EDUCATIONAL NEWS

HAPPENINGS IN OUR SCHOOLS

Furnished by County Superintendent D. M. Hunter.—A Communication from the University of Nebraska.

A COMMENT.

I will also state that of the entire number attending the county high school of Dickinson county, more than 90 percent are boys and girls from the farm. In fact, it is a farmers' institution; but equally as useful to the city, for the county high school affords many advantages which is my estimation the city high school does not offer. The expense of maintaining such a school is not great to the county. Only one mill tax has been levied annually for the support of the Dickinson county high school. I will add further, that the county high school of Dickinson county is well patronized by the people of every portion of the county. Parents go to the Chapman, where the school is located; rent rooms for their children and provide them with the necessary furniture (often taken from home), and also provide them with the necessary food. This makes the entire cost of attending the school for a year a very small sum indeed for the benefits derived. Others obtain board at a very small sum.

I sincerely believe that if the people of our county could be led to see the benefits to be derived from the establishment of a county high school, that the vote would be unanimous."

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion the University authorities ask that the press of the state give the widest publicity to the changes herein proposed, and suggest that the county high school be made a matter of thoughtful consideration and earnest discussion on the part of all citizens. If the next legislature is convinced that this legislation is generally and intelligently demanded by the people of the state, there will be no difficulty whatever in passing this law; thus putting Nebraska far in the lead in the completion of that which will be a state system of public education worthy of the name.

NOTE.

The last official census is that of 1890. The last available assessment rolls are those for April, 1893 now on file in the office of the State Auditor. It has not been possible to secure statistics as to assessment rolls of all cities that may ask to be exempt from the proposed statute. Experience in Kansas shows the annual current expenses of a county high school of say 175 pupils to be about $5,000.

As far as the necessary information on these points can be secured, the following table shows the probable results in Nebraska of the law as outlined above:

By the census of 1890 and by the assessment rolls at the office of the State Auditor, the remaining 22 counties in Nebraska have neither a population nor the taxable property necessary to bring them under the operation of the law.
