Five hundred grand army men attending the state encampment at Fresno, Cal., indulged in a jack rabbit round-up. When within five miles of the corral the two wings formed a circle and closed in on the game. Twenty-five thousand is the number bagged and of these 3,000 were simply trampled to death as the final rush was made. The slaughter of the animals was sickening, the clubs spattering blood and brains over everybody for an hour.

THE Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. has completed a locomotive, the like of which has never been put on a railroad before. Its appearance is odd and attracts a great deal of attedtion. The locomotive, tank and place to carry coal are together, there being no tender attached by coupling. The locomotive proper is smaller than the regulation size of large class locomotives, but with the tank it is longer. It weighs about 160,000 pounds. The lotive has six "drivers." The front truck has two wheels and the rear truck, on which the tank rests, has six. It is a compound engine, and if it proves a success more will be built.

THERE is a slight touch of romance in the history of Isaac Rakestraw, of Geneva, Neb., and Mrs. Catherine Raines, of Silver Creek, Col., who were married at Lincoln, Neb., the other day. They are both 68 years of age. Forty years ago they were lovers in their native village in Ohio. Their paths diverged, an t until a few months ago they had not seen each other since early youth. In the meantime Mrs. Raines had three matrimonial ventures; Rakestraw had had four wives, but when they were again thrown together it so happened that neither had at that time a matrimonial incumbrance. The old spark was quickly fanned into a living flame.

SI HASSAN BEN ALI, the Moorish chief who left New York last summer to collect rare exhibits from the African wilds for the world's fair, has communicated with N. J. Riberly, of the federal immigration bureau. The explorer states that he has arrived at Fez. When at the court of Moulay Hassan, the sultan, he succeeded in creating a most profound impression and enlisting the sympathies and aid of the sultan mainly by means of an Edison phonograph, which he caused to play "Yankee Doodle," "Down on the Suwanee River," and to deliver a fourth of July spread-eagle oration. The sultan and court believed that he controlled spirits and furnished him with a special escort for his expedition.

Amos Cook, one of the oldest inhabitants of Gibson county, Tenn., died 15th. The entire building was some time since. His will is an extraordinary document. It places all of his property, valued at several thousand Pittsburgh, William Barnaby and dollars, in the hands of two trustees, directs that they shall pay each of three sons annuities which shall not be less than $300 nor more than $500 and gives absolute discretion to the trustees; provides that the estate shall be divided among the grandchildren of the testator upon the death of the sons, and failing issue, it shall be kept for fifteen years, and then used for benevolent purposes. The trustees have absolute power over the property. They can sell, lease, exchange or convert it during the lifetime of the sons, and still hold it in possession for fifteen years.

vocated the pending measure. SINGULAR HYDROPHOBIA.

Man Acts Strange After Having Been Bit Seven Years Previous By a Dog. HANOVER, Pa., March 16 .- A large and excited crowd was attracted to Fountain square by the peculiar antics of a man who crouched on all fours, was jumping about the lawn surrounding the fountain, biting chunks of grass from the lawn and barking like a dog. It was surmised that he was suffering from hydrophobia, and a number of those gathered about when the man showed signs of exhausting, seized him, strapped him to a bench and took him to the police station. He had a number of violent spasms during the night, but medical administrations finally gave him temporary relief. He gave his name as Henry Hintz, of Baltimore, and said he had been bitten about seven years ago by a mastiff.
