JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 2.—Tuesday's great hurricane struck Florida at Cedar Keys and passed in its path of destruction over twenty towns and villages and reports show that between thirty and forty people were killed. It is reported from Gainesville that Cedar Keys, a place of 1,500 people, about 100 miles southwest of Jacksonville, was swept away and many lives lost. Nobody has been able to get anything direct from Cedar Keys. Moving northeasterly the storm struck Williston, a small town, where eleven houses were blown down, one person was killed and several probably fatally hurt. A large turpentine factory, where state convicts are employed, twenty of these were killed together in a cabin. A heavy tree was blown across the cabin and six were crushed to death. In Gainesville the Methodist church and about twenty dwellings and businesses houses were destroyed and quite a number of people hurt, but none killed. EX-GENERALS IN KANSAS. Big Crowds Listen to Speech at Various Places—Brief Speeches.

ARCHERSON, Kan., Oct. 2.—The ex-Union generals who are touring the West and making speeches in behalf of McKinley and Hobart, entered Kansas from Nebraska by way of the Missouri Pacific railway, escorted by Colonel C. M. Rahrborn of that line. The first stop was made at this town, which was reached at 6:30 o'clock. General Alger had not been notified that a meeting was to be held here and the party were surprised to be awakened at 8 o'clock, the hour appointed for the meeting, by a noisy crowd of people who had gathered on the Union station platform. Escorted by Mr. Ingalls, General Howard led the multitude to the west side of the Burlington & Missouri freight depot, where several hundred school children, the Republican flambé club and a band were drawn up in lines to welcome the visitors. When Mr. Ingalls called for order about 2,000 people were present, but in a few minutes it was augmented by 1,000 more. General Howard mounted a small table and stood while the crowd cheered. He spoke briefly. He was followed by General Stewart, General Siddles and Corporal Tanner. At Nortonville, Superintendent McClelland, who joined the party at Atonen, held the train three minutes while General Howard addressed the school children and about 300 men and women. At Valley Falls another short stop was made while General Siddles addressed a crowd of about 500. There the special cars were attached to the regular passenger train, which, in addition to the usual complement of cars, carried half a dozen extra coaches carrying excursionists to Topeka. In consequence of this extra work and a delay in getting out of Atchison, the train was three-quarters of an hour late in arriving at Topeka. The civic parade which it was arranged the visiting generals should review had already started and not over 100 persons were at the station to meet the party. The welcoming committee consisted of Governor Morrill, Chairman Simpson, Mayor Fellows, La. S. Cronin, D. W. Mulvane, Frank Brown, Major General Hughes and a score or more of representatives of the party. After a hearty greeting, the visitors entered carriages and were driven to the reviewing stand at the north side of the capital square to review the G. A. R. divisions. The party is traveling in the Pullman car "Edmond" and General R. A. Alger's private car "Michigan." It consists of General Alger, General O. O. Howard, General Daniel E. Siddles, General Thomas J. Stewart, Corporal James Tanner, Major J. W. Burr, quartermaster general of the G. A. R.; Colonel George H. Hopkins, General Alger's personal friend; Colonel W. C. Beer of New York, representative of the Republican national committee and quartermaster general of the train; Fred P. Davis, press representative of the party; Joseph Gruessel, General Alger's friend and representative of the Detroit Journal; George Stanton Siddles and Mrs. Siddles, son and daughter of General Siddles. MRS. BRYAN'S COURTESY. The members of the party unite in saying that the most pleasing incident so far of their journey was a delicate bit of courtesy shown by Mrs. Bryan, wife of the Democratic candidate for president, who, while the procession in honor of the visiting generals was moving past her house in Lincoln, displayed over her door a large portrait of William McKinley, tastefully draped in the national colors. It was a touch of womanly grace. Beautiful as it was unexpected, and General Alger says that he will cherish it as a sweet recollection, plucked from an acrimonious campaign until the end of his days.

CAN'T GO IN POLITICS. Attorney General Harmon to Federal District Attorneys. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Attorney General Harmon, in accepting the resignation of Francis R. Lassiter, United States attorney for the Eastern district of Virginia, sent the following letter to him: "Complaints had reached the Department of Justice that Mr. Lassiter was acting as a chairman of a campaign committee and otherwise taking an active part in the politics of his district. Whatever rule may prevail in other departments, it is well settled in this that there is an impropriety in officers like you acting as committee men to manage and conduct political campaigns. As United States attorney you determine who to prosecute and whom not to prosecute. You conduct or recommend the discontinuance of prosecution already commenced. You have admission to the grand jury books and indictments are found or returned largely upon your advice. If I concede that you are, as your letter today claimed to be, one of those rare men who are beyond the reach of the unconscious operation of feeling of personal favor or disfavor, still, the general confidence of the community in your conduct as a public officer of justice is at least a risk, if while holding that office you so engage in the exciting and often bitter political campaigns in which the entire community is ranged on one side or the other. You may be able, as you think you are, to escape or repress in what you do as an officer all effect of the recollection of your campaign work, but you will be utterly unable, especially in cases where your action may appear to coincide with your supposed inclination to make the community believe that your action has not been in any degree so affected."

COLORADO REPUBLICANS. Regret the Action of the St. Louis Convention on the Silver Issue.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 2.—Seven hundred delegates were in attendance when Chairman Hodges called the Republican State convention to order. The convention was harmonious and the ticket was nominated throughout by a unanimous vote. The report of the committee on resolutions, says: "Resolved, That our people, irrespective of party affiliations, favor the free coinage of silver under an administration in which the people of the country had confidence. We regret that the national convention at St. Louis did not view this question as we view it. "We accept, however, the assurance of the party that its efforts will be devoted to the securing of an international agreement for the unlimited coinage of silver as a sacred pledge. We believe that the pledge will be fulfilled, and we are firmly of the faith that the remonetization of silver, so essential to the welfare of this and all other civilized countries, will be accomplished through the efforts of this party of this country and through no other. Except upon this silver question we heartily and cordially indorse the platform of the party at St. Louis, and we declare our undiminished and unwavering belief in the great doctrines of the protection of American labor and American industries. Also in reciprocity as enunciated in the national platform."

A Colorado Millionaire Mine Owner Not for Bryan. ASPEN, Colo., Oct. 2.—The following reply has been received by R. C. Brown of this city from J. J. Hagerman, the millionaire silver mine owner, in response to a request of Mr. Brown, as chairman of the committee to raise a fund among the mining men in aid of the silver cause: "After mature consideration, I have concluded that the dangers likely to follow the success of the Democratic-Populist combination would outweigh any possible benefit, and I cannot contribute to the Democratic campaign fund, either personally or through the companies in which I am interested.—J. J. HAGERMAN."

350 PEOPLE PERISH. TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE IN FLORIDA. Is Likely to Reach 500—Hundreds of Fishermen Overwhelmed—Cedar Keys Laid Waste—Town After Town Almost Completely Wiped Out.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 2.—At least 350 lives—possibly 500—were lost in and about Cedar Keys as a result of the terrific hurricane and tidal wave Tuesday night. Of 100 fishing and sponge boats with from four to ten men each, anchored below the town Monday night, only about twenty escaped destruction, and the loss of life there is estimated at from 330 to 350. In the town itself, before the storm, a thriving place of 1,500 people, twenty dead bodies have been recovered from the mud and ruins. Few houses are left standing and scores are suffering from injuries. The town was situated at the mouth of the Suwanee river on a number of small keys connected by bridges. Scores of lives were also lost in the sponge fishing section. The hurricane struck the place about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and continued for several hours. Though warnings had been given, nothing indicated a blow of unusual severity, and up to 2 o'clock the night was calm and quiet. At that time a moderate breeze sprang up from the eastward, increasing gradually until a thirty-mile wind was blowing. About 4 o'clock a perfect tornado was blowing. Then the wind suddenly changed to the southeast, bringing a perfect deluge of water, the tide rising two feet higher than in the gale of 1894. DEATH IN A TIDAL WAVE. At 7 o'clock an immense tidal wave came in from the south, carrying destruction with it. Boats, wharves and small houses were hurled upon the shore and broken into fragments. This tidal wave caused the principal loss of life, many houses being swept away from their foundations and the inmates drowned. In Cedar Keys, when the tidal wave came and overwhelmed the houses, many of the inmates floated in the water, clinging to pieces of timber; others hung to tree tops for hours, until the water receded. They were buffeted by wind and waves and many men fainted, but clung even while unconscious to the tree limbs. Many are still unaccounted for, and families and friends are filled with anxiety, hoping for the best, but fearing the worst. In view of the utter destruction wrought by the storm, it seems miraculous that there is a single person alive in Cedar Keys to-day. While the gale was at its height fire broke out in the Bettina house. In a few seconds the entire building was wrapped in flames, which quickly communicated to the Schleimer hotel, adjoining, and in a very short time nothing was left of either house except the bare walls. The inmates saved nothing. They made their escape by wading through four feet of water. The bridges connecting the keys were swept away, and the only communication is by means of boats, of which few are left. Then, too, most of the victims were buried deep in mud by the tidal wave, and many of the bodies will probably never be recovered. Beyond the bar there are a score of masts visible just above the water, and each top indicates the original place of a sponging schooner and crew. It is possible that many of the vessels were blown out into the gulf and rode out the hurricane, but the Mary Eliza's captain thinks that by far the greater number are beneath the water with their crews. He says that there was not one chance in a thousand for such frail craft to live in such a hurricane. It is expected that for days to come corpses of the spongers will be found along the coast. THIRTY DEAD IN LEVY COUNTY. In the Western part of Levy and Alachua counties not less than 300 families are left destitute. Scores were injured and over thirty were killed in Levy county. The town of Fannin was completely destroyed with the exception of one small house. The town of Needmore was demolished. The postoffice building at that place was completely demolished and the postmaster can find no part of the mail or postoffice fixtures. Every house at Yular, Judson and Chiefland was destroyed, with one or two exceptions, killing people of both the former places. The people of Bronson have issued an appeal for aid for the destitute. Reports from Baker, Suwanee, Nassau and Columbia counties confirm the previous reports of death and destruction. The death list has been increased by nearly a dozen. Columbia county fared very badly. All the country south of Lake City is devastated. In the Caleb Markham neighborhood scarcely a house is left standing. In the vicinity of Payne and Mount Taber postoffices the destruction was great, but the accounts are yet meager. Fred Holze, a farmer of that locality, was fatally crushed and his wife killed by the falling of a tree on their house. Fort White fared badly, all the churches, school houses, many stores and residences being blown down and many others injured. RAIN IN EVERY DIRECTION. Milesville and other Southern points have not yet been heard from. Hazen station, ten miles southeast from Lake City, was wiped out, stores demolished and dwellings destroyed. At Lake Butler the destruction was almost as great and Lacrosse was almost wiped out of existence. Increase of National Bank Notes. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The monthly statement of the comptroller of the currency shows the amount of national bank notes in circulation September 30 was $33,322,029, an increase for the month of $4,027,581 and for the twelve months $30,729,703. Poison Choked Out of His Mouth. CARHAGE, Mo., Oct. 2.—William J. Warrington, an organ salesman, was arrested in this city to-day on eight counts of embezzlement from the Newman Bros. Organ Company of Chicago. He tried to take arsenic out the officer choked him and made him spit it out.

TOUR OF THE GENERALS. Numerous Kansas Towns Visited by the Gold Orators.

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 3.—The first of the generals to rise this morning was General Howard. He sleeps lightly, and as soon as he felt the motion of the car as the special pulled over the frogs and switch joints of the Topeka yards at 7 o'clock, he tumbled out of his berth and dressed up for the day. The first stop was made at Osage City, where a crowd of about 1,000 had collected. General Alger was introduced by E. Marshall of Osage City. The five brass bands and the one corporal preceded themselves on the platform. General Alger was still hoarse and he spoke but briefly. General Alger then introduced General Howard. He had heard frequently of late, the sneer about "pulling the old soldier's leg." He wanted to say simply that the old soldiers had gone to war to preserve the country under one flag, and they wanted now only that the country should continue. He appealed to the voters not to let any "fool Pops" mislead them. The Populists were men who wanted another form of government—a divine government with the railroads and telegraphs all operated from Washington, and the Lord on duty to conduct it right. At Emporia about 5,000 people gathered to hear the generals. They spoke in a similar strain as at Osage City. At Strong City a halt of twenty minutes was made and Generals Alger, Siddles and Howard made short speeches to about 500 people. It was not a responsive audience and it evidently was largely dominated by free silver sentiment, but it paid respectful attention and when General Siddles spoke it became somewhat enthusiastic and repeatedly cheered his periods. At Florence General Stewart was the star speaker, where 500 or 600 men, women and children gathered at the train. He was interrupted frequently by the bell of a locomotive nearby. Finally, he stopped, saying: "I can't talk against a bell. That bell is like a Populist, always going through the country making a noise and interrupting the good things." General Howard, General Marden and General Alger also spoke. At Marion the crowd was unmistakably Republican and applauded vigorously. When the train reached Hillsboro, a German settlement, 300 people were standing on the platform, but the town was not on the schedule for a stop and the train shot by. When General Siddles, sitting in the observation room, caught sight of the disappointed crowd he cried out to the brakeman: "Stop the train and we will buck up to those people. I may never see them again." And so the train was stopped and backed up while General Siddles spoke to them. They wanted him to speak in German, but he does not speak that language and spoke to them in English of their countrymen, the brave Sigel. CLOUDBURST IN ARIZONA. Six Persons Dead and Four Others Missing at Benson. BENSON, A. T., Oct. 3.—Part of the town was washed away and six persons drowned in a flood from a cloudburst in the Whetstone mountains, twelve miles southwest of town. The dead, whose bodies have been recovered, are: William Seak, a barber, his wife and two children, and Oscar Ashburn, a cattleman. Four more persons are missing. It is expected, that great loss of life and destruction of property will be reported from along the San Pedro river. WILL WAIT FOR ELECTION. If McKinley Wins the Leadville Miners Will Return to Work at 82-50. LEADVILLE, Colo., Oct. 3.—As a result from the miners' meeting last night, the majority have decided to remain quiescent until after the election. If McKinley is elected the present intention is to abandon the strike. If Bryan is elected the hope is that the price of silver will advance and the management will at once concede all demands of the union. New Rush of a Thief. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 3.—A dapper-looking young fellow, who gives the name of A. B. Gorman, and who is believed to be an all-around crook, was locked up yesterday on a charge of larceny. He had a new dodge, which he worked to a successful termination. His scheme was to go into dentist's offices and steal the purses which women leave on the tables while they were in the chair. He dropped into Dr. Newall's office and stole Mrs. H. Ozenberger's purse with $33. and later in Dr. Kronkite's, where he is alleged to have made away with Mrs. Mary Evans' purse. He visited a half dozen other establishments and made hauls, it is said. He is thought to have worked the same game in Atchison. Fusion Arrangement in Texas. DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 3.—From authentic sources it is learned that the details of fusion between the Republicans and Populists are complete. The Republicans will vote the Populist state and county tickets, the Populists will support most of the McKinley electors and the parties dividing the congressional districts, giving three to the Republicans. A DRUNKARD'S CRIME. Fatally Injures a 17-Year-Old Girl and Kills Himself With a Razor.

HOLGATE, Ohio, Oct. 3.—A terrible double tragedy occurred last night two miles south of this place in the home of Mrs. J. P. Ricker, a widow. The family consisted of the widow and two children, her daughter, Annie, 11 years old, and a son. Another inmate of the home for some time past had been a boarder, Nathan E. Spellman. The latter came home in a beastly state of intoxication and was reprimanded by Mrs. Ricker. Spellman, while the son was at school and Mrs. Ricker was out attending to the stock, went into the house, and found the daughter ironing. What followed can only be surmised. Anna Ricker was attacked and her skull crushed. Spellman then undertook to destroy his own life by hanging. This attempt being a failure, he resorted to a method more successful. Lying on his back across a bed, his head hanging to it almost touched the floor, he drew a razor across his throat, severing the jugular vein. Anna Ricker, at last accounts, was alive, but unconscious, and there is no possible hope of her recovery. Spellman is dead. CANNON IN THE AIR. New Feat Brings Death to a Venture—some Aeronaut. PAOLA, Kan., Oct. 3.—At the Miami county fair here yesterday, George Anderson, the aeronaut, who was shot from a cannon suspended from a balloon, missed the parachute and was killed in the 1,500 foot fall. WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The lieutenants of the eight police precincts each reported yesterday the estimated total damage in his precinct from Tuesday night's storm. Their totals aggregate $483,600. The unroofing of so many houses caused a brisk demand for roofing tin and sent the price up. The only loss of life in the city was occasioned by the falling of the Albert building on Pennsylvania avenue, from the ruins of which the body of James Fitzgerald, employed at the navy yards, was taken. No Meeting for Thurston. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—The national Republican committee assigned Senator John M.
