

A FEW REASONS

Why You Should Vote the Republican Ticket.

Voters, glance over this list of republican candidates before you vote and consider if you can afford to vote against them.

General Harrison rose from obscurity to honorable fame. As a lawyer he led the bar; as a soldier he won laurels upon hotly contested fields. As a statesman his acts during the last four years live in the minds of every one of you.

Voters, if you wore the blue, Harrison's the man for you, because the blue symbolizes his wise, foresighted; active patriotism. He believes in America for Americans.

If we owe anything to the good influence of the press the nation will delight to honor its greatest representative Whitelaw Reid, successor to Horace Greeley, as an editor, and our most successful minister to France, of approved political sagacity he will be an excellent vice-president.

The people of this congressional district are profoundly interested in choosing this fall a congressman who will be in the real sense of the word our representative. W. E. Andrews is another of those brainy, honest, successful men that have made and are making the history of the grand old party. He went here to have his speeches in congress printed to let his people know he is there. He will command attention from the first. The eloquence that has already pleased Windy William's inflated armor of complacency will give him a hearing in congress at once. You cast your vote for your own interest without voting for W. E. Andrews, the Little Giant of the Big Fifth.

When President Harrison wanted a business man for an important treasury post he took Nebraska's pride, Lorenzo Crouse, now Nebraska wants him for her governor, and for the same reason. He has served her well as judge and legislator and he will serve her well as governor.

There is in every community some man who is preeminently a man of the people, and usually that kind of a man is a republican. We have him this year for lieutenant governor. He helped make Nebraska one of the unions, helped preserve the union, and is not ashamed to wear the G. A. R. button. His name is T. J. Majors, a brave pioneer and soldier, and a loyal friend.

As a traveling salesman John C. Allen was a great success and the qualities that made him a business man have enabled him to conduct the state's business in a business like way. For two years he has been secretary of state, and his merit will be recognized by election for another term.

Eugene Moore has to recommend him for the auditor's office, a broad acquaintance with the state, years of public service well rendered, the confidence of all who know him and the esteem that is usually given to bright, active, upright men.

J. B. Bartley for treasurer is one banker in the state that never brought rplevin under chattel mortgage, and was never sued for usury. That means that he is above reproach, and has stood up for Nebraska, and stood by her people in the trying times of the past. Virtue of this kind is supposed to belong exclusively to the independents, but Bartley is a stalwart republican and while he is standing up for Nebraska, the voters will stand by him.

The affairs of the office of public lands and buildings have been remarkably well conducted for the last two years, why not let A. R. Humphrey try it again. He is another of those representative men who are from the people. Clever, industrious, and obliging, he wins the confidence of the people.

Then there is A. K. Goudy a scientific teacher with years of experience in Nebraska and fully acquainted with the state's educational needs. He has been also superintendent of public instruction, should be and will get the votes of all who are really interested in advancing the cause of education. Probably no objection could be made to the services of G. H. Hastings as attorney general. He was a successful lawyer before he was elected and has continued to be successful for the state. Every state officer has found him a wise counselor and an obliging, courteous gentleman.

For years a republican senate has stood between the people and a democratic congress and Nebraska has always furnished two republican senators. It is for the voters of this state to say next Tuesday whether this will continue or a democrat elected to succeed Paddock.

One of John McCallum's duties as representative will be a vote for a United States senator. McCallum believes in republicanism and will vote for a republican. As a legislator McCallum will accomplish more actual reform in the interests of Webster county than his predecessor could ever imagine. It is not McCallum's way to howl about what he is going to do, but depend upon it that the same are all gold as far as you can see. They look like solid cases, wear like solid cases, and are solid cases for all practical purposes—yet only cost about half as much as an out-and-out solid gold case. Warranted to wear for 20 years; many in constant use for thirty years. Better than ever since they are now fitted, at no extra cost, with the great bow (ring) which cannot be pulled or twisted off the case—the business sense that has made him a successful farmer, will enable him to do what is best for his constituents.

W. H. Austin as senator for this district is a true blue republican. He is an energetic worker, with a knowledge of our people gained by long residence in the district, and can be trusted to do whatever he considers to be to the advantage of his constituents. His former friends in Franklin declare they will give him a handsome majority. Let Webster county do likewise.

Wm. Brown will surely vote for a republican senator. He is a resident of Adams county, has been a life-long republican. He is a successful farmer devoted to his business. He can be trusted to vote for the best interests of his district if he is chosen to be a representative.

Like an individual occasionally the county requires the services of a lawyer, and to the end that one may always be obtainable, the office of county attorney was created. We make this explanation because the events of the last two years don't show it. The county didn't retain an attorney, and didn't have one when needed except by drawing a warrant for $100 extra pay. Webster county people all know Radolph McNitt, and they know that if he is chosen county attorney, he will perform the duties of the office promptly and ably without assistance that is not needed and without dictation. He is an attorney of proved ability, an upright, bright young man.

Vote for Andrews. Vote for McCallum. Vote for Austin. Vote for McNitt. Vote for the entire ticket.

Republicans will be remiss in their duties if they do not get out to the polls early and see that their neighbors do the same.

Next Tuesday will tell the story and as sure as the day dawns McKeighan will be snowed under by an avalanche of votes.

The people who desire to see the downfall of free trade, will cast their votes next Tuesday for W. E. Andrews and against W. A. McKeighan. There ought not to be an American found voting for free trade, which means a prostitution of American markets, and the downfall of American industries.

The reports that certain parties are trading off republican candidates for independents is unqualifiedly false. Republicans are voting and working for republicanism. Vote straight and do not trade, as trading is a scheme of the opposition to defeat republicans. Every man should get out to the polls and success is certain.

Because McKeighan fails to explain certain things which he has said and done in public life when put to him by Mr. Andrews, Mac's friends shout personalities and abuse. If a man don't want to be cornered let him keep in "de middle ob de road."—Blue Hill Leader.

Jas. Charlton and his cousin by the name of Mahaffy of Red Cloud, played a nice little game in the city Wednesday, for which they were arrested and Jas. Charlton is now in the county jail at Nelson. Young Charlton forged a check on Asher Beal for five dollars; gave it to his cousin in Mahaffy who was to cash it and get half of the "divy" He took it over to the meat shop of Miller & Collins, and Mr. Miller cashed it. This worked so well that they tried another of the same size on the same gentleman. Taking it to the Racket store, he made some small purchases, passed the forged check over and received the difference in cash. During this time Mr. Miller took the check he had cashed to the bank but they knowing Mr. Beal's writing refused to cash it. The boys hearing of this went to the Racket store, paid the cash and got the check back. They did not try to buy the check they sold Mr. Miller and it is needless to say Mr. Miller is still out his five dollars.

Asher Beal filed suit against them for arrest. Marshall Quackenbush yesterday took Jas. Charlton to the county jail where he will visit for the present guest of the county. He is a boy of about 18. The Mahaffy boy was a little fellow and we understand his mother will take care of him.—Superior Guide.

Abraham Lincoln Abraham Lincoln's physician, the eminent Dr. Holland, who attended him in his last moments, when the brave man's life was fast ebbing away, stated that it was not the direct result of fatal shot of "Booth" but the reduced physical condition of the president due to the enormous strain upon his nervous system; that if he had taken the necessary precautions to have kept his blood, liver and kidneys in a sound and healthy condition, recovery would have been certain, and that the remedy he always recommended was Hopton's, the Great English blood and liver tonic, as it is absolutely certain to cure all these troubles. For sale by Deyo.

The man at the wheel has a grave responsibility; so has he who takes his life in his own hands and when scrupulous mariners or otherwise suffering with any blood disease to which human flesh is heir, ignores the advice of his dearest friends and refuses to take Hopton's as a medicine that yearly cures thousands of his fellow sufferers. All the time needed will be given in which to pay the loan; and a student can take a full course to graduation without a dollar to begin with.
