WAS NOT A DESPERADO.

THE MAN KILLED BY THE CHICAGO POLICE IDENTIFIED.

HE WAS CHARLES GORMAN.

His Baby Daughter Had Died the Night Before in St. Paul and He Had Not the Money to Buy a Railroad Ticket to Go Home on—Became Desperate and Lost His Life.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The body of the man who was shot and killed by Police-man Rosenthal in front of the Auditorium has been identified as that of Charles Gorman, who lived at the Hotel Somerset, Twelfth and Wabash avenue. From the laundry mark on his shirt he was supposed to be C. E. Cole, but the linen was borrowed before the shooting occurred, and his real identity was established by the man who had befriended him. Monday afternoon Gorman received a telegram from his wife in St. Paul, saying that his baby daughter had died the night before, and urging him to come to her. He made every effort to secure money to take him where his dead baby was, and after repeated failures, in a moment of desperation, he attempted to rob Saloonkeeper McGloin, that he might have funds with which to go to his wife.

C. E. Cole, the man who loaned Gorman the linen and who identified his body, is in charge of the dining room of the Union League club. He roomed at the hotel with Gorman and knew him well. Monday night about 6 o'clock Gorman met Cole as the latter was leaving the club house, and showed him a telegram from his wife telling him of the death of his child. He tried to sell a large revolver to Cole, but the latter did not have the amount necessary, $18. Then the two men tried to pawn the weapon, but could get no more than $4 on it. Gorman then tried to trade it at the railroad office for a ticket to St. Paul, his efforts being unsuccessful.

The two men then went back to the hotel. Gorman was very uneasy, and about 7 o'clock said he must renew his efforts to get the money. He started down town and was not seen again by Cole until his body was identified. In Gorman's trunk were found letters of recommendation from various barrooms where he had been employed, one of them being from the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago. All the testimonials spoke of him as a man of integrity.

CHALLENGED TO DEBATE.

The American Bimetallic League Longing for a Discussion.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—A. J. Warner, president of the American Bimetallic league, has written a letter to Hon. Charles S. Fairchild, chairman of the committee on sound currency of the reform club, New York, in which he says: "The Bimetallic league respectfully invites the committee on sound currency to a discussion of the money question on distinctive propositions to be agreed upon and to be carried on by questions and answers. I would suggest that not more than five or less than three on a side be selected to conduct the discussion, the discussion to be held at such time and place as may be agreed upon. Should this suggestion meet your approval, I would suggest an early meeting to discuss upon the proposition to be discussed and the regulations under which the discussion shall be conducted."

Sensation at Emporia. EMPORIA, Kan., July 11.—Elijah Hopkins, a deacon of the First Christian church, a prominent Odd Fellow, an old soldier and for the past sixteen years a respected and esteemed citizen, was arrested, charged with making a criminal assault over two weeks ago on Rosa Mangold, aged 15. Hopkins is about 60 years of age and the father of a large family of grown children. He claims there is nothing in the charge, and many of his friends believe him. He had a preliminary hearing and was placed under $300 bond. Quite a sensation was caused by the arrest.

A Lawyer Kills a Preacher. BEDFORD, Ind., July 11.—W. B. Colvin, a lawyer, shot and killed Josiah Stevens at Indian Springs station. Both parties reside in that place. Stevens is a preacher. HALF A CENTURY AGO.

Philadelphia Gentlemen Drank in a Way to Astonish Their Descendants.

Among Americans up to 1855 the use and abuse of strong drink were almost universal, but it certainly affected their health less injuriously than at the present time. The worry and strain of modern business and social life shatter nerves now and lead to dram drinking to repair them. On the contrary, most of the excesses in the old times came after a solid dinner, and three or four hours were spent in rest and conviviality, but the amount drunk was enormous. When the exchange was completed, in 1832, a dinner was given, and there was some apprehension that the wine would run out, and a well known broker on the committee expressed his surprise, as the company had not averaged more than three bottles apiece. This would be thought a very large allowance of strong Madeira in these times.

In 1853 the final audit of the accounts of the United States bank was completed, and on behalf of the government James A. Bayard of Delaware, John M. Mason and a Kentucky gentleman named Dukes appeared. It was a mere formality, as the matter had been settled ten years before. John Young acted as clerk. The party met in the northwest chamber of the bank building—now the custom house—at 11 o'clock. A bottle of brandy and six of Madeira were on the table, and after a short inspection of papers the wine was opened, and by 1 o'clock was drunk. The day was warm, and a bowl of bishop was ordered, and this was made by the servant with the brandy and a flask of Curacao.

This was drunk, and the three gentlemen went to dine with Charles J. Ingersoll about 5 o'clock. They returned, bringing a friend. A dozen Madeira were at hand, and smoking, drinking and whist were in order until 12, when the last bottle was drunk, and then Frosser, the cook, brought in cold ducks and a mighty lobster salad. A gallon bowl of brandy punch was made as conducive to digestion. A tumbler of this finished the clerk, who went to sleep and was aroused at daybreak to drink a cup of coffee, and then all went down the steps and walked away in the fresh morning air, none the worse in appearance from the night's potations.

It is apparent that in a life like this it was the survival of the fittest. The steady ones carried off the honors, but gout, gravel and dropsy played havoc with the others, and these complaints were charged to port and Madeira by the doctors, and so the habit of drinking claret and light wines came into fashion. Gambling was almost universal, and many fortunes of old Philadelphians disappeared in this way.—Philadelphia Times.

Financial Affairs of France.

The financial speech of the ex-Prime Minister M. Loubet, in the senate, is to be posted, by order of that house, all over France. There are some statements in it worthy of consideration. Thus, the national debt is set down at $1,200,000,000. It also appears that the difficulty of making both ends meet has greatly increased since M. Meline secured the triumph of his system. The court of audits has discovered $111 irregularities in the last budgetary account of money paid. By irregularities it means embezzlements, set down under the head of "virements."

Among them figures the $200 spent on behalf of a minister for "cabs," and $640 a month for little "dejeuners" at Voisin's, where a minister of justice entertained his friends. The "virements" at the home office are set down at $650, those of the war office at $1,330, those of the colonial office at $2,090, those of the public works office at $2,375. When M. de Freycinet was war minister, the "virements" of his department amounted to about $6,000 a year. He, as minister of public works and war, swelled the national debt more than any one else in power since Thiers' retirement. The redeemable loans were an expedient of M. de Freycinet to give employment to the public works department.—London News.

Some Points About Wills.

Do you know that you cannot will away your body; that a clause in your will giving your body after death to any person or institution is not legally binding? Your executors cannot be forced to carry out your wishes, though they may do so through deference to your expressed preferences. It is also important to remember that three witnesses are needed in devising real estate instead of two, as in bequeathing personal property. "When a woman will, she will, depend on it," says the proverb. But there are so many sharp turns and short curves in the course of the law that though a woman wills to will what she will, how she will in nine cases out of ten she cannot make her will so that she will what she wills to will. —New York Press.

Ants as Bitters.

Ants are terrible fighters. They have very powerful jaws, considering the size of their bodies, and therefore their method is by biting. They will bite one another and hold on with a wonderful grip of the jaws, even after all their legs have been bitten off by other ants. Sometimes six or eight ants will be clinging with a death hold to one another, making a peculiar spectacle, some with a leg gone and some with half the body gone. One singular fact is that the grip of an ant's jaw is retained even after the body has been bitten off and nothing but the head remains.—Exchange.

Hops were used as a medicine and as a basis for an intoxicating beverage in Egypt as early as 2000 B. C. The plant is represented on the Egyptian monuments of that date.

HARRISON ON BICYCLING.

The Ex-President Denies Condemning Their Use by Women.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—The attention of General Benjamin Harrison, being called to an alleged interview published in New York, in which he was made to say that he was opposed to the use of bicycles by women, he was quick to deny having said what was attributed to him. "I have," said the ex-president, "talked with no newspaper man on such a subject. I may have said something to personal friends on this subject, but my views are not in accord with the views expressed in that article. I expect it is another one of those made-up articles for which New York newspaper men are famous." Only last week a local bicycle firm shipped two wheels to Saratoga, one for Mrs. McKee, General Harrison's daughter, and the other for her son.

FOREST FIRES.

Houses, Crops and Timber in Michigan Greatly Damaged.

MUSKOGON, Mich., July 11.—The city of North Muskegon and vicinity is in the throes of the greatest forest fire ever witnessed here, and hourly the danger becomes greater as the flames creep along with astonishing rapidity. Farmhouses and extensive crops are threatened on all sides and the farmers have turned out in a body to check the headway. It will be almost fruitless, however, as already over five square miles are one mass of flames.

A large audience was present.

America's Triumph at Kiel.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Secretary Herbert received a report from Admiral Kirkland giving an account of the Kiel celebration. Admiral Kirkland says the appearance of the United States fleet was in every way a credit to the country, and was in fact second to no other fleet at the celebration. The impression created by our ships was a good one, and the flattering reception accorded the officers by all nations was gratifying in the extreme.

MRS. M. S. SCHOONMAKER

A New York Woman Who Suffered for Four Years with Nervous Debility—Paine's Celery Compound Made Her Well.

"For four years I was a sufferer from nervous debility. During that time I took a great many remedies without getting any help until I tried Paine's celery compound. I took six bottles of that remedy and was cured. I cheerfully recommend Paine's celery compound."

So writes Mrs. M. S. Schoonmaker of 80 1/2 Jane St., New York City.

"Too many women needlessly suffer from nervous troubles, not only in the cities, but everywhere.

Their whole world too frequently lies inside [the four] walls of their homes.

Think of the many persons, men as well as women, who spend most of their lives barricaded within the narrow confines of their dwelling. Summer finds them pale and tired out. Their store of nervous vitality has been slowly brought down by vitiated air and sedentary life. Their whole system needs a thorough replenishing. The nerves want nourishment, the tissues are not half supplied with material for the repair of their parts, and the great vital organs must have er blood to make them sound active, and to keep them so. nerves and brain need nourishment. The power of refreshing and riving every part of the languid body what makes Paine's celery compound the marvelous strengthener and vigorator of this century. It has same capacity to recruit the worn blood system, to rejuvenate blood that has enabled this reliable remedy to help so many debilitated persons and to restore them to firm health.

Rheumatism, neuralgia, pain in region of the heart, debility of various weakness, showing itself in its myriad forms, are all cured by Paine's celery compound. It energates tissues all over the system. It gives fresh vigor to the entire nervous tract, the brain, the large centers in the spinal cord and nerves themselves to their normal ramifications.

It restores jaded nervous energy. It sends new blood coursing through the veins. It makes people well
