Tue ink used in printing your money is not the ordinary printer's ink in general use. James Eddy, Troy, N. Y., makes all the ink with which the government paper money is printed. His father invented it, and just before his death let his son into the secret of its manufacture—a secret that he still keeps to himself, as it is worth $50,000 s year to him. The ink in question is said to be the only kind that will print on the paper now used for government notes.

REFERENCE to the change in the White house in the matter of handshaking the Chicago Tribune says: "Mrs. Harrison introduced a sensible innovation at the White house. She abandoned the hand-shaking at receptions that made the evening one of torture to all her predecessors. The president continued to shake hands with democratic cordiality, but Mrs. Harrison made simply a graceful courtesy. She managed this with much tact, by carrying a fan in one hand and a bouquet in the other, so that persons, seeing her hands full, were spared the awkwardness of offering a hand-shake she could not accept.

COLUMBUS.

Last evening the Italian colony, under the auspices of the minister, Baron Fava, begun its Columbian celebration at the Lenox lyceum with a concert and a discourse by Dr. Lugi Keversi on

Columbus. In the afternoon many people visited the Italian transport, Garigliano, which brought over the Columbus monument, All day long there was a dense crowd on Fifth avenue, Broadway and other important streets, viewing the decora

For the first time in some weeks the sounds of the hammer and saw were not heard. The decorations of the public and private buildings are all completed. Fiags and banners are streaming from every pole along the line of march of the four big processions. A very popular feature of the celebration is to go to the top of some high building and enjoy a bird's eye view, which shows a long line of colors stretching from the Battery to Central Park, and from river to river, with flags waving from the housetops on all sides. The trellis arches at Twenty-second street, the Manhattap Club building and the residence of ex-Secretary Whitney were visited by thousands.

Along Fifth avenue from Madison square to Thirty-fourth street there are series of standards, 100 in number, from which depend pointed gonfallons and flags bearing the arms of Ferdinand, Isabella, Columbus and others. The standards are surmounted by gilt eagles and decorated at their bases with civic shields. Broadway is now a kaleidoscope of changing colors. All the large sale houses in the dry goods district are artistically draped with gay bunting. The center piece in most cases is a painting of Columbus on one side and of Washington on the other. The draping on most of the hotels is now completed. From the Morton honse to the Piaza decoration is general. The city hall is probably the most profusely and artistically draped edifice in the city. The New York Life Insurance Co. is striving for the first prize offered for the best decorated building. Between 900 and 1,000 incandescent electric lights will cover the front of the building in globes of red, white and blue. An electric star ten feet high will surmount these decorations and beneath it "1492-1892" will appear in electric light numbers. Besides the illuminations, the front and sides of the building will be covered with 500 American flags of various sizes and a big portrait of Columbus, framed in the national colors and surmounted by the American eagle, will hang on the front door. In addition to the bigs tands at the city hall and in Union square, Madison square and Washington park, many smaller ones have been put up. Seats on all the stands will be free for the school and college parade to-day, with the exception of a few hundred seats already sold. Nothing else will be reserved. The stands in Madison squar, City Hall park, and Union square are free only to women and children, and the first who come will be the first served. There will be an awful rush for these seats, but superintendent Byrnes has arranged excellent police protection. All along the line and near all the big stands temporary wooden patrol boxes have been placed. As the celebration draws near thieves, pickpockets and crooks of every description are beginning to come out from their hiding places. They are waiting for the big erowds next week.

Superintendent Byrnes will do as he did during the Washington celebration. when his drag net pulled in a big load of professional thieves. Orders were issued to arrest all suspicious characters and lock them up until the celebration is over. The superintendent has instructed Inspector McLaughlin to make the raid.

To-day the secular part of the celebration will be opened with a school and college parade, with over 20,000 in line. The parade has occupied the attention of its promoters for weeks. You might have known it early in the day. You certainly had no doubt of it if you mingled in the surging currents which ran all day and far into the night between the banks of red, white and blue, with here and there a streak of Spanish yellow, which marked out
