We handle only the pure article and will forfeit $100 if not found as represented.—Shea & Turnure. The Board of Directors of the City Reading Room would call the public's attention to the fact that the library is not a private institution but belongs to the city of Red Cloud and is supported by the business men. Lately they have received as a loan nearly half a hundred of the best books of the land from the F. C. E. society for which they are very thankful. They would be pleased if the citizens would take a deeper interest in the enterprise in the future than they have in the past.

Jack Frost came to this vicinity the last part of last week and did quite considerable damage to early fruit and tender vines. The freeze was general all over the United States and territories. Mrs. A. G. Willis is in Kearney this week, where she goes to superintend the putting up of a fine marble shaft over her mother's grave. The stone was furnished by Boyd & Overing of this city. The drouth of the past week has partially dried up the pasture and injured the fall wheat and oats, but the corn crop is looking nice and bids fair for a good crop should reasonable rains come. J. A. Hosmer, brother of the "Big Injun," was in Red Cloud this week. He represents E. Bement & Sons of Lansing, Mich., one of the largest manufacturing institutions in the United States. Sometime our people will wake from their obtusity and find out that their olfactory organs have been sniffing enterprises afar, and that they might have had a good sized city but for their lack of being more energetic in securing manufacturing institutions. Messrs. Haskell & Bosworth, the enterprising butter and egg men, represented in Red Cloud by N. W. Kingsland, have shipped 21 cars of eggs since locating here. There are 12,000 dozen in a car, which would make 250,000 or 3,024,000 eggs. Who says the American hen ought not to be protected against her foreign competitor on account of the wear and tear to produce the native egg. Eggactly. It will be seen by advertisement in this paper that C. L. Cotting has taken the agency to sell that incomparable work "The Book of the Fair" in this county. Every person who saw the great fair should have this splendid work so that its wondrous sights and beauties shall not fade from their mental vision and those who did not see it, should also have it so that they may view the fair just as it was, and study it nearly as well as though they had been there and seen it in all its loveliness. Call on Mr. Cotting, examine it and leave your order. Public Sale. Funk left this week for her home in Alcoa, Wyoming, after a two months' visit in this city. Jake Nye has arranged with Sherwood & Albright to leave orders with them for his hack line. Don't forget it. The Congregational church entertainment and supper in the Moon block last Saturday night was a grand success. Alf McCall, a resident of the "State" of Walnut, is going to build a new house on his farm. Alf is progressive. Miss Bessie Sellars has accepted the position of book keeper in the Haskell & Bosworth Produce company's office in this city. Rev. Geo. O. Yeiser united in marriage on the 21st, W. C. Browne of Holdrege and Miss Stella Bayles of this city. The young couple has our best wishes. Morris M. Stern, of the "beautiful" city of Red Cloud, was visiting in Plattsmouth Saturday and Sunday.—Plattsmouth Herald. By an order made by Judge Dundy in the federal court this morning settling the Red Cloud bank case, Congressman McKeighan saves $218 of his hard earned coin.—State Journal. Oscar Teel is somewhat of a kicker himself, but he has a horse that can beat him as was demonstrated the other afternoon while his horse was hitched in front of Wright's hardware store. On to-morrow evening, (Saturday) the ladies aid society of the M. E. church will give a strawberry and ice cream social in the Moon block, in the room formerly occupied by Myers & Usher. G. A. Harris, the enterprising merchant of Cowles, was upon our streets this week doing business. Mr. Harris does business solely on the cash basis and finds that that system is very satisfactory. There lives a man in Red Cloud who periodically fills up on "tarantular" juice, and then proceeds to make life a burden to his wife by whipping her, as alleged, and otherwise mistreating her. We hear that the matter is to be investigated. It ought to be. Next Sunday is Memorial day. The various societies, embracing Garfield Post, the Relief Corps, Daughters of Veterans and the Sons of Veterans will hold services in the opera house in the morning. Rev. Hull, pastor of the M. E. church, will deliver the oration. All are invited. The Catholic people have decided to build their church out of brick. A wise decision it will be an ornament to the city, and this paper is pleased to note the change. Father Quinn never does things by halves, and believes in building a substantial structure when he starts out to build. The jury in the attachment case against the Hotel Pullman for debts incurred by the former manager; W. C. Kops, returned a verdict yesterday against the attaching creditors. It appears that Kops had no interest in the furniture or other property of the hotel.—Hot Springs Daily News. THE CHIEF man, accompanied by his better half and youngest brother, was in the enterprising little village of Inavale last Saturday, and found the merchants of that bustling little village right in the swim. Two or three houses are being erected in that place, besides other improvements. They are enterprising people and deserve success. A CHANGE ASKED.—A petition is now being circulated asking the supervisors to submit the question of going back to the commissioner system. It seems by a law passed in 1891, that the county can, at its option, vote for five commissioners or three. The petition calls for five, and until the present law is changed or modified, it would seem expedient to go back to the commissioner system as the least expensive, and five would be about as good as the present system as far as an equal distribution of the various interests of the county is concerned. The proposition ought to be submitted. Two or three thousand dollars per year is too much to run the county affairs.

He with his family came to Nebraska near Riverton, Nebraska, where the dark shadow of death has visited him, first taking a son, a young man of great promise and earnest Christian character, then his aged mother was called hence, and once more he called "to come up higher" which found our brother ready even waiting for he early embraced the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ, uniting himself with the church, and has lived before his death he came into the experience of perfect love. His end was peace, sweet peace, passing from the church militant to the church triumphant to be with Jesus and the loved ones who have passed on before. The funeral was held at the residence, the body followed by a large concourse of people was interred in the Red Cloud cemetery. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." W. E. UNGAPEN.
