CITY NEWS.

S. B. Adams of Superior Sundayed in this city. E. B. Smith Sundayed with relatives in Riverton. Charley Irvine of Riverton was registered at the Holland Saturday. E. Ross Hitchcock of Sterling was a guest of the Holland House Sunday. J. A. Boyd was out on a long trip last week in the interest of his marble works. Several Red Cloud people are liable to secure positions in the Hastings asylum—as inmates. Miss Retta Abel came home from Guide Rock Saturday night, accompanied by Mrs. Dwight Jones. It is time now to have your organ cleaned or repaired, and if you want it well done, see Wm. W. Tulleys. Organs cleaned and repaired in a workman-like manner. Be sure and see Wm. Tulleys for this kind of work. The boys' band, otherwise known as the "kid" or juvenile band, discoursed some sweet music on the street Monday night. Episcopal service will be held in Grace church, Red Cloud, on Tuesday evening, April 16th, at 8 o'clock. All are welcome. Be careful, when having your organ cleaned, to get someone that knows how to clean it. See Wm. Tulleys and you will be satisfied. Down in Kansas the smaller towns are amusing themselves with "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," by home talent. Let's have "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Prof. Smith of Indianola was in the city this week. He is an applicant for the principalship of our schools, and comes well recommended as an educator. Spring item from a Kansas exchange: This is the time of year when merchants who don't advertise, brush the dust off from shelf-worn goods, and placard them "just arrived." Thousands of fruit and forest trees at the North Branch nursery, one mile south-east of North Branch, Kansas, 15 miles south-east of Red Cloud, Neb.—The Dillon Nursery Co. Dr. McKeeby and wife and Miss Tris Mizer returned from Lincoln Sunday night. The Doctor has a little work to attend to this week in the Capitol city, and he will then resume the medical practice with renewed vigor. County Clerk Fort is improving rapidly in health under the treatment he is receiving at Lincoln, and will be home soon, perhaps this week. Mrs. Fort came home from Lincoln Saturday night, where she had been taking care of her husband. The railroad boys are snickering with each other, because on Saturday night one of their bosses was looking for two females of rocky disposition who had camped in the tie yard. The boss laid for 'em, but the traveling ladies were cute enough to keep out of sight. The aspect of the situation is about this: The house fly has arrived in small flocks, the mosquito is here to stay, the festive June bug is on the road, the wasp with his business end is on top, and one after another of the vexations of the world come creeping on faster and thicker than ever. Troubles all come at once. It will only be a few days until the Fourth of July, when the small boy and the fire cracker will make life miserable, and then, yes, then comes the hand organ and the book agent. "Woe is me," quoted the poet, as Br'er Wilcox reined for the oil can, and then batted his head the great wall against, as he exclaimed, my stock of spring poetry has gone with the geese.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Wall paper at Taylor's. The nicest line of curtains at Taylor's. Call and see Taylor's carpets before buying. The new mayor and city council take their seats May 1, 1895. A complete new line of wall paper at Taylor's at bottom prices. Mrs. Wm. Parkes has been ill this week with an inflamed eye. If you don't see Taylor's wall paper before buying you will miss it. The "Blessed rain come" and with it great rejoicing among all classes. Lincoln mixed paint is made especially for this climate. Sold by Cotting. Mrs. Charles Platt has arriving home from her visit to Long Island, Kansas. Mrs. S. I. Cozad has been quite sick for the past few weeks, but is convalescing. Mr. Ed Smith of Salt Lake City, Utah, is visiting his father J. H. this week. During County Clerk Fort's absence his daughter, Miss Grace, has been assisting in the office. L. H. Fort is expected home this week. He has been in Lincoln treating for some facial trouble. Dr. L. H. Beck, got a serious fall last Sunday, on the sidewalk and was laid up for two or three days. Our edition this week is a hummer and goes to over 1000 homes and will be read by at least 8,000 people. Miss Tillie McClelland has returned from her visit in Bloomington. She was accompanied by her sister. Miss Daisy Warren, who has been attending school in Washington, Iowa, returned home Wednesday night. Dress up your boys, it costs but little to do so. Wiener will sell you an outfit cheaper than you ever dreamed of. The farmers and merchants are rejoicing over the late rains. Wiener says his trade has shown improvement since the rain. Have you seen those nobby caps for spring wear at Wiener's. A beautiful line is shown for children and young ladies and men. Look out for the "May Basket" social, May 1, 1895, under the direction of the Daughters of Veterans. Place of meeting will be given later. A $2,000,000 rain, as nearly as can be estimated, fell on the just and unjust Saturday and Sunday, and the parched earth drank every drop. Read THE CHIEF carefully this week. People who wish to invest their money where it will bring them the largest returns will peruse every advertisement in this paper. Dr. Damerell of Red Cloud, the new superintendent for the asylum was in the city Monday, arranging to invoice before taking charge of his new duties.—Adams County Democrat. There is no use talking, the Red Cloud fire boys can not be beat when it comes to getting to a fire and doing efficient work. This was evidenced at the Platt fire on Wednesday afternoon. Fred McKeeby has had honors thrust upon him during the last ten days. He has been appointed trustee of the Blind Asylum at Nebraska City and pension surgeon of this district. Miss Tillie McClelland, who is teaching in Red Cloud, is at home spending a vacation of two weeks. She is rapidly forging to the front as one of the best instructors in the valley.—Bloomington Echo. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Webster county Agricultural society, will meet at Mrs G. J. Warren's on Thursday afternoon, April 18th. All ladies interested in our county fair are requested to be present. A correspondent asks if "a young man should always stand until the young lady is seated before he sits down?" Ans.—Not always. Sometimes the young lady might wish to sit in his lap, then in that case he should set down first. J. Porter, Jr., the successful attorney of this city, has lately procured a handsome pension for Margaret M. Gibbs, Red Cloud, as dependent mother of Charles W. Gibbs, died in service. Also original pension for O. G. Bailey, Bloomington, Nebraska. How dear to my heart are the beans that were sent us, by kind loving friends in the last car of aid. The orchard the meadow, the deep tangled wild wood, were mixed with the beans and the freight wasn't paid. The rotten beans, the worm eaten beans, the moss covered beans, we found them a sell. So we took Mr. Sack and the beans that were in it, and threw the d—d things in the well. If you haven't any business make it by advertising. A firm may fool the people some of the time by selling high priced goods, but they can't fool them all the time when other merchants are advertising the same class of goods at less money. People will go where there are bargains offered. A man or firm who turns his goods every few days can sell cheaper than the fellow can who buys goods and leaves them in the store until some one who does not take a paper happens to stray in and take the goods. This is a period when people hustle.

P. O. Hours for Sunday.

On account of the change of time for religious services the postoffice will be open for distribution of mail Sundays from 12 m. to 1 p. m. and evening from 9:10 to 9:30 p. m. FRANK COWDEN, P. M.

Galusha's residence property this week and is doing it in fine shape. Mrs. Isaac Shephardson, wife of our popular engineer, was visiting last week with friends in McCook. Every man in town that has ten feet of spare ground is tilling the same just now and planting it to onions. Treasurer White was in Blue Hill this week. He went up for the purpose of sowing fifteen acres of alfalfa. Mr. C. A. Burch of Bladen was doing business in Red Cloud this week and paid this office a pleasant visit. Red Cloud lodge No. 60, A. O. U. W., had a very large turn out Tuesday night, at which time several candidates were made acquainted with the innermost secrets of the order. The lodge is prospering and the membership is steadily increasing. Dick Hickman, a Clinton boy, was elected city clerk at the election in Springfield last Tuesday. Dick is a Republican, and of such is the kingdom of heaven.—Clinton, (Ill.) Public. Mr. Hickman is a brother-in-law of the editor and wife of THE CHIEF. Therefore Dick has our congratulations. Soon the blankety-blank stove pipes will begin to come down and the usually serene housewife will be compelled to stand at one side and listen quietly to a tirade of abuse heaped upon the innocent stove pipe because the soot flies hither and thither smearing the skating rink on her hubby's head with a color of blackest hue. A little girl was playing with her favorite kitten. While stroking it gently with fond caress, she was heard to say: "Kittie, kittie, I love kittie, you're a sweet kittie and I know who your mother is. Your mother is old puss; she is a good cat too. But I don't know who your father is kittie. I think your father is traveling man." Any way that you may cast your optics heavenward you can see the festive flying northward and our Red Cloud Nimrods watching them with a longing eye. Our handsome library of cloth bound books can still be found at this office, and many people step in each day and subscribe for THE CHIEF, taking along either a beautiful book, or our equally attractive "Dream City," or both. Remember THE CHIEF, the "Dream City," and a nice book for $1.15, or THE CHIEF for a year and your choice of books or pictures for $1.00. This offer was never equalled in the valley. This is the time of year—O, we hate to talk about it. It's the time of year to clean house, and that work is already begun in good earnest. We have noticed the countenances of several of our fellow townsmen over-shadowed with a look which haunts that of a person who has just lost a friend, and for no reason but housecleaning. Men should learn to brace up a little and not act so sour because their wives want them to clean house. With the exception of an extremely windy day or two this section of Nebraska has enjoyed an unbounded spell of the most delightful sunshine that ever kissed the treetops or anybody else, for about three weeks. With the earth thoroughly drenched from the recent rains and the sun's warm rays enforcing the growth of all early vegetation, we arise to remark, that especially the agricultural outlook never looked so profusely promising in this section of Nebraska as at the present time.

He now owns three farms in this county. He owns many hundred thousand acres in the United States. He is owner of 30,000 acres in Nuokolls county this state besides land in most every other state too many times that amount. Sheriff Runchey has a great cod on one of our supervisors—John got on a nice streak during this session of the board and procured a half dozen gallon crocks for use as spittoons, so that the board might sly their saliva and quids of tobacco into them instead of on the matting. One fellow thought he would be a little stylish and wanted to know of John where the "custodian" was, meaning the "cuspidor." John gave him the horse laugh and pointed to the crock.

Married. At 4:30 Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Ulysses G. Knight, son of Capt. G. W. Knight, and Miss Daisy Garner, daughter of Geo. Garner of Inavale, were joined together in nuptial bliss by Squire Holdrege at the residence of the bride's parents. The wedding was certainly a quiet one, inasmuch as few outside of the closest relatives and friends were aware of the impending event. The groom is well known and respected in this city and has an extensive and popular acquaintance throughout the county. He has been engaged in several business enterprises in Red Cloud and enjoyed the respect of business and social circles generally. The bride is extremely popular to the extent of her acquaintances and counts friends by scores in Inavale where she has resided several years. The new pair will make their home in Inavale, where the groom is largely interested in agricultural pursuits. THE CHIEF wishes Mr. and Mrs. Knight abundant happiness and success and would like to say several more complimentary lines about them, if the wedding was not so unostentatious and severely quiet. We are sincere, however, in saying that hosts of their warm friends in this county will join us in wishing parental happiness.
