CURRENT COMMENT.

BUTLER COUNTY, Pa., has a genius who dreams the correct location of oil wells.

NEAR-SIGHT is hereditary, but a larger percentage prevails among blondes than brunettes.

THE quantity of air a man breathes in twenty-four hours would fill seven hogheads.

AMONG English people dark-brown hair is more than twice as common as hair of any other shade.

On an average there are 106 boys born to every 100 girls; but more boys die in infancy than girls.

THE Empress Eugenie paid 1,000 francs ($200) per ounce for a bride of hair that exactly matched her own.

To be perfectly proportioned it is said that a man should weigh twenty-eight pounds for every foot of his height.

THE wife of Emil Holub, the Austrian explorer in Africa, has received a gold medal from Emperor Francis Joseph in recognition of her bravery on her "wedding tour" in Africa.

THE only town in Africa that has the honor of being named from an American president is Monrovia of Liberia. It was founded in 1822 during the presidency of James Monroe and was named in his honor.

AN eminent physician is reported as saying—and if true it ought to be generally known—"the best remedy for bleeding at the nose is a vigorous friction of the jaws as if in the act of mastication. In the case of a child a wad of paper should be placed in its mouth, and the child instructed to chew it hard. It is the motion of the jaws that stops the flow of blood."

EXPERIMENTS in instantaneous photography have proved that the shots not only spread out, comet-like, as they fly, but they string out one behind the other to a greater distance than they spread. Thus, with a cylinder gun, when the first shot of a charge reaches a target that is forty yards away the last shot is lagging along ten yards behind. Even with the choke-bore gun some of the shot will lag behind eight yards in forty.

THE wind would have to be very strong indeed if it were to perceptibly accelerate the speed of a fast train, for even in the most violent gales it does not blow at so great a rate as fifty or sixty miles an hour, except in brief gusts. If it did, scarcely any buildings could withstand its force. It stands, of course, to reason that for a train to be helped by the wind to any material extent it would be necessary for the wind to proceed at a greater rate than the train.

GEN. O. O. HOWARD is preparing to write a life of President Zachary Taylor and has been at work for nearly a year gathering material therefor. Recently he was in Louisville, where he went to consult Gen. Thomas Taylor regarding the disputed date of "Old Rough and Ready's" marriage. He found the court record fixing the date of the ceremony June 10, 1810, and found also the log house on the bank of Harrod's creek, where the ceremony was performed.

MR. GEORGE W. CABLE, the American author, was at one time a book-keeper in a counting house in New Orleans. He had to work from early morning till late at night for a miserably inadequate wage. While he was there Scribner's accepted his first story of Creole life. His opportunities for writing were very few, and it was eight years from the time that Mr. Cable first wrote for Scribner's before he began his first serial. He is in very different circumstances now.

THE celebration of marriage, partly in churches and partly outside them, was first ordered by Pope Innocent III. in 1199. All the ancient missals direct that toward the conclusion of the service the parties shall enter the church as far as the step of the altar. The greater portion of the ceremony was thus performed in the south porch, still often called in country districts the "wedding door." It was only in the reign of Edward VI. that the whole of the ceremony was allowed to be performed in the middle of the church.

DR. LIVINGSTONE once said he had walked for weeks through a region in Africa where a lake ought to be, according to the maps. Joseph Thompson reported when he returned to England awhile ago, that if the maps were accurate, he had been sleeping in the middle of Lake Bangweulu; and now Mr. Fortin writes that there is something wrong with the big island mapped in the Gulf of Paria, on the northeast coast of Venezuela, for he has walked all over it, and is unable to find where it is detached from the main land.

A family now living at Helena, Mont., possesses bones so brittle that they are broken by the most trifling accidents. H. A. Nelson, at one time chief law clerk of the general land office at Washington, D. C., is the father of the family. Harold, his thirteen-year-old son, had his arm broken in two places recently by falling off a sled, and this is but the latest of a number of such casualties that have befallen him. He broke his right forearm in two places by falling on a sidewalk in Washington, and previous to that broke his right leg while driving in New Orleans, and also his shoulder-blade. Mr. Nelson's first boy, who died at the age of five, had six of his bones broken. His next child, Arryle, had four bones broken, and Harold has scored six breaks.

NEBRASKA STATE NEWS.

Nebraska Democrats.

The democratic state convention to choose delegates to Chicago met at Omaha on the 15th. The opening scenes were quite stormy, there being two sets of delegates from Douglas, Cheyenne, Cuming and Hitchcock counties. After the convention assembled Judge Batty was made temporary chairman. After the committee on credentials had been appointed the contesting delegations took their case before it and the matter occupied the attention of the committee nearly all night, pending which the convention after hearing several speeches adjourned until morning.

Upon reassembling the report of the committee on credentials was favorable to the Boyd delegates and they were seated. The delegates from the various congressional districts selected the following district delegates to the Chicago convention: Robert Clegg, N. S. Harwood, John Creighton, Charles Ogden, J. P. Latt, T. Hale, Matt Miller, C. F. Cook, R. A. Batty, F. H. Shearman, J. F. Crocker and J. H. Dahlin. A resolution endorsing Cleveland and instructing the delegates to the national convention to vote for him was presented. An amendment was made eliminating the instructions of the delegation, and the resolution was then passed. The convention ratified the district delegates chosen and selected Gov. Boyd, Tobias Carter, Judge W. H. Thompson and Milton Doolittle delegates at large. The resolutions declare adherence to the national democratic platform of 1884 and the tariff message sent to congress by President Cleveland; denounce the McKinley tariff bill; favor liberal pensions to disabled veterans and their widows and orphans, and the regulation of railroads and rates by the state. A free silver resolution, offered by Congressman Bryan, was defeated by 289 yeas to 247 nays.

Nebraska members of congress were requested to vote against the bill, and a protest will be made before the house appropriation committee.

ERNEST Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. John Lockhard attempted to interfere in a family quarrel between Fred Herdlin and his wife at Lincoln the other day. Herdlin ran into the house and before the women could get out of range he fired the contents of a shotgun at them. Both women were hit in the groin and a dangerous wound inflicted on a two-year-old child. Herdlin was overpowered by several neighbors and terribly beaten. The women were in a critical condition.

OVER twenty years ago Elder Jason G. Miller adopted from a foundling hospital in Chicago a baby girl and took her to his home at Lincoln. He died in California three months ago, leaving an estate valued at $300,000, largely real estate in Lincoln. In the meantime the girl, against the wishes of her foster parents, married, becoming Mrs. E. O. Lewis. Elder Miller left a will bequeathing the larger part of his wealth to charity and none to his daughter, and Mrs. Lewis has brought suit for half the estate.

The newly married couple undertook to pass from one car to the other while the train was in motion. When Mrs. Vancleave stepped upon the platform of the car the train was moving at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour and the wind blowing a hurricane. THE CATTLE WAR.

A Heavy Snow Storm Interferes With the Troops in Wyoming—No Tidings of the Prisoners—Montana Cattlemen Denounce the Rustlers.

DOUGLAS, Wyo., April 21.—A severe snowstorm, which has raged without intermission since Sunday night, has killed hundreds of young calves and many weak cows and sheep. Cattlemen pronounce it the worst since the spring of 1886 and the end is not yet, for it was still snowing last night. Col. Van Horn, with three companies of cavalry, are en route for Douglas as guard to the cattlemen captured at the T. A. ranch a week ago.

A stage driver just in from the north and private letters received here from Buffalo last night state that the troops left Fort McKinley Sunday morning. Howard Roles, deputy sheriff of Johnson county, is in charge of the prisoners, who, therefore, are really in the hands of civil authorities, under military protection. Col. Van Horn, when he left Buffalo, expected to reach Douglas by Friday, but the severe storm, coupled with the terrible condition of the roads, has undoubtedly made it impossible to make the trip in that time. The expedition camped Sunday night at Crazy Woman's crossing, and were to make Powder river Monday night. They probably got as far as Seventeen Mile station Tuesday night, and were at Sand creek, about sixty miles from here, last night. They cannot possibly reach Douglas before noon Saturday. They may send a courier ahead, however, and have a special train meet them at old Fort Fetterman, ten miles north of here, where they will probably drive Friday night. In that case the prisoners will reach Cheyenne Saturday morning.

The fact that Deputy Sheriff Roles is with the party is believed here to guarantee them from ambush or attack en route. It is believed that the so-called avengers have decided to let the law take its course and will make no hostile demonstrations.

Dr. Penrose, of Philadelphia, who accompanied the invaders for part of their journey as surgeon, will have a hearing before the district court to-day.

THE RUSTLERS DENOUNCED.

MILES CITY, Mont., April 21.—The Miles City Stock Growers' association of Montana, at its meeting yesterday, took formal action in regard to the operations of cattle and horse thieves. A number of members of the Montana association live close to the Wyoming boundary and many of them were in Miles City to-day. The following was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, A considerable portion of the range country is infested with cattle thieves, cowboys, and rustlers, who have been degrading and appropriating the property of the legitimate stockmen settlers by their own use and have organized in certain of the range country and threatened the liberty and lives of the legitimate stock raisers and settlers of the country; the Montana Stock Growers' association hereby declare and give notice to the above mentioned thieves that they must desist from degrading upon the legitimate stock raisers of Montana as the association of stock raisers will not tolerate their species of work on Montana soil; the association pledges its honor and its support to the stock raisers; it will assist them in every way possible to suppress this character of crime, and hereby instructs the executive committee of the association to see that the wishes of this association be carried out in every particular.

OKLAHOMA.

Wild Rumors as to Troubles Which Lack Confirmation and Are Very Likely Untrue.

ELRENO, Ok., April 21.—From all over the new country come rumors of warfare and violent deaths. Absolute confirmation of these wild stories is lacking, however, in every case and the most of them are utterly groundless.

Most men in Elreno and those returning from the open lands are willing to wager that the rush into the Cheyenne and Arapaho lands has resulted in the death of no man, but all manner of stories come in none the less.

At noon yesterday these reports had reached a total of twenty men killed. There was a tale of fourteen men slain in a pitched battle in county H. It was to this county that the rival colonies of allied Texans and Arkansians and the men from Kansas went. War between these two was predicted from the start. Late this afternoon the story came in how the two opposing bands fought viciously at Rossmore, the new town site, with a result of fourteen dead. It was a struggle for possession of the town, the stories said.

Then it was declared that southwest of this city sooner had fired on troops, a battle had ensued and a sooner was killed. No such affair, however, was reported at Fort Reno, to which post couriers are to be sent from all detachments at every unusual occurrence.

BEALS ABDUCTION CASE.

Sipole Sentenced to Four Years' Confinement—Lizzie Bealls to Two Years in the Penitentiary.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 21.—Hundreds of men crowded the criminal court room to see the ending of the celebrated Bealls abduction case. They heard Melvin D. Sipole, known as Albert King, tell the story of the crime. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary for four years.

Lizzie Dennis, with sobs and suppressed emotion, also told of her participation in the abduction of the child. When the woman's story was ended she was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. She had to be supported by Marshal Stewart and a deputy while the words were pronounced and then became hysterical and was taken to the marshal's office. She was taken to the jail in Independence.
