WROTE "A GILDED GOD."

THE LATEST INTERVIEW WITH MRS. E. BURKE COLLINS.

Famous Novelist Recovered From Nervous Prostration.

Paine's Celery Compound Made Her Vigorous and Energetic.

Du Maurier has made Paris studios familiar to every one. But not until the appearance of Mrs. E. Burke Collins' story of "A Gilded God" did novel readers dream of the wealth of material ready for some gifted novelist's pen in the brilliant artist life of our own New Orleans.

In a recent interview by a New Orleans paper she said: "Of course, to a certain extent my characters are drawn from life, though never exact portraits. My favorite heroine is Mam'selle in my story of a 'Modern Heathen.' No, I rarely urge aspirants to take up a literary career. Success is obtained only at the price of the most exhausting labor."

Although Mrs. Collins' writing has always been a labor of love, yet such incessant mental exertion could not fail to have its effect on her nervous system.

At one time she found herself tired out and weak from her uninterrupted work; she became nervous and incapable of work; she even saw nervous prostration staring her in the face. The general toning up that her system needed so badly she found in Paine's celery compound. Today she is perfectly well and strong again busy as ever with her brain and pen, and grateful to Paine's celery compound for the timely help when failure and trouble and despair seemed about to close round her and shut her off from everything that was dear.

"Your constant brain work" must tell on your strength," observed the reporter. "Yes; you have no idea how much. I am at my desk for nine or ten hours a day," she replied, "I am careful to obey the laws of health, and I am never without a supply of Paine's celery compound. When I feel weak and nervous and there is a heaviness in my brain or a shooting pain over the eyes, which warns me that my energy is flagging, I take a little of the compound, and I am strong and free from pain at once. I never enjoyed such buoyancy of spirit and soundness of body before I made the acquaintance of Paine's celery compound. Scarcely a day passes that I do not urge some friend to take it. For neuralgia, indigestion, nervous prostration and blood disorders, I am convinced that there is nothing like Paine's celery compound. I am not surprised that physicians use it in difficult cases."

Paine's celery compound is found to best supply the great need of studious, sedentary people. Its extensive use by brain workers, both men and women, suffering from sleeplessness, indigestion or other effects of a deficient nerve force, shows its ability to feed tired, emaciated, nervous tissues. Nothing else has ever possessed anything like the power of Paine's celery compound to restore a healthy nervous tone to the entire body, and to thoroughly cleanse the blood. School teachers, professional men, newspaper men, ministers, public officials, men whose daily outlay of vitality, because of hard, trying, anxious work, is excessive, find renewed strength, not only of the nerves, but through their healthy action, of the entire body, in Paine's celery compound. Its use shortly dispels headaches, rheumatic pains, dyspepsia, heart trouble, general debility and languor, and all other outward signs of the grave mischief that comes from disordered nerves and impure blood.

THE PAGE, Fitzsimmons and Maher, ran over into President Diaz' realm, where the greasers roam at large, and fought, Fitz putting Maher to sleep in 30 seconds, and now Pug Corbett is as mad as if some one were waving a red bandanna at him.

RED CLOUD must do something toward making better roads leading to Kansas. We have an immense trade coming from this source, and we must see that the roads are put in condition for hauling large loads. We hope that the various road overseer on the south side of the river will make an effort to put the roads in shape as soon as possible.

WM. MCKINLEY is the lead horse for the presidency. He is admired by more men than any other man in the United States. He is a brainy man, honest and true, and, under his leadership, the laboring man would never need to borrow trouble about having plenty of work. The wheels of industry will move as never before. Hurrah for Billy McKinley for president, and Manderson for vice president. That is our ticket.

THE republican party is the one great party of progress. Republicans have always stood for the laboring man and protection. Without protection the industries of the country must suffer, and with them, the laboring man who is thrown out of employment. This is the year to talk sense, and Tom Foolery should be relegated to obscurity. We do not need free trade nor free silver, but free work, and plenty of it, for men who want to work every working day in the year. Voter, your interest is at stake this year, and be sure that you are going to be on the right train.

Talk Red Cloud all the time. In unity there is strength, and, if you want Red Cloud enterprises to flourish, talk your city and encourage the work of the Commercial Club, which is giving its time and energy to help pull the city out of the slough of despond. If a man or merchant is doing a good business, put him on the back and say you are glad of it; don't try to pull him down because he is prosperous. Talk up, and not down. The only way to make Red Cloud forge ahead is by incessant work on the part of every citizen, man, woman, and child. Shall we have it?

THE 5th avenue that runs just north of the Moon block should be opened up. The fact that this street has been closed for years is an eye-sore to our people; besides, a definite promise was made to Congressman Moon when he built his block that the street would be opened. Why not do so now? The land is not of much consequence, and we feel certain that the owners are public-spirited enough to do their share without much urging. Come, gentlemen; let's push Red Cloud out of that old out and get up where we can say: "Red Cloud is the best town in the west, and is prospering." Wouldn't that sound nice, and wouldn't we all feel good? The time is coming, people, and it's almost here. Beat the tom-tom and sound the bugle, for prosperity is putting her fingers upon us, even in the face of adversity.

THE Nation says our coal mine didn't pan out. How did our contemporaries know that it didn't come out all O. K.? There has never been any one that anticipated a great coal mine, but if all the people would throw cold water on projects as fast as they come up and say with a sneer: "Oh, there's nothing in it," how much of a town would we have? Now there is more in the coal mine project than some expect, although the specimens analyzed did not show coal. Coal may never be found here but there are other minerals no doubt and may be found, but not by scoffing at every project that comes up. No use building on false hopes, but let's give encouragement to everything that may look plausible. Remember that America would have been undiscovered today had it not been for the indomitable will of the great Columbus.

ANOTHER craze, or whatever you may be pleased to name it, has overtaken numerous people in our neighboring state of Kansas. Some fellow in Chicago has hypnotized them to such an extent that they are selling off their property and putting the money into his hands, as treasurer, and all together they are going back to Jerusalem and become primitive christians. It is understood that there is to be no man or wife, and the father and mother are not to recognize their children, but, all together, they leave these shores and seek the worldly Jerusalem. Some morning they will awake, only to find their money gone, and, like Jones, "be on the flat of their backs." The Chief does not question their motives, but why not seek the New Jerusalem on this side of the water and save expense? We presume the multitude are doing what they think is right, but what of those who lead?

Simon S. Hartman, of Tunnelton, West Va., has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than any thing else has ever done for me." For sale by Dayo & Grice.

 OXNARD BROTHER SUGAR CO.

In Memoriam.

In memory of Ida Hummel. Written for the bereaved family. She has crossed the lonely river And her sufferings now are o'er. She has gone to dwell forever. On that fair and peaceful shore. Sad does seem the home without her With its shadows hanging o'er. But remember that in heaven There is added one name more. God has called her from all weeping 'Tis his will that she should go. She's not dead but only taken From this world of sin below. Farewell loved one, farewell The father's call has come, To leave all care and sorrow, And rest in your heavenly home. Oh, could we have seen the glory As the gates closed after you, The splendor, beauty, brightness That burst on your rapturous view. You have gone to meet dear mother And your loving sisters two, And a precious baby brother Who were waiting there for you. And we trust we all shall meet them When this weary life has fled, And dear ones there to greet thee. Where no farewell tears are shed. A FRIEND.
