THE EDITOR'S SAY.

Will our own "Coxy" lead a common weal army into the land of light.

Frank Cowden has been appointed postmaster at Red Cloud. Frank's many friends in Seward will be glad to hear of his success in securing such a fine slice of pie. Somehow or other the Seward boys always get to the front.—Seward Blade.

Roy G. Coddling, who went out from York as a missionary to Africa three years ago, has had to return on account of poor health and is now narrating his experiences to Nebraska audiences. He came very near losing his life in the dark continent.—Omaha Bee.

The Smith County Pioneer is authorily for the statement that Jerry Simpson is working for an appropriation from congress of $2,000,000 to be used in experimenting in crossing honey bees with lightning bugs. He is of the opinion that by this cross the bees will be able to furnish light so they can work nights.

Calhoun of the Lincoln Herald became so disappointed over his failure to get the Lincoln postoffice that he sold his printing office and moved to Florida. Calhoun has always been a democrat when the other fellows weakened but he stood at the post as did Jeff Ward, but then Grover the Great takes great pleasure in turning down the hard workers of his party for some cause or other, and just such business will cost his party thousands of votes at the next election.

In the educational column of next week, will appear a "Brief Plea for County High School." The plan of establishing a high school in the county free to all the advanced pupils of the county is a good one, and worthy the attention and careful thought of every citizen. We hope that every reader of the CHIEF will not fail to read the educational column next week. The county high school supplies the link connecting the district school with the State University.

HENRY C. RICHMOND, who has labored assiduously in this office for the past year as city editor and general reporter, has severed his connection with THE CHIEF, and departed this morning to take a similar position on the Plattsmouth Herald. The young man is a terse writer on all subjects, and has extraordinary ability in the newspaper line, and will, if there is no preventing providence, make his mark among the bright galaxy of reporters in the great field of newspaperdom. THE CHIEF wishes Henry unalloyed prosperity and success wherever he may go.

The Blue Hill Leader was certainly misinformed concerning the Peterson fire here last Saturday night. It was not the new implement building on the same site as the old one which was burned last fall, but an old one half a block away, and nothing about the building was valuable except the machinery which the building contained.

Emperor William recognizes that the unbounded resources of America constitute a standing menace to European trade and industry, and although he has the greatest sympathy for America and Americans, the Emperor is also awake to the danger of the repetition of such a blow as that inflicted by the McKinley policy. His idea is that Europe must be prepared to take a common stand against any commercial measure which affects itself, not against any individual nation in Europe, but against all Europe.

The city council has passed an ordinance against gates that open out on the side walk, and those who have such gates had better take them in or the gobline will get them. This was necessary to protect people from injury. A lady was seriously injured one night while going home by coming against an open gate, and this caused the passage of the ordinance.—Clinton (Ill.) Public.

The ordinance above mentioned would be a nice one to put into operation in Red Cloud, as about half of the gates stand a jar.

Beet sugar Prospect.

We are very glad to say that the farmers this year are taking a great interest in beet culture. At our factory at Norfolk we have nearly 4,000 acres contracted for, which is all the plant can possibly take with its present capacity. At our factory in California we have 10,000 acres contracted for, and could have had 20,000 had we been able to take them. At the Lehi factory, Utah (owned by the Mormons) they contracted for all the beets the factory could take. Three weeks after opening their contract books, at the Watsonville factory, California, (owned by Claus Spreckles) they were offered four times as many beets as they could accept, so it is exceedingly gratifying to see the great interest manifested by our agricultural classes in this new and most promising field of agriculture. Beet culture, when it is carried on properly, on good ground, by thrifty, intelligent people, is probably the most remunerative crop a farmer can grow as he makes the price before he puts in the seed, and the only possible risk he takes is that of the elements. At Ames, last week, where the Standard Cattle Company raised 500 acres for us, they produced an average of over 15 tons per acre, and in some parts of their fields as high as 31 tons to the acre were harvested.

Below is a letter from the Western Conservatory of Music, situated at Kansas City, Mo., to Miss Josie Igo, one of the leading music teachers of this place: KANSAS CITY, MO., March 19, 1894.

MISS JOSIE IGO—Red Cloud, Neb.—Having learned somewhat of your reputation and ability as a piano teacher, we take the liberty to address you in regard to the Inter-State System of Musical Instruction. We also send circulars and a catalogue which will furnish you some idea of the work. The object of the system is not to make better teachers, for only teachers of acknowledged ability are recognized; but you will readily see that to be identified with a regular Conservatory enables a teacher to offer certain advantages which no independent private teacher can offer, however well qualified as a teacher. As a member of the Inter-State Faculty, you may fill the place, not only of a competent teacher, but also, to some extent, that of a Conservatory. This would certainly make you stronger in your profession by greatly increasing your facilities for encouraging systematic and thorough work among your pupils. Now, Miss Igo, we have included you among the few whom we have invited to become members of the Inter-State Faculty, and hope that you will fill out and endorse the enclosed application and return it at your earliest convenience. When your appointment has been ordered, you will be supplied with everything necessary for immediate business, as we very much desire to start the work in Red Cloud at once. You will be at no expense whatever; all we desire is your hearty co-operation. Yours very truly, E. H. SCOTT, President.

On February 13th, Burlington Route agents will sell round-trip tickets at the one-way rate, to all points in Texas and the south. Ask the nearest ticket agent for information about routes, stop-over, etc., or write to J. Francis, G. P. & T. A. Burlington Route, Omaha, Neb.

For Sale.

Three hundred bushels of White Russian oats for seed. Sold for CASH or on note on short time. Forty cents per bushel. Address or call on F. E. PAYNE, Omaha, Neb.

MARCH PRATTLE.

Forward march! but this has been a backward March.

Why is a pound cake like a waiter? Because it weighs on the table.

They seldom hang a musical instrument but they often string them up.

A violin must be some relation to a hog; it always scratches its back against something.

They say a horse can walk a mile and not move over four feet, but I have seen them walk a mile and not move a feature.

A regular boarder—the railroad conductor.

The leaves "leave" the trees both in the spring and autumn.

A big pain—sixty foot front.

"Et tu brute" must be some relation to hog Latin.

A knife is often guilt-edged.

Mr. Green—"I want to go fishing, and don't know what to use for bait."

Little Ben There—"Tri-angle worms."

"You're my mutton," said the lion as he pouched on the lamb.

A time table is to run on, not to eat.

Tommy—"Where you goin' with them shoes, Johnny?"

Johnny—"I'm going to have them half soled."

Tommy—"What you goin' to do with the other one?"

Poor shoes! No matter where they go, their soles are always trampled upon.

Did you ever get a "purr scent" of a polecat?

Just think of it dearest, we can make our boys happy, and the father to his wife. Just think of it! Wiener has children's suits consisting of two pair of pants, coat and cap to match, of strong material and well made, which he sells at $3.75 for the outfit, better grades at $4.50, $5, $6.50 and so on. Let us go and make our selection before the sizes are broken.
