

RIOT AT BRIDGEPORT.

THE QUIET OF SUNDAY BROKEN BY AN ENRAGED MOB.

Strikers and the populace set the authorities at defiance and pay no attention to the police. The tracks blocked and car traffic prevented by violence.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 22.—Yesterday was one of the most exciting in the history of the city of Bridgeport. Not since 1861, when marching volunteers on their way to the front filled the streets, have the residents been so aroused.

The men then held a consultation and decided that they would not allow the company to run the cars. They concluded, however, to give the company another chance for settlement and sent a committee to the owners and managers of the road.

The tracks blocked everywhere. The report that the company was to start cars and that the strikers would try to prevent it spread rapidly through the city and in a short time all of the strikers and hundreds of sympathizers gathered at the stable on Main street.

Police were summoned from headquarters and several cars were started with three railroad employes and a guard of three policemen. The crowds quickly drove the police from the cars together with the conductors and drivers.

Bombarded cars with stones. The presence of the police did not, however, deter the mob and obstructions of all kinds were piled on the tracks as rapidly as they were removed.

DOLE AND WILLIS LOCK HORNS.

The Former Makes Indefinite Charges and Is Asked to Specify.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The correspondence to the president sent to congress relating to the Hawaiian imbroglio contained one letter that incited the characterization of "remarkable" by the executive.

These charges are not definite. They are made in such words as follows: "I desire to call your excellency's most serious consideration to the dangerous, critical condition of this community arising, I must respectfully submit, out of the attitude which you have assumed and the language which you have used in public and in communications to this government."

The letter is full of such innuendoes without specification, and the condition of the islands as a result of this alleged "attitude" is pictured in the most gloomy terms.

This ended the correspondence sent to congress, being all that could be sent by the steamer from Honolulu. One point decided by the correspondence is the statement in recent dispatches that Willis had requested Dole to suppress all the correspondence relating to the restoration of the queen.
