officer Martin, charged with interrupting an osculatory performance between Miss Churchill and her fiance, was exonerated by the police board yesterday. The mother of the girl who made the complaint said they were simply parting for the night according to an established custom of which she was cognizant. The officer, on the other hand, declared that he discharged his gun, not for the purpose of alarming the neighborhood, but that he might cut short what he believed to be an impropriety between the couple.

LIGHTNING'S WORK.

Terrible Work of a Flash of Lightning at Alton—The Electric Storm East.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—During a severe storm which came up between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon some twenty-five picnickers were huddled together in an outhouse in Forest Park near the police station for protection from the rain which came down in torrents. They had scarcely got inside the building when there was a sharp flash of lightning, and then shrieks and moans and cries for help issued from the building in which the people had congregated to escape the storm's fury. A wild scene of confusion followed and policemen hurried to the scene. Nearly all of the occupants of the outhouse were more or less injured, one being killed and three very seriously injured. Following is a list of casualties:

Miss Sadie McArthur, aged 12 years, dead.

Mrs. Lizzie Golden, badly injured.

Miss Kate Bender, burned and otherwise seriously hurt.

Miss Laura Beauclerie, seriously injured.

All the injured were taken home and medical assistance summoned. None of them are fatally injured.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

A New Jersey Summer Resort Destroyed—Four Hundred Buildings Burned—The Work of a Drunken Man.

NEWARK, N. J., June 17.—The noted summer resort, Seabright, N. J., was visited by a disastrous fire last night, which reduced to ashes the large portion of the town, 400 buildings being burned and several hundred families rendered homeless. The loss was $500,000.

The fire broke out in a livery stable on River street and soon a large portion of the southern part of Seabright was in flames. Women and children ran through the streets crying and wringing their hands in a frantic manner, while the men aided the firemen to stop the flames.

Among the buildings burned were the post office, Seabright and Popenger's hotels, the Methodist church, the school house and buildings occupied by the New Jersey Telephone and a steamboat company and part of the Octagon hotel.

It is alleged that a drunken man deliberately threw a lighted match on a bale of hay in the stable which ignited. The flames spread with great rapidity to the adjoining buildings on Ocean avenue, and by 1 o'clock more than 400 buildings were consumed. No lives were lost.

LANGTRY BLACK EYES.

The Famous Lily Said to Have Been Beaten By a Young "Blood."

LONDON, June 17.—A story is being told in Paris about Mrs. Langtry and her most recent admirer, John Baird, a young Scotch millionaire known on the turf as "Abingdon" and one of the best "gentlemen" riders and amateur boxers in England. Mrs. Langtry is said to have displeased Baird by paying too much attention to one of his rivals. He, according to the story, taxed her with this and she resented his language, whereupon he struck her twice, and as a result of the encounter she is wearing two black eyes. Baird is the fellow who was expelled from the Pelican club for hiring a gang of ruffians to "queer" the Smith-Slavin prize fight at Bruges eighteen months or so ago.

An incident of the Grand Prix race in Paris last Sunday was the chastisement of Howell Osborn by Mabel Jordan at the track before several thousand spectators. The young woman attacked him with a parasol and got in several telling blows before the bewildered youth recognized the feasibility of immediate absence. Mrs. Fay Templeton Osborn is expected in Paris and all of Osborn's friends are invited to a grand banquet in honor of her return.
