The republicans, democrats and populists have full state tickets in the field and the campaign is now open.

Just now, Grover Cleveland is catching fits from his brethren for his attitude on the financial question. Grover and his party will wish they were in Helena before the next four years pass.

After ten weeks of talk, the U. S. senate is just where it was when the special session commenced. There is no doubt but what their present record on financial matters will go glimmering down the ages like a thunderbolt from a clear sky.

A telegram to the Omaha Bee from Hastings says: Notice was filed in the office of the county clerk to-day by the governor that when the call is made for the November election that a representative for the float district of Adams and Webster counties be included in the list. F. H. Harmon, the representative, having left the state for Oklahoma.

The Signal is not a very reliable republican organ. It came out last week lauding the populist ticket and scoring the republican ticket, because a candidate of that place lacked a few votes of being nominated. THE CHIEF does not believe that there is any room for the assertions of the Signal because those candidates that were defeated, were defeated fairly. The populists have no representative from that locality and there is a large following of that party in that vicinity. Why should not the populists kick because of their not having representation in that locality? The comparisons of the Signal are faulty in several regards, and none more so than the advice to the republicans to kick over the traces for an imaginary grievance.

The campaign will be short, but it should be made vigorous, and there is no doubt of the election of the republican ticket.

The republican ticket is one that no one can place any objection to. All of the candidates are fully competent to fill the office for which they have been selected.

Our opponents are making an effort to create dissension among Guide Rock republicans because our friend, Dick Garber, failed to get the nomination for sheriff, but the boys are too true republicans to be led astray by such clamor.

In order to elect the republican ticket, a combined effort should be made by the leaders of the party, and every individual who desires the success of our candidates, should see to it that no effort is left undone that will tend toward their election.

B. FULTON, Chairman Committee.

At the close of Mr. Pepper's address, the Adelpian Male Quartette, of Nebraska, appeared and sang a translated version of the Spanish Student song in splendid style. It was lively and caught the crowd who applauded fully five minutes, insisting upon an encore. President Cook, however, desired to make an announcement, which he did, and then said the quartette would sing again at the close, which appealed the audience. After an address by President Eliot, of Harvard College the Adelpian Quartette closed the program by singing "The Three Fishers," a beautiful song full of harmony, with great expression. The Adelpian Quartette, which sang at the convention last night, will sing at the meeting this morning. The gentlemen composing it are pleasant young men and talented singers, having a great name in the west, which they bear out here by their good singing.—Daily Saratogian, Saratoga, N. Y.
