THE CHIEF would have no objection to her appointment.

R. M. Martin and J. S. Cox came rushing into the Great Family Weekly headquarters on Monday with the startling news that F. Bradbrook's photograph gallery had been the scene of a serious catastrophe. They alleged, and truly, that Mr. B. had been over-run with mice and the night before they became so ravenous that they had knawed a hole in the east, and thereupon Mr. Bradbrook had purchased thirty mice traps. The story is vouched for by these two gentlemen.

Mr. Robert Wilson Jr., of Hastings state traveling agent for The Bradstreet Mercantile Agency, was in town last week on matters connected with his farming interests here.

Mr. Wilson owns a farm in Walnut creek township south of Inavale, on which there was something less than sixty acres of spring and winter wheat that produced 1468 bushels, or an average of 24 1/2 bushels per acre.

One piece of winter wheat measuring 11 acres, 130 rods, produced the phenomenal yield of 654 bushels that weighed out 64 pounds to the bushel, an average of over 55 bushels to the acre, verified measures and weights.

Mr. Wilson was so well pleased with the results of this year's farming that he purchased another 160 acres adjoining and is negotiating for other land there.

He has given the winter wheat question a study for several years and believes that the land of Webster county is peculiarly adapted to the profitable growth of that cereal.

Mr. Wilson's lands are farmed by Mr. Josephus Rosencrans, who is well known as a successful farmer.

Obituary.

On Wednesday, December 7, 1892, occurred the death of Mr. G. W. Lindsey, Sr., of dropsy of the heart. The deceased was born in New York state, August 10, 1820; in 1842, was married and moved to Wisconsin. After living there for some time, accompanied by his family, he moved to Paw Paw, Illinois, where he resided until about two years ago, when he came to Red Cloud, since which time he has made his home with his son, Geo. W. Lindsey, Jr., our esteemed townsman. He and his brother, Dennis, are the only ones surviving him, sorrowing the departure of a true and devoted father. None but those who sincerely cherish and revere the name of father realize the meaning of the "vacant chair" which the angel of death has caused by claiming the loved one of whom it can truly be said he entertained loyal and charitable feelings toward his fellow-men, and in death there was that look upon his face which clearly portrayed the "peace which passeth all understanding," and that he was at rest with his Savior. He had for many years been a consistent and respected member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, whom he requested, a short time ere his death, to officiate at his funeral, which they did with touching ceremony, aided by Rev. Chapin of the M. E. church. A large concourse of friends followed his remains to their last resting place, on Thursday, Dec. 8, '92. Words of sympathy and condolence were freely extended to the bereaved family, who so tenderly cared for their father.

The ladies and comrades of the G. A. R. gave a charming surprise party at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huffman Dec. 13th, it being the 50th anniversary of Mr. Huffman's birth. Soon after the arrival of the guests, a bountiful supper was placed on the table by the ladies, and all partook of the viands till they were satisfied. After supper, the company presented Mr. Huffman with the gold recognition pin of the order. Comrade Huffman accepted the pin remarking: "It shows the esteem in which I am held by you, yet I cannot see what I have done that you should thus remember me. Many thanks to you for your kindness." Shortly after the remarks made by Mr. Huffman were ended, the ladies band appeared on the scene and rendered two very beautiful pieces of music. Mr. Huffman desires to state that the young ladies undoubtedly have had a fine instructor, for the music was rendered without a fault, and extends an invitation to the guests and band to call again.

Young Mac George, who is well-known in the city as clerk in George Hollands hotel, and who was recently arrested for opening a letter at the depot, has again got himself in trouble. It is alleged that he tapped Johnny Cranz's till for $60 and fled to Denver. Mr. Cranz, on the other occasion played the part of the good Samaritan, and secured his release from the clutches of Uncle Sam only to have him smite the hand that befriended him by tapping his till. It was learned that the boy was in Denver and during the forepart of the week, Col. Winfrey, accompanied with the necessary documents went after him and he is now languishing in the jail under the care of Deputy Sheriff Tomlinson. If the young man is found guilty as charged, he will go over the road. It should be a warning to young men.

On Wednesday morning about eleven o'clock a special train of three cars bearing 50 of Kansas City business men, pulled in at the B & M depot. Our business men learning of the fact secured our cornet band, and about forty buggies and met them. After a few preliminaries they were taken in charge of by Mayor Spangolc C W Kaley president of the board of trade, and our business men escorted to every place of interest around our beautiful city. The gentlemen were well pleased with their treatment. Many of the gentlemen were millionaires, and were enroute to Denver on a pleasure trip. They were a jolly set of gentlemen and their visit will long be remembered.
