Obituary.

Died, on Wednesday, October 4th, 1893, at her home in Jewell county, Kansas, eight miles south of Red Cloud. Mrs. Albert Slaby died of Typhoid fever. Mrs. Slaby was born in Austria, in 1837, and came to this country in 1851; was married at Iowa City, Iowa, in 1856, and came to this place about nine years ago. Exactly two years preceding the day of her funeral her husband was buried, and on August 27th, her daughter Fanny was buried. Eight children survive her, viz: Joseph of Akron, Colorado, Albert, Frank and Mrs. Thos. Kralik of Jewell county, Kansas, Mrs. V. H. Sollday of McCook, Mrs. Anthony Clark of Red Cloud, and Lizzie and Millie of Red Cloud. Mrs. Slaby was reared in the Catholic faith and maintained her allegiance to it to the last. She was fully aware of her approaching end, and was fully resigned and spoke confidently of her hope of a future life. While very decided in her own religious convictions, she gave to each of her children the fullest liberty to decide for themselves, and no some of them have followed her example, and others are members of Protestant churches.

Her Christian life and example was such as to leave in their minds no uncertainty as to her future, and will continue to have its helpful influence over them. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. L. Ely of the Congregational church of Red Cloud.

THE KIND OF A BOY THAT MAKES THE BEST BALL-PLAYER.

The boy that is a fast runner and quick in throwing a ball makes a very good ball player. The boy that bats must strike quick and take notice where the ball is going and only strike at balls that come over the base. The boy that does his best makes a very good ball player.

SUBJECT SAME AS I.

The kind of boy that makes the best ball player is one who is best in his studies and who practices most. There are a few good ball players in this town. I saw a ball game for $30 on the side, between Grand Island and Wood River. Grand Island got beat.

TABLE CLEARING.

The best and quickest way to clear off the table is to get right up and do it. First, take the cream pitcher, spoon-holder, &c., off; then put what clean dishes there are in the cupboard; then collect the knives and forks, gather up the cups, saucers and plates; then carry them all to the kitchen to be washed; shake the table cloth and fold it up; then put a fresh one back on the table; then sweep the dining room.

RAIN.

Rain is a precious thing. Without it this world would be very dreary. It makes the crops grow; it makes us glad; but it makes the farmers feel better than anyone else, especially, about one or two days after they get in their crops, and then about a week afterwards. Rain makes everything look bright, and makes the air so refreshing. It makes the horses, cattle and hogs more lively as they snuff the air after the rain. It makes one feel more like work than before it rained. Rain comes to us from the clouds. It is lots nicer to have it rain when the sun is shining. It makes everything so much nicer than before.

For Farm Loans

In loving remembrance of Mrs. Slaby who passed peacefully away October 11, 1893.

The end of long and useful years,
The last of sorrow and of pain;
The change that brings us bitter tears
Has brought to her eternal gain.
Throughout her life her family
Was precious in her sight,
Of them she thought, till on death's wing
Her soul took flight.
Within the hearthstone of our home
She leaves a vacant place,
But through faith's light we hope at death
In heaven to see her face.
She's gone beyond this vale of shadows
With the angels to abide,
In that home of wondrous beauty,
Just beyond the surging tide.
Angels bright will come to bear us
From this land of tears and pain,
And the veil that hides her from us,
Will that day be rent in twain.

THE LOG ROLLING.—The entertainment given under the auspices of the M. W. A. lodge of this place Wednesday night, was in many ways a success notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Several days beforehand, invitations announcing the event were promulgated in the city, and ample arrangements were made for the accommodation of five hundred people had the weather permitted their attendance. As it was, something like one hundred and fifty people assembled, and the following interesting program was discharged in a highly satisfactory manner.

PROGRAM.

Music by band.
Address of welcome, F. G. Blakeslee.
Music, Orchestra.
Address, Prof. Caster.
Music, Band.
Instrumental music, Minor Sisters.
Address, Prof. McCrary.
Music, Orchestra.
Talk, J. L. Miller.
Music, Minor Sisters.

Supper was then called, and the guests fled into the commodious dining room, where the tables, artistically decorated for the occasion were literally burdened with a choice variety of eatables. To say the supper was excellent would be putting it mildly indeed.

Lack of space precludes many comments, but in justice to the participants we must say that the speeches were short, instructive and well received. The band boys as usual, covered themselves all over with glory, and the orchestra received much praise. Miss Margaret Miner deserves the laurels of the evening for her excellent renditions of difficult selections on the violin, accompanied by her sister Miss Mary, on the piano. While we regret the attendance was not larger; we congratulate the members of the M. W. A., on their ability to entertain, and wish them success.

THE READING ROOM.—According to announcement a mass meeting was held at the Congregational church Tuesday night for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the establishment of a permanent reading room in this city. Prof. H. C. Probasco was made chairman, and Rev. E. L. Ely was made secretary. The chairman appointed as the nominating committee Mrs. O. A. Truman, Rev. E. L. Ely, Mr. C. L. Cotting, Mr. R. M. Cochran, and Henry C. Richmond. The committee elected as a permanent board of trustees whose business is to arrange location fixtures, &c., was H. C. Probasco, Prof. Caster, L. H. Fort, L. P. Albright, and Ed. Oving. The meeting was characterized with much enthusiasm, and several present expressed a desire that the new project should prove a success. The various ideas advanced seemed in strict accordance with those who first suggested the enterprise; that this city is sadly in need of a resort for young people who have nothing to do evenings, and for those who have studying to do but on account of noise and bother at home can make no headway. There is still another class of boys especially, who possess some talent and ability, but have no desire for mental study and wander erratically through the winter evenings, and while not morally bad grow to the age of maturity with an unenlightened mind. The reading room would bring them under the refining touch of Christian influences, and restrain them from the contaminating results of illiterate company. That to Red Cloud such an institution would prove a public benefactor, no one can dispute, and 'tis only a matter of a short time when the reading room will be filled with perhaps one or two hundred members.
