Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kitchell,
Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 71 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Ancker, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Two marshals were elected and neither one served but they were not needed.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

Deafness Cannot be Cured. by local applications as they cannot reach the disease portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

Japan to Build Ships.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—It is the belief among officials here that Japan will use a large part of the war indemnity which China is to pay to materially increase her navy. The financial resources of Japan will be very abundant during the coming year, as she will receive over $100,000,000 before next May, and thereafter about $20,000,000 a year for five years. This will be drawn entirely from China and will be in addition to Japan's usual receipts from customs and internal revenues.

THE JAPANESE CATFISH.

Ancient Superstition That Is Disturbing Nippon's Civilization.

Far beneath the land of Nippon lies a huge catfish, imprisoned by the weight of the islands resting upon him. He dies hard, perhaps he will never die. In his desperate wriggles heshakes the island from base to summit. Earthquakes result. This catfish may be taken to symbolize the body of superstition buried under the New Japan and still disturbing the growing light and order.

Japanese superstition is purely Oriental and barbaric and seems highly inconsistent with the progress of the land. Take the Matsuri festival—a bullock cart with a platform twenty feet high preceded by a girl with a grotesque mask and native band. Around this 20 barelegged men with chalked faces and umbrellas hats dance and bang iron jars strung with jangling rings. Their coats gleam with scarlet, their chant is barbaric. The whole spectacle is as distinctly grotesque as the war dance at the Wild West show. That the pilgrims buy charms of their priests to insure all manner of objects from sound teeth to painless childbirth is certainly not more curious than many things done in our cities. But how account for the fact that at the Tokyo exposition of 1892 a first prize was awarded to a big burly wooden god, the Jimmu-Tenno. If the emperor is really a descendant of the original Jimmu-Tenno, this day entitled him to reverence.

A Worried Farmer.

A farmer who has been studying agricultural journals writes the editor of an Ohio paper that he is stumped. He says he reads in one journal that a side window in his stable makes a horse's eye weak on that side. Another paper tells him that a front window hurts his eyes by the glare; those on diagonal lines make him shy when he travels; one behind makes him squint-eyed, and a stable without windows makes him blind. The farmer wants to know whether there is any place outside the heads of those editors where he can hang his windows.

Success of Weather Forecasts.

The report of the Meteorological Council for 1893-94, just issued, claims for the forecast department an average success of fully 82 per cent on the predictions which are sent out each day at 8:30 p. m. "Total failure" occurred in only 5 per cent of the forecasts and "partial failure" in 11 per cent. "Complete success" attended nearly 60 per cent of the prophecies, and in 25 per cent more there was a "partial success," amounting to correctness in more than one-half of the areas covered by the forecast.

Tried to Bribe Bonaparte.

Attempted bribery and counter-bribery, at any rate, there were; for the conqueror himself was offered by the emperor a princely sum in the empire with not less than 250,000 subjects, and an independent income, says a French historian with regard to Napoleon. Had Francis known the prospects of his opponent he would have reviled himself as an artless simpleton.

Wrinkles in Clothing.

When clothing becomes wrinkled, either from packing or traveling in crowded cars, the wrinkles may be taken out by hanging the garments over night in a heated room. The kitchen or laundry will do, providing all disagreeable odors of cooking have escaped. Hang the garments on a line or clothes-horse, stretched to their utmost width.

Doublings Instead of Fish.

Honry Creswell of Hudsonville, Mich., while fishing at the Ottawa Beach reports pulled up on his hook a solid silver purse containing a diamond ring, a pair of diamond earrings, and some Spanish gold doubloons. The purse had evidently been in the water a long time. No clue to the owner was found about it. Of course Creswell is looking for an owner.

Challenge Accepted.

Cambridge University Athletes Will Visit America.—No General Contest.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The conditions made by Cambridge university athletes upon which they will accept Yale's challenge for a meeting in New York are in the main satisfactory to Yale, and the following cablegram was sent to-day to the representatives of Cambridge: "The conditions made by Cambridge are satisfactory to Yale. Cambridge to sail by the Cunarder after August 27. The games are to be held October 5. We would suggest that the 250 yard race be substituted for the 300 yard run. Yale is to arrange for a house in New Haven, and will put the Yale track at the disposal of Cambridge if the latter wishes."
