HEAVY rains have broken the drouth and Webster county will have a good crop of corn this year.

If the present congress would only adjourn and go home what a rejoicing there would be among a class of people who have become tired of reading the 'moonshine' that illuminates the tariff bill. Give us a rest.

SOMEONE has figured out that the present democratic congress has cost the people of the United States more money, directly and indirectly, than did the whole four years of the late war, not so much for what they have done, but what they have not done.

SURELY the republican party is marching forward to a sure election this fall, and nothing less than a miracle can save them from falling into the congressional chairs thicker than bees in a hive, this fall. Every district in Nebraska will elect a republican and no mistake.

There is scarcely a doubt but what Webster county will send her republican delegation to the Holdrege convention solidly for McNeny for congress. They could not do better for he is the only man that can lay hold of the populist majority and not only reduce it, but smash it into smithereens. He has no peer when it comes to his ability to cope with the great problems of the day.

Mr. J. O. Burgess, of Blue Hill, and cashier of the Blue Hill bank was in Red Cloud this week on business. Mr. Burgess in talking to a CHIEF reporter, said that he did not have any fears of the outcome of the charges preferred against him by the Omaha parties interested in the bank, as published in the State Journal. He has lived in Webster county for a great many years and is known to be a gentleman of the first water.

Let the good work go on. The republicans all over the country are being gloriously enthused with the bright prospect for being returned to power. The democratic party and the party of many isms, are the prime causes. The people see now that they have made a great mistake, and that they should have retained the grand old party in power and after November they will be asked to step in and restore the prosperity of our country.

BAPTIST CHILDREN'S DAY.—On last Sunday evening one of the most interesting programs that has ever been presented to the people of this city was rendered by the Sunday school children of the Baptist church and was listened to by a large and attentive audience. The program was opened with a song by the choir, which was an appropriate selection for the occasion, and which was well handled, as it was sung by one of the best choirs that the city affords. The next was "Oh Worship the King" by the Sunday school scholars and the congregation. "The King in Prophecy" was next, which was read by the leader and responded to alternately by the congregation, and was a very interesting part of the evening's program. The congregation was then led in prayer by Mr. R. B. Fulton. Select reading by Guy Cochrane from Lincoln was the opening of the exercises by the children, and the selection "Greeting," which was handed to the child only a short time before the hour of delivery, was well rendered, and show an ardent spirit in the child to do well on short notice. Song by the choir, "The Infant King" was read by the leader and the congregation. Song by the choir "All Hail the Power of Jesus." The solo "Room for the Flowers" sung by Miss Vance was one of the best selections of the evening, and was sung in a very clear and well carried tone, which showed that besides the care and work of her teacher to have her selection perfect, she is gifted with a talent that one is to be proud of through life. Recitation by Eva Foster, which was easily and well delivered. "Origin of Children's Day" read by Mrs. Brakefield and Miss Ella Remsburg was one of the important topics of the evening, as it reached back into the early history of that day. Song by the choir. Recitation by Blanch Foster, which was well delivered. Recitation "New and Sweet" by Della Reid which was well delivered. "Children's Prayers" by Ethel Cummings and Bertha Dots was an interesting and pretty selection as could be rendered by small children, and they did as well as if they had had years of training. "The King Honored" which was superintended by Mrs. Brakefield and answered by reading from the Scripture by Mrs. McBride's class was an interesting and instructive part of the evening exercises. "The Lights" which was recited by Minnie Smelser, Bessie Evans, Blanch Foster and Della Reid was an interesting and very instructive selection for any person although it came from young minds, for as they spoke the lighted candles which they held in their hands tended to impress the thoughts of the little speakers upon the minds of the listeners. Selection by choir. "American Publication Society" was read by Miss Carrie Brakefield and was an interesting subject to every one. Song by the choir. The next was "What will you do about it" which only required a few words to explain, and they were delivered by Mr. R. B. Fulton, after which followed a collection. Recitation "The Bountiful Giver" by Sammie Foster was well delivered. Recitation "Children's Day" by Jessie Cathers was a fine selection and was delivered in an impressive manner. Recitation by Vance Foe which was delivered well. Recitation "In Eastern Lands" by Willetta Payne, though the last on the program was not inferior to any of the others, and was delivered with ease. "God be With You Till We Meet Again" the last piece on the program, was the closing of the exercises for Children's day. The success of the whole entertainment depended upon the trained talent of the children, and they executed it with an unexcelled ability, which made it an interesting hour for all present.

SOLD MORTGAGE PROPERTY.—This week a party of campers living in Dawes county were arrested by Sheriff Runchey for running off mortgaged property. The party made no resistance. The sheriff of Dawes county, telegraphed to hold them and arrived on Thursday and took them in. The party, consisting of two women and a man, seemed to have a quantity of confederate money with them and a lady by the name of Candee, went into one of our stores and purchased a pair of shoes, paying the unsuspecting clerk with one of the graybacks. Not having the change the clerk took it out and had it changed, give the woman her money, innocent that he had been soaked but when the second party found that the bill was N. G. you ought to have seen the first fellow fly for the wagon, where he got good money back again, not however until the women had made him some trouble.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK.—W. B. Cramer, Peter Sailor, Abe and Hod Hilton, the "Jonahs" not of Holy Writ, but their prototypes of Bladen, resolved that they would "a fishing go" and if the famous Republican river did not willingly do so they would forcibly make her yield up the hidden secrets of the aqua pura which gently flows to the bosom of the sea via that channel. They then hooked up their steeds, and filled the wagon with tempting bait, chucked their fish hooks into their breeches' pockets and hid themselves to the Republican, arriving there early in the morning. They counted three, and with an "every body fish" all hooks dropped into the living waters, and that is all they did do. They "set" upon the bank and angled waiting patiently for a bite, but failed to get any thing but a bite of bread. The air was livid with fish hooks, but the little fish were not "suckers" nor even "chumps," and did not readily catch on. After sitting there seven hours without getting up with the usual luck, they pulled their hooks, just as a stranger came by, and they were bare (the hooks) and that was the way they were from the first; having been so eager to fish that they had forgotten to put their wagon load of bait on the hooks, and they never caught on when the fish would jump out of the water and cast a hungry look at the wagon, when finally a "channel cat" of small dimensions took in the situation he bit for fun, not that he wanted to, and when he was pulled out, there was great excitement, and the four immediately came to Red Cloud hungry and tired, with their fish over their shoulders vowing that it was a mighty fish, and that they were great suckers. They took the fish home for "food for thought" as it was too small to eat.

"Little fishes in a brook
A little too smart to be hooked."
Is the way they were singing when going homeward. This is a little scaly but a real fish story.

8 Boils at Once

Afflicted me—In fact I think no one ever suffered more from impure blood. Every pimple or sore would spread, sometimes making sores as large as a dollar. Four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla have thoroughly purified my blood and my skin is smooth as an infant's. I never felt better. L. O. TINKHAM, Newhall, California.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient. The rain storm of Tuesday night was very hard near the vicinity of John Hasselbacher's farm. Ash Creek raised four feet, the creek was nearly dry at the time. The hail, he said, hammered his potatoes into the ground.
