

HILL'S MEAN POLICY.

Political Larceny and Tyranny Are Its Outcroppings.

The course of the democrats in the New York senate is particularly interesting and significant. They are acting upon the advice and under the practical direction of Senator Hill, and the policy that they have adopted goes to show that they propose to supplement political larceny with political tyranny of an absolute kind.

This exhibition of partisan spite and meanness is in perfect keeping with the policy that Hill has always pursued in his manipulations of New York politics. He has no sense of propriety, and no regard for rules of right and justice. There is nothing too unscrupulous for him to do in the promotion of democratic interests and purposes, and his example has had such a demoralizing effect upon the politicians who are under his leadership that they stand ready to carry out any scheme of dishonesty and indecency that he may suggest.

TROUBLESOME MUGWUMPS.

The Democratic Party Finds Them a Heavy Incubus.

The mugwumps who entered the democratic party hanging on the coat tails of the man from Buffalo are at the present time a very unhappy set of men. Their idol, Grover Cleveland, has been practically repudiated by the bourbon democracy of his own state. They are mourning loud and trying to bring about a split in the party to which they fled a few years ago.

They are attempting to run a foil by abusing David B. Hill, of New York. They paint him as black as black can be and then call on the righteous to look at him. But David Hill, bad as he is as a politician, and that is as bad as he can be in a political way, is better than the masses of his party.

STRUCK A SNAG.

Stand's Bill Was Lunched at the Wrong Time.

The statesmen who are in favor of Mr. Bland's four hundred grain apology for a dollar are hustling to get their little measures before the house. At present the democratic triumvirate upon the committee of rules decides what is wholesome and proper for the nation's representatives to vote upon.

A MARKED CONTRAST.

In the Democratic Party All is Confusion and Uncertainty. There has seldom been a time in the history of existing parties when the situation seemed more assured in regard to the choice of a republican presidential candidate, or more perplexing as to the selection of his democratic opponent.

The democratic situation is bewildering. Mr. Cleveland's strength is largely dependent upon a weakness of his party. He is great among democrats because he is the acknowledged first among a few available established in the popular confidence.

What is the state of affairs at the present time? Two months of the session have passed away and the third is well started, and still the democratic house has not settled its code of practice. What good reason is there for this delay? None whatever.

NO HOUSE RULES.

Democrats Well Sustaining Their Do-Nothing Record.

It will be remembered what a howl the democrats made two years ago because the republican house did not adopt rules at once, or, at least, much sooner than it did. Denunciations of the most savage kind were heaped upon Speaker Reed's head and he was charged with a desire to run things at his own sweet will without any rules to hinder. The republicans at that time were instituting a new departure and necessarily had to proceed slowly in the forming of their new code.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

No man in the United States senate is more surely "treasuring up wrath against the day of wrath" than one David B. Hill.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The tariff tinkers and the silver agitators of the democratic majority in the house of representatives are bestirring themselves and doing their best to insure a republican successor to Benjamin Harrison.—Albany Journal.

The Cleveland men expect to carry solid delegations from Wisconsin, Minnesota, the two Dakotas and Michigan. This, they think, will offset New York's delegation for Hill. The Cleveland men might have had Illinois but for the untimely interference of a lot of shabby politicians who imagine that they can hide behind a Palmer boom until they see who is going to win; then they will be for the winner.—Chicago Journal.

The highest compliment that has been paid to President Harrison is that which comes from all the newspapers, democratic and mugwump and republican, that "he will unhesitatingly veto any unlimited silver bill" which congress may pass. Several will vote for free silver "to put the president in a hole," and not because they believe it is a wise measure. But the point is there is safety in a president like Harrison.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Every democrat but two on the coinage committee of the democratic house voted in favor of reporting a free silver bill. Every republican but two voted against the report. A free silver bill will in all probability be passed by the present congress and by democratic votes. A republican president may be trusted to kill it with his veto, and it is well at this critical juncture that we have a republican president.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

Some democratic papers admit that Crisp has not made a very favorable impression as a presiding officer. The trouble, doubtless, is that the house has no real leader. Springer, the reputed leader, does not possess the confidence of his party; and they are not under discipline to him. Crisp is really to blame for appointing Springer to the ways and means chairmanship. By appointing Springer he has demoralized the majority.—Minneapolis Journal.

The difference between the republican and the democratic parties under existing conditions is revealed by the practical workings of the leading republicans of the country, in view of Mr. Blaine's withdrawal, are declaring for President Harrison's re-nomination and for the successful campaign which will follow that action, and the democratic factional fight over the nomination of a candidate who must be inevitably doomed to defeat. The young men in politics should make a note of it. Be on the side of the right. Be on the winning side.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

It has been stated in reference to the pendency of the government test in the Wisconsin supreme court that that tribunal is republican in its makeup. That statement is not true. It is composed of three democrats and two republicans. The case is attracting attention all over the country. The republicans have not been fortunate in the decision of cases arising out of political contests recently, but they are entitled to a decision in the Wisconsin case, unless the supreme court of that state broadly asserts that the legislature is supreme in the matter of state apportionment and even constitutional provisions cannot control it.—Detroit Tribune.
