

Col. Joseph L. Follett.

One of Sheridan's Commanders Saved by Paine's Celery Compound.

Col. Joseph L. Follett of New York has a national reputation.

At the age of 21, Col. Follett enlisted in Battery G, First Missouri Light Artillery, and soon rose to its command. At Lookout Mountain he was the only battery that reached the summit.

Since the war he has devoted himself to mechanical engineering, and has invented several important improvements on the sewing machine, and a bicycle that promises to be one of the surprises of next season.

The tension on the nervous system of an inventor, kept up for months and months, seriously weakens the health of a busy brain worker like Col. Follett, and his constitution, which even the hardships of war did not weaken, threatened to succumb to nervous exhaustion.

What Col. Follett has to say in regard to his restoration to health, cannot fail to carry great weight. In a letter to Wells & Richardson Co. of Burlington, Vt., he writes:

"When suffering from mental exhaustion and a generally disorganized system, and overworked, I used Paine's celery compound.

"The compound acted like a charm on my bowels and kept them in fine condition, and I experienced great relief from my brain troubles.

"I have not used Paine's celery compound for six months, but I shall when in need of a tonic and general regulator of the system. I have recommended it to a great many, and every one who tried it got relief.

"It is the best general remedy I every used or knew anything about."

When the nervous system has become weakened from any cause, Paine's celery compound builds it up as nothing else can. It makes people well.

People in every walk of life have reason to be grateful to Prof. Phelps of Dartmouth, the eminent scientist who discovered Paine's celery compound. He understood the peculiar needs of the system; he knew that the headache, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, and disordered blood mean that the nerves are weakened and inadequate to the demands upon them. The experience of thousands has proven all over this broad country that only Paine's celery compound will give health to the nerves, and through them to the entire body.

Colleges conferred upon Dr. Phelps their highest honors for his invaluable investigations in medicine, but all this seems insignificant in comparison with the chorus of gratitude that has gone up all over the world from men, women, and children, who have outgrown weakness and the lack of health by the use of Paine's celery compound the most wonderful nerve and blood restorative.

Obituary.

(The annexed obituary has been delayed by pressure on our columns.)

Isaac Cowley was a Manxman by birth. He was born on the Isle of Man, a small island in the Irish sea, December 23, 1833 and died at his home in Batin township, Webster County, Nebraska, at 7:25 a. m. on Feb. 24, 1896, from kidney troubles.

The deceased came to the United States in the year 1875 locating in Lake county, Illinois, where he made his home for three years. During that time he went down the Mississippi river one winter and worked six months on its levees, in the state of Arkansas.

He moved to Coles county, Illinois in 1860 where he remained thirteen years, making his home in the same family all that time.

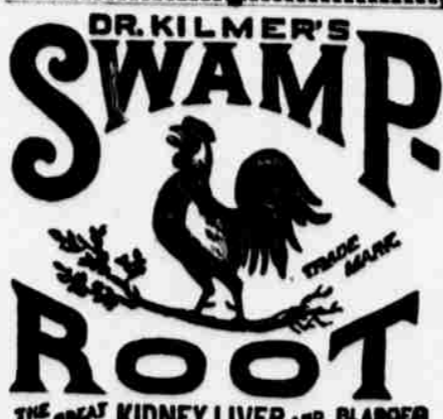

He was married to Miss Nancy Carr, a daughter of the Rev. J. H. Carr of the Christian church, June 7, 1893, in Coles county, Illinois, and in a few days after their marriage they started for Nebraska in a wagon, and landed in Red Cloud, Nebraska, July 25, 1873. He moved upon his homestead Sept. 6, 1873, where he has since resided. He was one of the first settlers on the Big Divide, which was then a wild prairie where the buffalo and antelope grazed and the Indians came in the autumn to hunt. He acquired 320 acres of this beautiful prairie then covered with buffalo grass which has since been converted into a well cultivated and productive farm, and made upon it a happy and comfortable home.

He was a member of the aid committee and assisted in distributing the aid sent the grasshopper sufferers of 1874. He did what he could to have the needy and suffering get their full share. Through his influence the tea and other delicacies were divided among the old and the sick. He spent considerable time in collecting and distributing these supplies, which he was to do free of charge.

He was postmaster at Catherton post office from 1876 to 1887, filling that office for eleven years to the entire satisfaction of all reasonable people. This position enabled him to show his sterling integrity and impartial manner of conducting a public trust, which drew to him many warm friends.

Mr. Cowley united with the Methodist church in Coles county, Illinois, and has since lived a conscientious christian life. In 1874 his house was used as a place of public worship, the Rev. Moses Mapes of the Methodist church preaching there once every two weeks during that time. At the time of his death he was a member of the Plainview Methodist class. He leaves a widow and one son, Charles W. While they are sadly bereaved by the loss of a kind and loving husband and father, the community mourns the loss of one of their most honored members, who lived the golden rule. His sympathies were with the worthy poor and unfortunate and no one in his neighborhood was more liberal in giving them substantial aid. Humble, honorable and plain, he believed in the fullest freedom and equal rights for all humanity and he lived nobly up to his belief. Ever ready to grant others all their rights, he would much rather suffer a considerable loss than contend for his own.

Always industrious and diligent in his business affairs, he met with more than ordinary success, which enabled him to leave to his loved ones one of the best and most comfortable homes in his vicinity, well equipped and provided.

vided for in every way, with no obligations of his for them to meet.

The deceased was a great sufferer the last few months of his life but his pain seemed to cease a short time before his death and he passed away serene and peaceful in the presence of those who loved him best and had tenderly watched over him during his sickness, doing everything in their power to alleviate his pain and restore him to health; and whose heartrendings at seeing him pass from earth were more painful to them than death was to him, for he had no fears of death but much suffering did rather make him welcome the dread messenger.

He died having the fullest respect and confidence of all who knew him, which was the result of over twenty years of honest, kind hearted, liberal dealing with his neighbors. He was always glad to accommodate a friend. Nothing pleased him better than to save a poor person from making an outlay, by loaning him something of his: If two persons asked the same favor, and he could grant it to but one, he preferred to accommodate the poorer one, thinking the other could more easily get the favor somewhere else. He was indeed the poor man's friend.

His bereaved ones have the heartfelt sympathy of their entire community who also mourn because a good man has left them. The name of Isaac Cowley will long be remembered and revered by those who knew him, but will be held the dearest by those who knew him best.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. G. W. Hummel on Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1896, at the late residence of the deceased and interment was made in the Plainview cemetery. The funeral cortege was the largest ever assembled in that part of the county, attesting the universal esteem in which the deceased was held by those with whom he had lived so long.

Deafness Cannot be Cured, by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's catarrh cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

Dr. G. C. OSOON, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Cloverton.

Last Thursday evening Cloverton school gave a pleasing entertainment; a few deserve special mention. Two of the selections were given in costume, one by Anna Bodley and the other by Grace Baker. The little girls Dora Fassler, Pearl May and Ida Fassler delighted the audience with their recitations and songs. Mary Tobin did justice to the touching story "Too many of us." Margaret Bodley and Ann Tobin recited in their accustomed good style. Frank Baker with his German dialect and the negroes (?) with their songs were more than amusing. Space forbids particular mention of the others but all did well.

The school board were fortunate in securing the services of Miss Alice Rensburg for she has given the best of satisfaction and her ability as a teacher is unquestionable.

THE CAUSE OF LAGRIFFE. Now Admitted to be from Deranged Digestion.

Careful observation in many cases of La Grippe extending over several years have gradually developed the fact that it is very generally caused from dietetic errors.

In other words, during the prevalence of La Grippe, persons who suffer from indigestion or stomach troubles are almost invariably victims of the epidemic.

This can be readily understood when you remember that the germs of any disease cannot gain a foothold in the system of a man or woman who is blessed with perfect digestion because perfect digestion means perfect health and such persons can bid defiance to La Grippe or to any other prevailing epidemic.

For this reason physicians have recently introduced into their practice the new preparation known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as an almost certain preventive of La Grippe, as this remedy by giving perfect digestion and assimilation of the food so fortifies the system against diseases that all danger from this epidemic is reduced to a minimum.

So popular have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets become that it is claimed within one month after being made known to the public one hundred and ninety-three druggists in Detroit, Mich., alone were selling it and today they pronounce it the most satisfactory remedy they are selling for all forms of stomach derangement.

The price at druggists is but 50 cents for full sized package. It is not a cure-all, but is recommended as a cure for dyspepsia and stomach troubles only.

Not to be Trifled With.

(From Cincinnati Gazette.) Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illness occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are to-day countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds" which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale at H. E. Grice's.
