It is claimed, without any doubt, that Senator Allen will not vote on the tariff bill.

The assassination of Sadi Carnot in France seems to be creating considerable excitement.

One more holiday is added to our list. The bill passed in the senate this week which makes Labor day a national holiday.

SENATOR PEPPER wants to amend the tariff bill so as to include an import duty of $50 per head upon every immigrant coming into this country. Such a move as this is wise and would be still more so if that duty was raised still higher, and thereby keep out this pauper labor which is flooding this country.

Those who have carried the idea that the Coxyites were making a move in the right way, will probably change their minds when they learn there must be an appropriation of $125,000 to meet the expense that they have put the government to already. These armies have risen in fourteen states and two territories, have cost the government thousands of dollars and will still cost more, and their petitions to congress have amounted to nothing.

ON THE MOVE.—During the past week innumerable "prairie schooners" have passed through this city en route for different parts of the east, some for Iowa, some Illinois, some Missouri and some to go through as far as York State. Most of them hail from the eastern part of Colorado, where in some places they report no rain for seventeen months, while others report no rain for five months. A few years ago, while the Rock Island road was building through that country these self-same people could be seen going west via the prairie schooner route or any other way to get there, some of them having barely enough to keep them until they could get a "ranch" located and raise enough to live on. A failure to these people meant either salvation or another move, and this summer the move has commenced in earnest. The largest percentage of the stock belonging to these people appears to be in a very good condition, and some of them even seem to have plenty of this world's goods but are sick and disgusted with the "country where it never rains" and are in hopes of bettering themselves in the east. Several are stopping along the Republican valley and will, things remaining favorable, become citizens of the greatest corn growing country in the United States.

THE BLADEN WHEELMEN.—Six of the Bladen Bicycle Club, viz: McLaughlin, Kirby, Thorne, Orner, Eck and Byrne left here Sunday morning for a trip to Red Cloud. Admiring the beauty of nature's early morning gifts, combined with the soothing feeling of zephyr's fan may have somewhat carried the front riders into fanciful dreamland that they did not realize that they were on a down grade with two high banks on each side until in an instant we all awoke to the fact that wheels and humanity were in one promiscuous heap, convincing Dave that there were no light weights in Bladen; but through the mechanical ingenuity of Kirby we were soon on the road again and arrived in the city without further accident at 10:15. On the porch of the Holland House we were met by Mr. Ranney, the proprietor, reading from his benevolent smile we knew that there were volumes of unwritten greetings to welcome us. After dinner was served we were sorry to announce that Miss — of the Holland House complained of a sprained ankle caused by waiting on table No. 1. She thinks now, that Bladen's wheat crop must have been a failure for some years past, or that Red Cloud bakers are out of sight. When ample justice was given to the repast we took in some of the many attractions that Red Cloud may boast of. Among the many is the large flouring mill and electric plant, both of which are driven by an inexhaustible water power pleasing to tourists, attractive to capitalists, the latter of whom some day will turn such water facilities into golden results. Not least among her many attractions for wheelmen are her many fine looking young ladies. In the evening some of the boys' patience became a little worn through the attraction of Kellogg's grove, but when we found out and was introduced to the magnet time disappeared as if the earth's axis were supplanted by an electric battery. We hope to soon be able to congratulate Kirby and only hope through his face and influence he may remove the same here that she may become one of us. The boys all report a good time and are highly pleased with the way in which Red Cloud entertained them.—Bladen Enterprise.

CYCLONE PASSES NEAR RED CLOUD.—On last Saturday evening, between five and six o'clock, a small cyclone struck the west end of the yards at the depot. For a while it looked pretty serious, but not much damage was done, except a couple of telegraph poles being broken and four box cars tipped over. The field on the south side of the railroad track looked like it might be the scene of a sand storm. The soil, which was loose and sandy was caught up and carried along and covered the ground and filled the ditches as if it were snow. It would have caused more havoc had it swept through town, as it was strong and traveling at a good rate of speed.

State Creek.—Corn that was well tended during the dry weather is now very promising.

Some rye is nearly ready to harvest. Some of the wheat will pay to harvest; and some of the oats will make good feed.

Presching last Sunday at 11 a. m., at Mt. Hope by Elder Hummel. Our Sabbath school is progressing nicely under our new superintendent Mr Corbett.

The boys now have a place to go Saturdays; to the ball playing. There is strong talk of a postoffice on our creek; we wonder who will be the lucky man? It will pay well you know.

The big rain over east of us, in Jewel county was mixed with hail that did some damage to widow lights and roofs.

Dave Fair is home from Fort Scott school; he has completed his education and is now ready for any business. OCCASIONAL.

Judson.—Everybody feels happy since the rain, and no one talks of leaving the country now.

Miss Laura Scribner was visiting her sister last week.

C W Barrett's pony got out on a wire fence last week.

J Billins harvested his rye last Friday.

The wheat crop is rather light, and oats are poor also, but corn is doing well, and there is more planted in this part of the country than ever before.

Preaching at Mt Hope next Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m.

The sad news came to the home of Wm Barrett telling of the sad death of little Beulah, May Perry, daughter of Mr and Mrs C H Perry formerly of this place but now of Fort Gibson, I. T. She was taken ill suddenly and passed away on the 18th. She was one year seven months old. She was a bright and an affectionate child, and it is a sad affair for the bereaved parents, and to those who were near and dear to her. The bereaved family have our truest sympathy in this, their time of greatest sorrow.

Miss Wilson is taking music lesson of Mr Atwood. Srd.
