are advantages to be considered when looking up a home, business location, farm, etc. West Virginia, Maryland and the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, affords these with many more advantages. No section of the United States offers superior opportunities, and persons seeking a new home should examine these states before deciding upon a location elsewhere. Improved farm lands adapted to stock raising, dairying, grain, grass and fruit growing can be obtained at low prices and easy terms. Thriving towns invite the merchant, mechanic and business men. Abundance of coal, timber, ore, water power, etc. Five sites for manufacturers. Persons desiring further information will be furnished promptly and free of charge by M. V. Richards, land and immigration agent, B. & O. R. R., Baltimore, Md.

Obituary.
Entered into eternal life in hope of a blissful immortality Friday morning, 8 o'clock, March 11th, at her home in Inavale Mrs. Elizabeth Pitney, wife of R. R. Pitney. Mrs. Pitney was born in New York county, New York, May 25th, 1832, and was 60 years of age. She leaves her companion to mourn her loss also many relatives and friends. Her son, E. H. Calkins, and daughter, Mrs. Call both of St. Louis, arrived the next morning in time to be much help and comfort all through her short term of sickness. She evidenced the gentleness of her disposition, being humbly submissive to all treatment, thankfully receiving the tender sympathies of her neighbors. She had been sick only a few days and no one realized the end was so near. Mrs. C. L. Eddy who was attending to her wants was gone only a few moments and on returning from an adjoining room and speaking to her she received no response and it was then discovered that her spirit had taken its flight.

The end of long and useful years
The last of sorrow and of pain
The change that brings us bitter tears
Has brought to her eternal gain.

It will be unnecessary to describe the wonderful love, which husband, son and daughter had for the deceased. Their actions speak with more force and truth than the writer's pencil can describe. She was a Christian being received into that communion for several years and was in full fellowship and good standing in the Christian church at Red Cloud whose duty it was to perform the last sad rites. Her funeral at the school house was largely attended. The altar and casket were covered over with beautiful flowers contributed by her many friends. The funeral was conducted by Rev. F. W. Pitney, who spoke feelingly and eloquently.

Obituary.
And now we look for a light to shine
From the Lamb who'll be the lamp;
The light of God around the shrine
Of the Spirit's eternal camp.

Farewell to our dear Mary,
The Father's call was answered;
To leave all care and sorrow
And rest in your heavenly home.

Oh could we have seen the glory
As the gates closed after you
The splendor, beauty, brightness
That burst on your raptur'd view.

The light of smiles shall light us all;
The light that overflowed with tears,
And weary hours of woe and pain
Are promises of happier years.

For God has marked each sorrowing day
And numbered each secret tear
And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay
For all his children who suffer here.

But we trust you with the dear ones
Who left us one by one,
With heartbroken anguish we murmur,
Oh, God they will be done.

The death of Mrs. Mary Dixon.
Mrs. Dixon was the mother of Mrs. J. C. Warner and Mrs. John F. Winters. She died in the triumph of the Christian faith, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Warner, on Tuesday morning, at 8 a. m. in her 70th year. Her remains were taken to Weedsport, New York for interment. A funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. D. Parris, Pastor of the Baptist church, at the residence of Mrs. J. C. Warner, on Sabbath evening, May 1, 1892. She was born in Saratoga county, New York, September, 1822.

At the age of 15 she removed with her parents to Weedsport, N. Y. When 20 years of age she accepted of the Savior and was baptised into the fellowship of the Baptist church at Weedsport, N. Y., in which church she retained her membership until her death.

At the age of 23 she was married to Chaney Dixon, with whom she lived until his death in 1848. She leaves three children. Mrs. Warner and Winters a son in New York state, so mourn her loss.

Mrs. Dixon's life among us was that of a devout and faithful follower of the Lord Jesus. Blessed are the dead who die the Lord.

Mrs. Pitney was born in New York county, New York, May 25th, 1832, and was 60 years of age. She leaves her companion to mourn her loss also many relatives and friends. Her son, E. H. Calkins, and daughter, Mrs. Call both of St. Louis, arrived the next morning in time to be much help and comfort all through her short term of sickness. She evidenced the gentleness of her disposition, being humbly submissive to all treatment, thankfully receiving the tender sympathies of her neighbors. She had been sick only a few days and no one realized the end was so near. Mrs. C. L. Eddy who was attending to her wants was gone only a few moments and on returning from an adjoining room and speaking to her she received no response and it was then discovered that her spirit had taken its flight.
