EDITORIAL NOTES.

RAIN makers are along the Rock Island railway and now we may expect rain.

The income tax law has been declared unconstitutional, and now the rich man is happy.

TOM CARTER, U. S. Senator of Montana, used to be a Red Cloud boy and was admitted to the bar in this city some fifteen years ago. He and J. A. Tulleys were both admitted at the same time. Tom seems to be a lucky dog in a political way.

These are hard times and our people ought not to send a dollar out of the city for anything that can be purchased in Red Cloud. Every dollar sent out of the city is just that much taken out of circulation and makes times just that much harder; besides, it is not business to help outside parties to the detriment of home enterprises.

We were never able to demonstrate what a man made by free trade and cheap goods if he laid out of work eight months in a year and could not buy any of them. This is the difference between republicanism and democracy. One believes in protection and work for the laboring man, the other believes in free trade and no work.

A large acreage of sugar beets has been sowed in Webster county this season. The beets are said to be a fine feed for cattle and hogs, and it is said that they will even leave corn to get the beets. This crop is certain in Nebraska, and while a farmer is raising them for sugar he should not forget that they are fine for feed. It is the coming crop in Nebraska. If Red Cloud cannot get a refinery, she should get a crude factory, which would be a big thing for the city with no great cost.

Let every man, woman and child, who can, come to Red Cloud next Thursday and take part in the services of Decoration day. If there is one thing above another that we ought to remember it is the undying devotion of those heroes whose bodies now rest in the silent city of the dead, and to those whose bones lie bleaching on a thousand battle fields. Let us do honor to their valiant services this next year and forever. It is due to those who gave up their lives, as well as those who survive them.

The effect of the democratic free trade policy upon the industries of this country is strikingly exhibited in the enormous increase of imported textile fabrics which necessarily must have resulted in a corresponding decrease in the output of American mills and factories. The total imports of dry goods in this country for the first four months of 1895 show an increase of $24,131,388, as compared with the same period of 1894. In other words, foreign made cotton, woolen and silk fabrics are now coming into this country in an increased volume, representing $75,000,000 a year in excess over 1894, when the McKinley tariff was in force. To pay for these imported goods we must export $75,000,000 worth of cotton, grain or cattle, while at the same time the wage fund of the American factory workmen has been cut down by millions and local trade in the factory towns has been crippled to that extent. What is true of textile fabrics is true also of other branches of American industry. Manifestly the shrinkage in the volume of the circulating medium among the people is therefore not due to the demonetization of silver, but to the increased volume of imports for which we have to pay in money or its equivalent in American products.

THE CHIEF would suggest that while the school board is considering the subject of employing teachers for the coming year, we believe that they should allow sufficient time to elapse in order that they can act wisely. It is quite clear to us that they should investigate thoroughly the condition of our finances and act in accordance with the condition of affairs that confront them. Nothing should be attempted that cannot be carried out to the letter, and that the lesson of this year's work by some of our neighboring schools will be remembered by them. We believe that a handsome balance could be at their disposal for school purposes should our schools be suspended until the beginning of the school term on September 1, 1895. To reduce the indebtedness of this district would be much more satisfactory to the patrons of the schools than to proceed further and undertake an impossibility. Should the board conclude to close the schools for want of funds, we believe it would do the right thing. We have been fortunate enough in the past to close our school term with but a slight deficiency. We admire the work of the present board and feel that they have done admirably, and no cause exists for this emergency save the stringency of the times. It now appears that there is upwards of $4,500 outstanding orders and interest, etc., that is unpaid at the closing of this term and that not over $1,000 can be reasonably expected to come in during next year or sometime in the future. An amount scarcely sufficient to reduce this delinquency. At this state of affairs conservatism should govern the actions of the new board and no steps taken that encourages the piling up of debt, inasmuch as the law forbids expenditures greater than our reduced levy will guarantee. Interest upon orders when overdrawn will cease and the inconvenience that teachers will experience in the future is hard to estimate. While many are foremost in their discussions of school matters and willing to take great chances and become desperate, we have a very clear understanding as to how patriotic they are when anything in the way of cash is required. There is an abundance of cold charity in the school community when the funds are low and when everybody can cast a vote. It would appear that a cash fund should be allowed to accumulate. Nothing could be more painful to us than submitting to the stern duty of the school board closing our schools, but having no money on hand nor any encouragement as to having one cent at the beginning of the next year, we prefer it to that of creating a greater deficiency, and one that can never be made up. Our conclusions are drawn from these facts. The district is indebted, including bonds, interest, unpaid bills, orders, etc., over $16,000. To continue the next school year would require about $7,000 more, making over $23,000. The receipts for the coming year would amount to about $4,000 and the enormous sum of $19,000 presents itself at the close of next year. The amount due us is no more than is required to pay the registered orders and interest, and nothing to redeem the present indebtedness of bonds, of which $5,000 are now nearly due and subject to litigation. While our resources are steadily diminishing retrenchment should be our motto. New steps taken and the strictest economy required of the board, or they will never be enabled to wipe out its debt.

THE CHIEF cannot quite understand why the Red Cloud creamery is not operated. The one in Blue Hill is paying good money, and on the 15th of May paid out $2,240 for the first half of the month. The Red Cloud creamery, in the hands of some energetic fellow with a little capital, would be a paying investment. Why not see if our creamery could be leased or sold to some such enterprising man as Mr. Hartwell of Ina-rale? The people put in quite a large sum of money to help start the creamery and why not have it run?

Hos. A. K. GOUDY, ex-state superintendent of public instruction, has formulated and organized a national association for the mutual benefit of pedagogues, of which he is the supreme chancellor-president. The aims and objects of the association are to aid its members and to help them financially when sick or disabled, of providing substantial benefits for the widows, orphans, or other dependents of deceased members, of establishing and maintaining homes for indigent and superannuated members; and providing against want in old age by survivorship benefits at certain ages.

ADMIRAL Meade has been retired. He was one of our bravest and best naval officers during the war. A few days ago he criticized Cleveland and his secretary, and the president reprimanded him for it, but, owing to his long and valiant service for his country, he was honorably retired. It is a breach of discipline to criticize one's superior officers, and Cleveland, being Commander in Chief of the army and navy, felt aggrieved at the Admiral's remarks.

R. B. FULTON, Chief Marshal.

"Fun alive" is no name for a great cod on a young man of this city. It seems that the young gentleman had a little ten-year-old niece whom he was in the habit of awakening on his arrival home evenings. The story goes that on some occasions when he went home, on passing the room of the little girl he walked in and, striking her a smart blow, woke her up. The night in question an elderly lady friend of the family visited the residence, unbeknown to the u. g. About ten o'clock the fellow wended his weary homeward. As he climbed the stairs he thought, "now for a little fun with niece." He opened the door quietly and, softly stepping to the bed, he raised his hand heavenward and let it fall like a trip hammer on the little girl, as he supposed, when, to his astonishment and chagrin, a strange voice came forth in alarmed and horrified tones. He had played his joke on the elderly lady. He stammered and tried to explain, but it was no go, and the u. g. declares that hereafter he will strike a light before he attempts funning in that manner again.

THE CHIEF takes pleasure this week in announcing to its many readers the transfer of the Bon Ton bakery of this city, recently owned by Kaley & Campbell, to Mr. Wm. Bense, the genial and artistic baker for that institution for the past seven or eight months. Mr. Bense informed a CHIEF reporter that he proposed to continue doing business at the old stand, and that he invited the patronage of old and new customers, assuring them of his best endeavors to please all who trade with him, at the lowest possible prices to maintain business. THE CHIEF extends its hearty congratulations to Mr. Bense, and wishes him much prosperity.

Mayor's Proclamation.

The business men of Red Cloud are hereby requested to close their place of business on Decoration day, May 30th, 1895, from 12 o'clock at noon until after the end of the exercises. Let us, one and all, do what we can on that day to evince our respect to the memory of the dead soldiers, our appreciation of the cause for which they died, our attachment to the country, and the principles which their death has preserved to us.

M. R. BESTLEY, Mayor.

It will be remembered by a large number of our people that about five years ago, a man was found dead near the head of Indian creek. The fellow seemed to be a foreigner and was an entire stranger to the people in this vicinity. No one knew where he was from or whether he was going. However, this week Milkman Perry, while working on his farm, found a sealed bottle, and enclosed was a note notifying the finder who he was and where he was from, and that he had committed suicide and had buried a box containing his will, and so on, and requesting that the same be sent to his brother in Wisconsin. Mr. Perry did not care to disclose the contents of the note until such time as he could discover the whereabouts of the box. He will find the box, if possible, and turn it over as directed.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure is taken internally acting on the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.
