Secretary Olney has finally settled the far-famed Waller affair. He decides that Waller was given a fair trial, and that he has no claim on the French government for indemnity for his long imprisonment. The general public, of course, cannot intelligently comment upon this decision until the documents in the case are published. On his face, it has a very queer look. Waller, an American citizen, and until two years ago the American consul in Madagascar, was captured by the French, who made war on an invaded that country, and accused of holding correspondence with their enemy, the queen's government in Madagascar. What if he did? Who had a right to hinder him? Why should he be sentenced as a traitor to the French government when he never pretended to owe allegiance to that government? What has a "fair trial" to do with the case? Did the French government have any right to try him for services rendered to a government with which his own government was at peace? Perhaps the president in his forthcoming message will elucidate this international puzzle. It is too much for the ordinary citizen.—State Journal.

The Story Told.
The exact vote by counties, in the Tenth judicial district, is as follows:

County	Pop.	Rep.	Dem.	Pro.
Adams	1081	140	19	12
Kearney	1115	763	5	9
Phelps	1193	792	27	9
Harlan	1059	673	84	22
Franklin	997	673	97	17
Webster	1083	1100	93	24
Total	7127	5411	904	93

Judge Beall's plurality in the district is 1717; his majority over all is 719.
In 1894, Congressman Andrews in the same six counties received 317 mere votes than McKeighan.—Adams County Democrat.

The wife of Mr. Leonard Wells, of east Brimfield, Mass., had been suffering for two days from neuralgia, not being able to sleep or hardly keep still, when Mr. Holden, the merchant there sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and asked that she give it a thorough trial. On meeting Mr. Wells the next day he was told that she was all right, the pain had left her within two hours, and that the bottle of pain balm was worth $6.00 if it could not be had for less. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by Deyo & Grice.

CATARRH
Is strictly a Local Disease and is the result of sudden climatic changes.

Ely's Cream Balm is acknowledged to be the most thorough cure for Nasal Catarrh Cold in Head and Hay Fever, of all remedies. It opens and cleanses the nasal passages, relieves pain and inflammation, heals the sores, protects the membrane from cold, restores the sense of taste and smell. The Balm is applied directly into the nostrils, is quickly absorbed and gives relief at once. The results that follow catarrh, due to the dropping of poisonous matter into the throat, irritate the bronchial tubes and soreness of the lungs, accompanied by a cough. In all such cases we recommend Ely's Balm to be used in conjunction with Cream Balm. ELY'S PINEOLA BALM will be found excellent for all throat and lung inflammations and for asthma.

Notice to Teachers.
Notice is hereby given that I will examine all persons who may desire to offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the public schools of this county, at Red Cloud on the third Saturday of each month.
Special examination will be held on the Friday preceding the 3d Saturday of each month.
The standing desired for 2d and 3d grade certificates is the same—no grade below 70 per cent., average 80 per cent; for first grade certificate—no grade below 80 per cent., average 90 per cent. in all branches required by law.

How to Prevent Croup.
Some reading that will prove interesting to young mothers. How to guard against the disease.
Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Every after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by Deyo & Grice.

WHY "No. 9" ARE HEELER

WILSON'S No. 9 SEWING MACHINES

POPULAR? BECAUSE LADIES BUY THEM LIKE THEM AND TELL THEIR FRIENDS.

Many ladies have used our machines twenty to thirty years in their family work, and are still using the original machines we furnished them a generation ago. Many of our machines have run more than twenty years without repairs, other than needles. With proper care they never wear out, and seldom need repair. We have built sewing machines for more than forty years and have constantly improved them. We build our machines on honor, and they are recognized everywhere as the most accurately fitted and finely finished sewing machines in the world. Our latest, the "No. 9," is the result of our long experience. In competition with the leading machines of the world, it received the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition of 1889, as the best other machines receiving only complementary medals of gold, silver and bronze. The Grand Prize was what all sought for, and our machine was awarded it.

Send for our illustrated catalogue. We want dealers in all unoccupied territory.

The editor sat in his office cold, Whence all but him had fled, He wished that every newspaper beat Was in his grave—stone dead.

His mind then wandered far away, To the time when he should die, And his faithful editorial soul Go scotching up to the sky.

When he'd roam in the fields of Paradise And sail on'er Jasper seas, And all things glorious should combine His every sense to please.

He thought how then he'd look across The great Gulf, dark and drear, That yawned between his happy soul And those who writhed him here.

And when for water to him they'd call In agony, while they'd caper, He'd shout to them just wet your lips With the "due" that was on your paper, —Knights' Jewel, Omaha.

THE TRIPLE CALL DOWN.
New a Bored Irishman Silenced a Crowd of Self Admitted Gentles.

There were four of them, as genial, good natured, whole souled retailers of old wives' tales as ever got together in the smoking compartment of a sleeping car. They had all fed well in the diner and settled down with the anticipation of enjoying a long evening of yarn swapping. They spread themselves over as many of the seats of the smoker as they could cover and crowded into a corner a large, round faced, jolly looking Irishman, who was enjoying his after dinner cigar. Somehow he wasn't amused by the stories. The narrators spread themselves, but they couldn't faze him, and the bored expression on his face grew in intensity as the stories went on. The stories were not funny. Once in awhile there was a gleam of humor, but for the most part they were just commonplace or vulgar. But they seemed irresistibly humorous to the four, who patted their thighs and wheezed and chortled and roared as each in turn finished his yarn.

At last the big Irishman could endure it no longer, and he broke in:
"That reminds me of the farmer who caught three boys stealing apples in his orchard."
The original four turned toward him with a look of expectant triumph, ready to yell at the first sign of conclusion.
"He chased them," went on the Irishman, "and they all ran up a tree. 'Come down,' said the farmer, but they wouldn't."
"Will ye come down for once?" asked the farmer.
"We will not," answered the boys.
"Will ye come down for twice?"
"We will not."
"Will ye come down for three times?"
"So they all came down."
And with that the big Irishman winked at the only other man in the compartment who was not of the story telling crowd. The yarn spinners laughed uproariously for a second or two, and then a light went up, as the Germans say, and they stopped suddenly. They looked at one another for a minute, searching for the point, and then one said, with a yawn and a stretch: "Well, I guess it's bedtime. Good night." And the party broke up, wondering.—New York Sun.
