CURRENT COMMENT.

The general tint of the world's fair buildings will be pale ivory.

JOHN HAMPTON, of West Berlin, N. J., has preserved in alcohol a pig, with a snout as long as its body and two horns over its eyes.

REV. ELLA E. BARTLETT, of Madison, Wis., has prepared a series of "Talks on Constitutional History," to be given before women clubs.

The latest whim for the owners of dogs is to make them wear shoes in the house for the purpose of protecting the polished floors.

VERINA MORTON, a young colored girl, has recently graduated from the Women's Medical college, of Philadelphia, and is the first woman of her race to enter the ranks as an educated physician.

MR. GLADSTONE is one of the few living men who could address a Greek audience in their own tongue.

KATE MARSTON, who is interested in the project of organizing a leper colony at Villouisk, a town of eastern Siberia, has left for the United States to devote herself to raising funds for the establishment of the colony.

The London World declares that there is no truth in the story that the engagement of Prince George of Wales to Princess Mary of Teck will soon be announced.

The vatican possessions are about to undergo a transformation. Beyond the gardens it is now contemplated to build a villa on the high ground overlooking the whole of Rome.

The curious custom of "telling the bees" is observed in some parts of nearly every country in the world.

MRS. GRANT has finally decided that she will not publish her memoirs of her famous husband.

URAGES of a country having a hereditary nobility are sometimes very curious. For instance, a peeress by descent, or creation, retains her title even when married to a person having no rank.

In excavating some ancient Aztec ruins in the direction of Chaco Canon, New Mexico, Gov. Prince has unearthed twenty stone idols of different type from any before discovered.

The pemmican, which is one of the staple articles of food furnished by the Hudson Bay Co. to its agents, trappers and hunters in British America, is only dried and powdered meat.

It has often been noticed at the beginning of January the death is announced of a number of prominent men. The reason is probably found in the fact, not that great men are more prone to die in January than at any other time of the year, but that the weather in that month is unsettled, and consequently hard on the constitution alike of great and humble.

TEN thousand residents of Arkansas have been rendered homeless by the floods.

FIFTEEN thousand acres in Union county, Ill., have been under water.

THE sacred congregation of the Holy See has addressed a letter to each of the Roman Catholic bishops in the United States concerning the arrangement made by the archbishop of St. Paul regarding the two parochial schools at Faribault and Stillwater.

RECENT cold rains played havoc with the herds in Cedar, Knox and Holt counties. It is said that hundreds of dead cattle strewn the ranges and the number lost was placed at twelve to fifteen hundred.

JUNIATA is said to be having a roaring time over her proposed saloon. Though a license board was elected, except one member, every effort to secure a license is promptly contested by the temperance people, and flaws are always found to sustain their contests.

HARTINGTON was not neglected by the angry waters. A waterspout struck it and flooded the lower part of the town. Families were compelled to leave their homes and seek the higher places.

THOMAS H. NUTT has entered into a contract to build and operate a flouring mill and elevator at Rushville. The mill is to be a three-story structure above a twelve-foot basement, to have the latest improved machinery, and a capacity of 100 barrels per day.

A POSTAL card was recently mailed to Secretary Rusk, at Washington, from some of the citizens of York, petitioning the secretary of agriculture to "modify the superabundance of wetness with which the people of Nebraska have been afflicted," and pledging a support of his administration in return for one month of dry weather—and that right away.

EDWARD WILHELM, residing near Valley, became insane, and one night after singing and preaching to an imaginary congregation he concluded that his right hand had offended him and seizing a butcher knife hacked it off. When discovered he was attempting to dig out his right eye. He was bound and will be guarded until sufficiently recovered to be sent to an asylum.

ON the 17th Representative Bryan, of Nebraska, introduced a bill in congress placing rough lumber on the free list and imposing duties as follows on partly or entirely finished lumber: Lumber, each side planed or finished, 50 cents per 1,000 feet; planed on one side and tongued and grooved, $1.00 per 1,000 feet; and planed on two sides and tongued and grooved, $1.50 per 1,000 feet.

A DYNAMITE bomb was exploded under the house of J. B. Johnson at Steele City the other night and the building and contents partially destroyed. The only member of the family injured was a ten-year-old girl. Until recently the house was occupied by a notorious family, and it is believed that the person responsible for the explosion was unaware that the disreputable people had moved out.

THE first of the new wings to be added to the state asylum for the incurable insane at Hastings is practically completed. All that remains to be done is to furnish it and will be ready for occupancy. It is estimated that there are nearly 400 insane in the state unprovided with quarters in the state asylums and the completion of the new building at Hastings will enable the state to take proper care of those unfortunate.

WILLIAM BIENHOFF, Nelson Packard and Joseph Woodard, all men of families, were drowned in the Blue river at Crete the other morning. Bienhoff was a fisherman and attempted to cross the river in his boat, near the mill dam. The river being high and the current strong, he was carried over the dam. Packard and Woodard, standing on the river bank, saw Bienhoff's danger and jumped into a boat to assist the drowning man. When they reached the middle of the stream, below the dam, the suction upset their boat and both disappeared in the flood.

THE national executive committee of the people's party have promulgated the following official orders and programme for the national convention of that party to be held in Omaha July 4: "Owing to the desire to make nominations on July 4, all delegates will meet for temporary organization at the Coliseum building, Omaha, Neb., on July 2 at 10 o'clock a. m."

THE late snow and rain have killed hundreds of cattle in Keya Paha county, one man losing one hundred head and numerous others from ten to fifty each. Every bridge has been swept from Pine river and the Keya Paha was 20 feet high, before.

GIANTS OF OLD.

Men of Mighty Strength and Colossal Stature.

"The tallest man," says Pliny, that hath been seen in our age (about the time of Christ) was one named Gabarra, who in the days of Claudius the Emperor was brought out of Arabia; he was 9 feet 9 inches in height.

Artaxoos, of the family of Achmeides, a person in great favor with Xerxes, was the tallest Persian known in history. He lacked, according to the authorities mentioned above, but four fingers of being full five cubits of the royal standard. This royal cubit was twenty-two inches of our standard, which made the height of Artaxoos somewhere near 9 feet.

Jovianus the Emperor was a man of gigantic proportions, but if Wanley is to be believed his exact size is nowhere to be found recorded. The best known account of him says: "He was of pleasant countenance, gray-eyed, of rare stature—so vast, indeed, that no royal robe could be found to answer to the height of his body."

Maximianus was 8 1/2 feet high, and so large of bone that he used the armlet of his wife as a ring for his thumb.—St. Louis Republic.

She Laughed Best.

"I suppose you haven't forgotten that it is leap year," he said, as he took a seat beside her, "and so I must be careful not to lead the conversation in a dangerous direction," and he laughed.

"I had quite forgotten it," she said, with a yawn; "what's the use of remembering it when you never meet a man who is worth proposing to."

This time he didn't laugh.—N. Y. Press.

Pity the Sorrows of a Poor Old Man.

Or woman bowed with the infirmities of age, and more particularly lumbago. But more practical, more friendly than pity is this sound piece of advice to such persons, as well as all delicate people and convalescents: Try a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest sustaining tonic which people of declining years and the feeble generally can adopt.

Kidney and rheumatic troubles and lumbago, which are peculiarly incident to age, are counteracted by this superb corrective, which also removes indigestion, malarial complaints, biliousness, jaundice, etc.

The June Wide Awake

Is a picturesque and altogether delightful number. Elbridge S. Brooks "reproduces" for the boys and girls of today a Roman boy's letter descriptive of the gorgeous pageant in the Rome of Emperor Augustus' day when Horace led the children's parade to the strains of his famous secular hymn, and when emperor, senators, matrons, priests and Vestals joined the young paraders in doing honor to "Children's Day"; that now famous Franco-American boy editor, Tello d'Apery, tells how he "runs" his paper, the Sunny Hour, and swells his "barefoot fund"; Edith Robinson has a timely and typical Boston story of "How Jack Sailed with Leif Ericsson." Two fine new serial stories are begun in this number: "The Coral Ship," a story of adventure by Kirk Munroe, and "That Mary Ann," a delightful girl and boy story by Kate Upson Clark. The poetry of this number is from Louise Chandler Moulton, "M. E. H.," Margaret J. Preston, Cora Stuart Wheeler, Lillian Crahan, and others, and the "Men and Things" department is as full of good material as usual. The illustrations are full of strength and spirit, and the number is one that will be read, without stopping, from cover to cover. Wide Awake is only 30 cents a No.; $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Co., Boston, publishers.

The hypophosphites of lime and soda combined with cod-liver oil in Scott's Emulsion improve the appetite, promote digestion, and increase the weight.

They are thought by some to be food; but this is not proved. They are tonics; this is admitted by all.

Cod-liver oil is mainly a food, but also a tonic.

In Scott's Emulsion the cod-liver oil and hypophosphites are so combined as to get the full advantage of both.
