

GET WELL! ENJOY LIFE!! DON'T SUFFER WITH RHEUMATISM... TAKE PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The common sense of the people has long refused to believe that rheumatism and neuralgia were diseases hopeless of cure. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., L. D., of Dartmouth college, has confirmed their belief.

Inavale. Wm Bennett is again a visitor at his mother's after an absence of two weeks, selling goods at prominent towns west and north-west. Port Hedge and his brother Orrin were doing business up this way the first of the week with W. N. Richardson. A social hop at the residence of Geo. Hummel, last Thursday evening, was well attended and everyone had a good time. Several couples were up from Red Cloud.

Report reaches us that O. R. Pitney, long a resident of this township, is seeking a new location in Arkansas and if successful will remove his family and effects to that state. It is hoped he will not like the country, as we do not like to see such men leave the state.

Mr. Wright Thornburgh was doing business in our gay little city last Tuesday. Wright is the greatest political worker in the county, and when he gets out and rustles he makes it count.

Mrs. Amy Fulton, daughter of L. H. Luce, and one of Inavale's children, but now a resident of Omaha, was visiting her many friends here last week. Everyone is always glad to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Story and daughter Edith, of Cowles, were visiting at Mrs. Story's mother's, Mrs. H. Holdredge, last Sunday. J. D. is Cowie's popular postmaster.

Mrs. Kirkwood, of Oberlin, Kansas, is a visitor at Mrs. G. W. Knight's this week. Mrs. Kirkwood is the wife of the late Rev. James Kirkwood who came to Webster county in 1870 and located on Crooked creek just north of Red Cloud.

County Treasurer, James White, was a pleasant and agreeable visitor in Inavale one day last week, looking after his political fence up here. Mr. White need not worry, he will be elected by 400 plurality easily.

Speaking of county treasurer, Bill Rinkell is responsible for the following: While Candidate Funke was attending the fair he was incidentally casting around for votes and coming onto a half dozen men who seemed to be neighbors he spoke kindly to them and asked them their political faith. They responded that they were all pops. Mr. Funke was well pleased at this and gave them all cigars, remarking that he was surprised at the large number of pops this year. After conversing with them for several minutes he told them that he would try to call on them before election and asked them where they lived. They informed him that they lived in Smith county and the worthy candidate passed on into space. Mr. Funke will be defeated at election.

Did you read Jake Kindscher's eulogy on himself in last week's Nation? He says he is the watch-dog of the treasury and keeps close watch on all bills placed before the board, and yet just before going out he was the main one in putting his hand into the vault and attempting to pull out $55 to pay lawyer hire to defeat an honest election. The people by their votes did away with township organization, but Kindscher and some of the rest of the pops were afraid of losing their job and fought it and with the aid of a pop Judge turned it down, then attempted to reimburse themselves for their trouble by stealing the people's money. Such a watch dog had better be chained up and muzzled as Jake certainly will be and don't you forget it. B. O. K.

How to Prevent Croup. Some reading that will prove interesting to young mothers. How to guard against the disease. Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Every after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by Deyo & Grice.

A Lincoln Letter. At the Funke, Friday evening, Oct. 25th, Holcomb and McKeighan, Nebraska Stars of Populism. The populists held their first campaign show of the season at the Funke Friday evening. There were many vacant seats, notwithstanding the meeting had been long advertised by the papers and by the cards of invitation, with Ex-Congressman McKeighan as the attractive feature.

The house was called to order by Sec. Frank D. Eager, of the state central committee, who introduced Gov. Holcomb as the presiding officer of the evening. The Governor spoke touchingly of the late Senator VanWyck, alluding to his great labor in behalf of the common people. He said that, "though he is dead, yet his deeds of patriotism will live in the hearts of the common people of Nebraska, and all the liberty-loving people of the state will unite to do him homage."

In speaking of the coming election, the Governor urged that every citizen should cast his ballot after mature and careful deliberation. He spoke of the prediction of many, that popular government is to prove a failure, as unfounded, and based his hopes for the future of the country upon the improvement in elections from year to year. Of course, in his theory, the development is to come through populism. He eulogized the Lancaster county ticket, and closed by introducing G. W. Berge, candidate for county attorney. Mr. Berge dilated upon the unrighteous practice of electing men to office, regardless of qualification, simply to pay for fealty to party. He exulted exceedingly over the statement that he had issued a challenge to his opponent, Judge Cochran, to meet him in a joint debate on party issues, and that the county central committee had replied that it was not intended that candidates for minor offices should bore the community with their opinions in joint debate. He closed with a prolonged appeal to voters to support the best man, which, of course, meant himself. McKeighan was then introduced. He offered, with his usual definition of government—borrowed from the Lord knows where—and declared his undying love for the same, with the right to criticize it reserved. With a desultory introduction, in which he commended the plan of electing a judge to the supreme court during an off year—because it gave the utmost freedom to the voter and left him unbiased by partisan politics—he reached his topic: Free and unlimited coinage of silver, 16 to 1. The speech throughout was characteristic of the speaker; Senator Thurston's position on the silver question was criticized and Carlisle vituperated. It was a ranting appeal for free coinage. McKeighan has lost none of his old-time enthusiasm for the dying fallacy of populism; all of his utterances were colored by its doctrines. He presented the spectacle of a man clinging tenaciously to a sunk-on vessel.

At the close of the address Sec. Eager pronounced the benediction, which was: "That's all," and the audience departed. The wife of Mr. Leonard Wells, of east Brimfield, Mass., had been suffering for two days from neuralgia, not being able to sleep or hardly keep still, when Mr. Holden, the merchant there sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and asked that she give it a thorough trial. On meeting Mr. Wells the next day he was told that she was all right, the pain had left her within two hours, and that the bottle of pain balm was worth $5.00 if it could not be had for less. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by Deyo & Grice.

Quite a number of the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hooper gathered at their home on the 25th. When the crowd arrived Mr. Hooper began to inquire what it was about forgetting that it was the twenty-fifth anniversary of their married life and their oldest daughters birthday. After the crowd arrived, about fifty in number, the ladies began setting the tables for supper which was the best we ever sat down to. After a few pleasant hours had passed the Rev. J. T. Stoner with a few well chosen remarks presented the old couple two nice rocking chairs with the best wishes of the visitors after which good night was said. Sir.

W. B. Roby, a former pioneer resident of the west end of this county, but now of Red Cloud, was shaking hands with his numerous friends at Benkelman and Haigler the fore part of the week. Mr. Roby has been nominated by the republicans down in his county for county supervisor. He is a good republican, and a few years ago, in holding a similar position in Dundy county to the one he is nominated for in Webster county, proved himself most honest and efficient, and a friend to the tax payer.—Benkelman News.

If every citizen were as honest with himself as one we heard of lately James McNeny would get the largest majority ever polled in the county. This gentleman was approached by a venerable but active gentleman who informed him in excited tones and multifarious gesture that McNeny had robbed the Nebraska & Kansas Farm Loan Co. of $2,500 and that the books of that institution showed it, and that a certain other citizen would vouch for the truth of the statement. Our first citizen put the question to this reported authority and got a flat denial for an answer. He then had recourse to the company's books which of course showed and could show nothing of the kind. This same fellow who was caught in so flagrant an untruth says that at Receiver Bell's sale he bought a great number of McNeny's notes at a very low rate, when the fact is shown by Bell's returns of the sale that only one note with which McNeny's name could be connected was bought by him or any one else or offered for sale, and that was a note for $35 given to Case & McNeny and by them sold to the bank and for which they are in no way liable. This same fellow is repeating slanders and untruths of the like kind against McNeny in return for kindness McNeny has always shown him. Every story that he tells can be demonstrated to be of the same character as the above and no voter should take his word without investigation. At the same time we think he is imbecile rather than malicious and is to be pitied, not hated, for his meanness.

Six weeks ago I suffered with a severe cold; was almost unable to speak. My friends all advised me to consult a physician. Noticing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised in the St. Paul Volks Zeitung I procured a bottle and after taking it a short while was entirely well. I now most heartily recommend this remedy to anyone suffering with a cold. Wm. Kell, 678 Selby Ave., St. Paul, Minn. For sale by Deyo & Grice.
