WIENER, The Clothier.

If You Cannot Rely

Upon the judgment of your clothier, if he doesn't know what's right, stylish and good, he has no business to be your clothier. We can "size you up" and tell at a glance what will look best on you. We have made a study of it. Let us fit you out for fall; the price will be the smallest part of the transaction.

Some of Grant township's most worthy farmers hauled some of their grain to Red Cloud, a distance of thirty-five miles, last week, and received a good price for it. We think this is bad showing for this county, and very poor encouragement for the farmers with no less than four elevators in sight. If I were a farmer instead of a farmer's wife, I would rebel.—SPOOKENDYKE, Minden Courier.

The most unique and original costume is desired, and a silk flag or banner worn in each rider's cap.

FOR THE FIRST TIME

This Year, Naponee Base Ball Nine Meets Defeat.

Last Tuesday was carnival day in Red Cloud, every person who could possibly leave his business, joining the parade to the ball grounds to witness the contest between the Red Cloud and Naponee nines.

At two o'clock the band rounded up at the corner of Webster street and 4th avenue, and, after playing a few pieces to attract the crowd, formed in line of march, with the two armies of base ballists following, and started for the grounds.

A good sized crowd was present to witness the event, but not as large as had been expected, as the game had been well advertised and promised to be the hottest of the season. Naponee was advertised on the bills as not having been beaten this year but this time the audience had the opportunity of witnessing their defeat to the tune of 15 to 6.

The day was all that could be desired, with the exception of a southwestern breeze, which picked up the dust from the diamond and made it uncomfortable for many of the spectators.

A large number of safe hits were batted on both sides. Owing to the wind, a "two bagger" was counted a good knock, and a three base run was generally through fault of one or more of the players. Flies usually sailed nicely into the hands of the fielders, rarely over-reaching them.

As was previously arranged, Messrs. Scott and Prentice of the Blue Hill nine were secured as the Red Cloud battery, and they performed good work.

Though the usual number of men were given first on dead balls, the only accident of moment occurred at third base, where Billy Hopka received a bad kick in the face while putting the ball on one of the runners.

One of the amusing incidents of the game was Noble Captain Robinson's vigorous protest against the decision of the umpire, but, after being carried from the diamond with the rules before his face, Nobe was at last convinced that he was in the wrong, though he swore he wasn't out until they carried him out.

Numerous errors occurred on either side in the fore part of the game, but, in the last four innings, the boys got down to work and played splendid ball.

Though the game was marked all the way through with yells and hoots from the by-standers, the end of the last inning lacked the general hurrah that usually characterizes such an event.

Following is the score by innings:
Red Cloud: 0 2 2 3 2 3 3 0 0—15
Naponee: 0 2 3 0 1 0 0 0 0—6

The closing feature of the day's sport, a $50 foot race, failed to materialize, owing to the Naponee runner having a sprained ankle.

We have seen it in populist newspapers, and have heard it hummed in our ears, that Chauncey M. Depew, the noted president of the New York Central Railway, had prohibited the sale of free silver literature on that road. Believing that the story was manufactured out of whole cloth, we wrote the noted American on the subject, and below is what he has to say. We cannot fully understand why politicians will persistently and willfully misrepresent people in order to furnish political buncombe for their side of the house. Mr. Depew is one of America's brightest men, and has been talked of as a candidate for the presidency, and we presume for that reason his political adversaries persist in placing him in an attitude that would be unfavorable to his candidacy in the west. Read the letter for yourself:

New York, Sept. 18, 1895.

A. C. HOMMER, Esq.,
Editor THE CHIEF, Red Cloud, Neb.

DEAR SIR:—On my return from abroad I find your letter of July 22d, in which you ask me if it is true that I have ordered that no silver literature be sold on the New York Central. I never gave any such order, nor is there any such direction applicable to the news stands of this company. The story was invented by somebody interested in the sale of one of the silver publications. Every shade of political faith and religious creed has an equal opportunity for the sale of its publications on the roads with which I am connected. The only prohibition is obscene books or pictures. Our news stands are free as air for doctrines of all kinds and closed only for filth.

Yours very truly,
CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.

Ex-Sheriff Warren walks up to the side of the brick blocks in the city and "wants to know if they do not recognize him as grandpa?" His daughter, Mrs. Jessie Darling, informed him the other day that she had an heir and it looked just like its grandpa.

Sugar Beet Factory.

This week M. A. Lunn, editor of the Best Sugar Enterprise published at Omaha, was in Red Cloud for the purpose of figuring how Red Cloud could secure a beet sugar factory. A meeting of the business men was called and Mr. Lunn made a short address, urging the people to become experts in beet sugar raising, and as soon as that was accomplished there would be no trouble in securing a factory. No definite proposition was offered, but an effort will be made to secure sufficient beet raisers to insure a factory here during the next twelve months. The farmers should make due effort to raise beets and become thoroughly informed on the subject, as there is no doubt but that ere long Nebraska will be making sugar for the world. The sugar men will then know what to depend upon. If we are a success in raising beets, then the factories will come.

Sheriff Runchey returned this week from Sioux City, Iowa, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Chick, and four children. There is a long story in this connection. Some years ago Mrs. Chick left a good home and married the man whose name she bears. It was a hard life, and from almost the first year of her married life she was subjected to severe abuse. One day last week the sheriff received a letter from his sister, saying that she was not being treated right and that her husband was trying to put her in the insane asylum. The sheriff took the first train and arrived there while the insanity board was discussing the matter. He found the state of affairs worse than had been reported, and, had it not been for the intervention of the officers of Sioux City, there would have been one woman beater less in the state of Iowa. The lady and family had been transported her from one state to another over forty times. Mr. Runchey deserves great credit in rescuing his sister from the clutches of the villain who had mistreated her for so many years. For the time being she and her children will remain in Red Cloud.

The Drovers Commission Co. of the Kansas City Stock Yards are in a position to assist our farmers in the purchase of feeding steers this fall. The managers of the Drovers are experienced cattlemen of good reputation for fair and honorable dealing. Farmers with a surplus of feed should call on or write them.

We noticed an item in a Kansas paper last week, which stated that Jas. Blair, son of Geo. Blair of this city, was seriously injured while putting up an irrigating windmill. He was down in the well and a falling jack-screw struck him on the head.
