A TERRIBLE TRACEDY AT SEA.

Two Brothers and the Cook Conspire to Murder Captain and Crew-Strange Suicide of Geu. N. G. Dunn, Love-Sick and in Liquor.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 13.-It has just become known that many of the guests who attended the wedding Wednesday night of William G. Winchester and Eivaretta E. Palmer are still confined to their beds as a result of eating chicken salad which contained a poisonous substance. It was at first feared that some of the cases would prove fatal, but the physicians in attendance now proclaim their patients out of dan-

About fifty guests were present at the wedding and almost all of them were more or less affected. Nothing unusual was noticed until about two hours after supper when several guests complained of feeling ill and left for their homes. The symptoms were vomfting and eramps and the suffering of those afflicted was terrible. The bride and groom were among those affected. The couple left to take the Cleveland boat on their wedding tour, but the bride became so ill on the way that they stopped at, the home of Mrs. Julia Henderson and were attended by Dr. Hastie. Mr. Winchester was also taken ill, but not so seriously as were Mrs. Henderson and members of her family who attended the wedding. The condition of the bride was critical for a time, but she is now out of danger, although so weak from spasms that she is still confined to her bed.

Among others who were taken ill were Perry Palmer, brother of the bride, and his wife and son. A portion of the suspected salad has been preserved for analysis. Dr. Dakin has some of it and a partial analysis has been made without result. It is believed by some that the sugars used for frosting the wedding cakes contained the poisonous ingredients. A TRAGEDY AT SEA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The brig Galilee arrived yesterday from Tahiti and the Marquesas islands, bringing par-ticulars of the murder of the crew of old King Pomares' former yacht Niualoati and the subsequent capture of the murderers. After King Pomares died his yacht was sold and was loaded for a trading voyage among the South Sea islands. Capt. Castella was in command. The mate was a man named Roedique. The cargo supervisor was Willie Gibson and the vessel's cook and the remaining four of the crew were Kanakas. At Kingswell islands Roedique's brother was taken aboard and the brothers formed a plot to seize the vessel. The cook was induced to put poison in the food of the crew, thus disposing of them. While Capt. Castella and Gibson were sitting in the cabin eating dinner Mate Roedique and his brother entered the room, two shots sounded and the captain and Gibson trading for some time they returned to for his doings. Kingswell islands and here the cook had a quarrel with the brothers over money matters and revenged himself it could without him. by disclosing the murder to the Spanish authorities and all three were taken to Tahiti for trial. At the time they seized the yacht there were sixty tons of coral, one ton of pearl shell and $3,000 cash aboard. SUICIDE OF GEN. DUNN. DENVER, Col., Aug. 13 .- Gen. N. G. Dunn, who has spent the last few years in this city but who was formerly one of the best known clubmen in New York city and Washington, committed suicide at 9 o'clock last night, almost blowing off the top of his head with a revolver. The deed occurred at his boarding place, 1951 Stout street.

His suicide seems to have been brought on because of a love affair. He left several driveling letters, showing a disordered mind. All of them refer to some one addressed as Fannie. He also left a partly illegible note from Jennie Litz, telling him that if he ever had occasion to kill himself "with this revolver" to think twice before so doing,

It is ascertained that the woman was Mrs. Fannie Barnes. Who she is or what her address is is not known. He was evidently infatuated with her.

The Amerikas and Frick. NEW YORK, Aug. 13.-Superintendent Byrnes said this morning that he knew nothing regarding the subject matter of the report from Pittsburgh that an anarchist named Aaron Stamm had left the city a couple of days ago with the avowed intention of killing H. C. Frick, the manager of the Carnegie company. He had not seen the Austrian vice consul nor heard from him concerning any plot to kill Mr. Frick. He added that no information had come to him from any source regarding the man Aaron Stamm. He places little faith in the story that such a person has gone to Pittsburgh to kill Mr. Frick.

Seven Soldlers Drowned. BERLIN, Aug. 13. - Seven soldiers were drowned at Neisse, in Prussian Silesia, while practicing in the military swimming school. The men were ordered to go into the water beyond their depth, the preceptor supposing them to be sufficiently practiced to be able to swim. This proved not to be the case, and they sank without making any sign that they were drowning. The fact that they were drowned was not suspected for some moments, until they failed to come to the surface. It was too late to save them.

Bitten By a Mad Wolf.

LONDON, Aug. 18 .- A dispatch to the Standard says that twenty adults, three children and numerous animals were recently bitten by a mad wolf at Lodez, Poland, and that all are now raving mad and beyond recovery. Their howlings are described as terrible in the exA QUACK IN AFRICA.

He Took Cattle as Fees and Soon Acquired a Thousand Animals.

A German agent in the southwest African possessions of Germany writes to headquarters in Berlin that confidence men and scamps have invaded even that sparsely settled and half-savage region. He says that a year ago a white man went wandering through the country carrying on his back a bag filled with medical postrums. Little attention was paid to him, but it was found later that he knew nothing whatever of medicine, and that his little plasters, wafers and drugs were worth no more than so much fetish. He heralded his coming everywhere, just as the quack doctors do in this country, and the sim-ple-minded natives flocked to him from far and near to secure the benefits of his wonderful treatment. He remained only two or three weeks in a place, and then would seek other fields. He took payment in cattle, and from place to place he drove his herd, which cost him nothing for food and kept rapidly increasing in size.

Finally he reappeared on the coast with a herd of about one thousand six hundred cattle out of which he had bunkoed the natives. As he had no medical skill and the contents of the mysterious bag probably were not worth tendollars, he found the business a paying one. The natives, after he had swindled them, made up their minds as to his true character, and the German agent writes that it probably would not be safe now for any itinerate dealer in medicine and cures to travel through the country; however honest and competent he might be.

The agent says, however, that there is a fine opening in southwest Africa for some young practitioner who is having hard work building up a practice in Germany. He names the town where the young man should settle, and says he is confident that a few years' pra tice among the natives there would en able him to return to Germany with a snug little fortune. The agent will exercise great care to prevent any more quacks and humbugs from getting into the country and giving the natives an unfavorable impression of all white men.-Chicago Times.

AN ADEPT AT RESIGNING.

The Accountant's Novel Method of Tabing a Vacation.

Living in a fashionable town within commuting distance of New York is a gentleman who invariably attracts attention by his long hair. Strangers always conclude that he is nothing less than a great lawyer or bank president. When the more curious ask his fellow-townsmen about him they are told the following story:

One day the gentleman, who is one of the best accountants in the metropolis, stepped up to the president of the bank by which he is employed and said he had decided to resign and that the resignation must go into effect immedi-

The president was loth to lose so valuable a man and urged him to reconsider the matter. He talked with him for an hour but to no purpose. The employe, whose skill as a mathematician was beyond anything ever met fell dead. After dinner the six bodies with by the officials of the bank, was were thrown overboard and the vessel bound to leave the institution but put for the Marshall group. After absolutely refused to give any reason

The accountant left that day and the bank was obliged to get along as best

Ten days later the cashier was astonished on entering the bank to find the accountant hard at work at his old desk. The mathematician said good morning, just as he had done every day for years before he resigned, but offered no explanation.

The president and cashier decided to let their strange-acting employe keep at his work and ask no questions.

Three months later the accountant went into the president's office again and tendered his resignation. It was accepted, and the man was absent for a week or more. Then he suddenly returned. The same thing was repeated again and again. Now it is a standing joke in that bank that the accountant has resigned. It is his way of taking a vacation. He never stays away more than two weeks .- N. Y. Commercial.

Important Typewriter Decision.

"Judge Lacombe, sitting in the United States Circuit Court here, has, on the motion of the Remington Typewriter Company, granted an injunction against the agents of the Franklin, restraining the sale of that machine on account of infringement of Remington patents. The decision is an important one as it proves the control of the fundamental patents, and may affect other makers of typewriters. The Remington people have heretofore been quite passive, but it is stated on good authority that they are now likely to proceed against all other typewriter manufacturing companies.

"In some cases purchasers of ma shines which infringe Remington patents may also be proceeded against for infringement. Until these cases are definitely settled this action will deter many people from purchasing type-writers which are colorable imitations of the Remington. To save a few dollars a man does not want to buy a mashine with a law suit attachment, espesially when the other machine is the best."-N. Y. Journalist. June 18, 1892

THE distance between division points for changing engines has been increasing in this country and some roads are now running engines from 200 to 800 miles, where they used to run 100 miles

LIZZIE BORDEN ARRESTED.

Charged With the Murder of Her Father and Stepmother. FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 12 .- Miss

Lizzie Borden is under arrest charged with mardering her father and stepmother last Thursday week. Accompanied by her sister and Mrs. Brigham she was brought into the Second district court room about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, presumably to give further evidence at the inquest. As was the case before, all the proceedings were behind locked doors. When Miss Lizzie returned from the third inquiry she was a physical and mental wreck and was conducted to the matron's room. The investigation was adjourned about 4 o'clock. District Attorney Knowlton and other officers went to the marshal's private office, where they remained closeted for two hours.

The reason for first suspecting Lizzie of the crime is that she and her stepmother have not been on good terms for several years, in fact, it is said that she refused to eat at the same table with Mrs. Borden or speak to her. Money matters are said to have caused the trouble.

Lizzie and her father had heated discussions on these matters. The woman, who is 32 years old, is haughty and domineering with the will of her father and bound to contest for her rights. She is of a repellant disposition, and after an unsuccessful passage with her father would become sulky and refuse to speak to him for days at a time. She moved in the best of society in Fall River and was a member of the Congregational church and is a brilliant conversationalist. She thought she ought to entertain as others did. Her father's constant refusal to allow her to entertain lavishly angered her. Since the murders all these things have been brought up against her and her final arrest is the outcome of the whole matter.

Arrival of King at Nashville, Tenn. - The

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Col. H. Clay King, the Memphis murderer, arrived here in charge of Sheriff McLendon and was at once conveyed to the state prison, where he was quickly fitted out in a convict suit. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter, who were greatly affected. King assumed a defiant attitude and to Sheriff McLendon he said he would see Gov. Buchanan in --- before he would ask him for a pardon.

Soon after spiriting the prisoner away from Memphis Sheriff McLendon was informed by wire that four men, armed with Winchesters, would overtake him at McKenzie, Tenn., and hang King. He immediately changed his route and came to Nashville via Nortonville, Ky. At McKenzie the avengers overtook the train on which King was supposed to be, but he was not there and they returned to Memphis.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 12. -Some time ago David Baxter, of Wharton, lost a valuable hunting dog. The dog had on a collar with Baxter's name on a plate. Tuesday Baxter killed an eighteen-foot alligator and found the collar, but not the dog, in the reptile's stomach.

REMARKABLE OPERATIONS.

Peats of Surgery That Amount Almost to Miracles.

Of the many results of the rapid strides which science has made is the remarkable skill which medical men have brought to bear upon difficult and dangerous surgical operations. It was not many years ago when it was thought improper to attempt operations upon the human body, but the steady onward march of human progress has given surgeons such a knowledge of the human anatomy that they are now enabled to perform feats which formerly would have been credited to witchcraft and the black art.

At the annual meeting of the Welsh branch of the British Medical association, Dr. Damar Harrison gave an account of the operation he had performed upon a boy, which he claimed to be unique.

The boy had the misfortune to cut his wrist with plate glass, which caused him to lose all sense of feeling in the hand and was followed by complete paralysis. The lad's wrist was laid open, and it was found that a portion of the nerve about two inches in length was entirely destroyed. A young cat was obtained and chloroformed, and immediately after death the surgeon cut a nerve out of the hind leg. The nerve was then wrapped in a cloth soaked in warm carbolic lotion and afterwards connected with what remained of the boy's nerve. The result was most gratifying. Sensation returned and the boy was cured.

An equally interesting and successful operation was performed upon a boy who had swallowed a fish hook. He tried to release it by pulling upon the line, but it had become firmly attached in the lower and back part of the throat. A medical man was called in, and he procured a pistol bullet and bored a bole through it. It was then allowed to slide down over the line to the hook. The weight of the bullet dislodged the hook, which, sticking in the lead and being protected by it, was safely removed.-N. Y. Herald.
