TRIED MANY REMEDIES.

Paine's Celery Compound Was the Only One That Succeeded.

The essential difference between Paine's celery compound and the bewildering number of sarsaparillas and nervines that its success has brought into existence is that Paine's celery compound fortifies just the appropriate nutriment to the exhausted nerves, and securely builds up the system against disease, while the unscientific remedies confuse and add to the derangement of the organs.

Paine's celery compound not only relieves, but effectively and permanently cures.

The most permanent and direct cure for debility, nervous weakness, languor, and a "run-down" condition, is the strong, reliable Paine's celery compound. The rasping, irritating effect of a badly nourished nervous system upon all the organs of the body ceases when the medicine is used.

Paine's celery compound is the most advanced brain and nerve-strengthening and restorer known to medical science.

The tired, worn-out sufferer who is not advancing toward health, is falling back. There is no standstill in bad health. One can endure a headache or a backache once; one can endure it twice, but the repeated sick headache and the constant pain in the back and in the region of the heart must be got rid of. For the permanent and positive cure of these unhealthy states of the body as evinced by repeated attacks of rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, or kidney trouble, there is nothing to be compared for a moment with the great discovery of Prof. Edwin E. Phelps, M. D., L. D., of Dartmouth medical school—Paine's celery compound.

If you are out of health or despondent because of repeated trials of other remedies, take a fresh start. The bracing weather is in your favor.

Here is the experience—like that of hundreds of others—of Mrs. Lydia M. Hayden, of Marion, Ind.:

"Before commencing the use of Paine's celery compound I was treated by many doctors, and tried many remedies, but did not get any better. I seemed to be all broken down. I was tired all the time, and my constitution seemed to be giving out. I weighed only 115 pounds last fall when I commenced using Paine's celery compound. In less than two months I weighed 124 pounds, an unusual weight for me. I have had better health ever since, and have felt better this summer than I have for years.

"My little daughter was away from home on a visit, and came home looking as if she had had a hard sickness. I went right away and got her a bottle of Paine's celery compound, and she has had better health since than she ever had in her life, eats heartily and is growing fat."

There is no woman, who, in justice to herself, can fail to take Paine's celery compound under similar circumstances.

WASHINGTON NOTES

The congressional mill resumed operations at noon today, but if the other mills which have lately started their machinery do not do more to bring about good times than this session of congress is likely from any present indications to do, we shall not have good times for some time to come. President Cleveland's message is interesting enough in its way, and if he had a party behind him able to control legislation, some of his recommendations might have attracted wide attention, but as he is virtually playing a lone hand very little interest is expressed in the message with its seventeen thousand words. One senator jeeringly remarked of it: "Cleveland didn't write that message for the fifty-fourth congress, but for posterity and history; perhaps they will give his ideas the attention that congress denies them, but I have my doubts." If the trend were to increase the length of the President's messages to congress is kept up, it will soon be in order to do away with having them read in the senate and house. Many think it already in order. The senators and representatives all have printed copies of the message, placed in their hands before the reading is begun, so that the reading is nothing more than a perfunctory formality at best.

Speaker Reed may be worrying because he isn't in Maj. McKinley's place, but if he is he is hiding it well, for he never appeared to be in a better humor with himself and everybody else than he did today when he called the house to order. And it is not so certain after all that his prospects are not more enviable than those of the president elect. He will be speaker of the next house, and it will not affect his political future should the announced period of prosperity fail to materialize, while Mr. McKinley's political future depends upon the ability of his administration to make good the glowing promises of the campaign.

Senator Gallinger is one of the republicans who would gladly omit the proposed extra session of congress, if he could do so, but he made it very plain that he regards the extra session as certain when he said: "If I had my way, I would have the Dingley bill promptly passed, and then whether vetoed or not, would trust to circumstances to determine the necessity or propriety of an extra session of congress. The indications, however, do not warrant the belief that a serious effort will be made to pass the Dingley, and if that is the program, then I favor an early extra session for a complete and thorough revision of the tariff laws." Senator Gallinger doesn't look for any currency legislation either by this or the next congress. To put it in his own language: "It must be evident to every sane man that nothing can be done by this congress in the direction of currency legislation; and I have small expectation that the next congress will do much.

Senator Peffer was red hot over the charge that he had made a tariff bargain to help his chances for re-election and denounced it as untrue. He says his tariff views are well known in Kansas; that he favors high duties upon all articles used exclusively by the wealthy, not for protection but for revenue, and the free admission of such articles as sugar salt, lumber, coal and other necessities of the people, and a graduated income and land tax. He also added that he favored the proposal to add $1 a barrel to the tax on beer, which he thought would produce revenue enough to make up the deficit and would be felt by nobody.

Representative Baker, of N. H., now serving his second term but who was not re-elected, thinks the free coinage of gold by the government ought to be abolished, and he will introduce a bill embodying his ideas on that subject. He said: "I want to see gold purchased on government account. I do not think it right to convert it into a coin free of mintage. There is truth in the assertion that this discriminates in its favor against silver. I would have both gold and silver purchased just as the government buys copper and nickel for its minor coins."

There were more vacant seats in the house than in the senate at the opening session of congress, but the most conspicuous absences were senators, among them being Teller of Colo., who is kept away by business, and Allison, of Iowa, who some say is really ill and others that he is merely detained at home by a bad cold. Their absence was especially noticeable not only because they are leading men on opposing sides of the financial question, but because they are usually among the promptest and most regular attendants upon the sessions of the senate.

The most conspicuous man in Washington today is Mr. Mark Hanna, chairman of the republican national committee. He is here ostensibly to arrange for the inauguration committees, etc., but it is very plain from the manner in which the republican congressmen flock around him, that they think he is also here for other purposes, and that upon the report he carries to Canton will depend cabinet portfolios and other plums.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton, Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. STATE LINE

Fine Summer weather just now. Miss Louie Bowles is one the sick list again.

The winter term of school began at the Academy this morning. Israel and Catherine Osborne are holding a protracted meeting at the Branch.

Miss Edith Dillon took the train at Guide Rock last Thursday evening for San Francisco. She will sail for Yokohama, Japan the ninth. All her friends wish her a safe voyage and a hearty welcome when she arrives.

The people of these parts are glad to see the faces of Mr. Otto Parsons and family back again. They have been in Missouri for the past two years.

Large crowds were entertained at Northbranch Saturday and Sunday night by Fanny Lister a missionary from Alaska. She is a splendid talker and told many interesting things of the ways and customs of the people who inhabit that country. She also had many specimens brought from there.

A tired stomach is very much like a sprained ankle. If you suffer from any of the symptoms of dyspepsia, your stomach is tired. It needs a crutch. We must relieve it of all work for a time, or until it is restored to its natural strength. To do this successfully, we must use food which is already digested outside of the body, and which will aid the digestion of other foods that may be taken with it. Such a product is the Shaker Digestive Cordial. The Shakers have utilized the digestive principles present in plants for the manufacture of this article, and its success has been truly phenomenal. You can try it for the nominal sum of 10 cents, as sample bottles are sold by all druggists at this price.

LAXOL is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

MERIT MAKES IT FAMOUS

The Only Remedy in the World, Except a Surgical Operation, that Will Certainly Cure Any Form of Piles.

The study of physicians, the experiments of chemists, the loudly advertised pretensions of quacks, have been for years expended in one direction; to find a pile cure that would cure.

The results have been a number of harmless and in most cases useless ointments, suppositories and even internal remedies, which the public have weighed in the balance of experience and found wanting; nearly all of them gave some relief, but nothing approaching a radical cure resulted from these preparations.

The remedy required is one which will immediately stop the pain so severe in many cases of piles, and then by contracting the small blood vessels (capillaries) to their normal size, produces a radical cure by reducing and finally absorbing the tumors and healing the inflamed, raw mucous surfaces.

Until two years ago, no such remedy had been produced, but at that time a suppository was placed upon the market, which has since proven itself to be the long sought permanent cure for this common and distressing trouble; it has rapidly become famous throughout the United States and Canada, and is now sold by nearly all druggists under the name of the Pyramid Pile Cure.

It is now the best known, because its merit and safety have advertised it wherever used. It has been advertised by word of mouth, from one sufferer to another; people who have tried everything else, even submitting to painful and dangerous surgical operations without avail have finally found that piles may be cured without pain and without expense, practically, as the Pyramid Pile Cure is sold for the nominal price of 50 cents and $1 per package.

The Pyramid instantly stops all pain and at the same time contains no cocaine, morphine or narcotics; the acids and healing properties contained in the remedy speedily remove, cause a healthful, natural contraction and absorption of the tumors; it will cure any form of rectal trouble except cancer and advanced fistula, which, by the way, nearly always result from neglecting proper and timely treatment for piles.

As above stated, can furnish you with the Pyramid Pile Cure at 50 cents for ordinary size or $1 for large package.

SCHOOL NOTES

The 7th room has No. 6 this week. The juniors took up American literature last Monday.

The seniors have completed the German grammar and taken up the reader. Little Phil Sherwood came up with his aunt Irene on Wednesday to see what they do up there anyway.

Preceptor—What is a substantive clause?
Senior—That which denotes substance.

Mr. Darby, pastor of the M. E. Church visited the 6th and 7th room Monday morning and conducted the devotional exercises.

The classes are reviving as vacation is approaching and inevitable examinations. From now on there will be lots of books go home at night.

The Casar class have been writing up the chapter after each recitation. When they completed the first book on Wednesday professor collected the tablets to examine them.

We are glad to note that Elmer Schaffnit, one of our old comrades, is able to be on the street again, after a long and painful illness, and although he has not yet enrolled we hope to see him in school soon again.

H. C. Richmond the urban editor of the Nation was a pleasant caller in the high room Monday morning. We about half suspect that more than one "form" of educational matter attracts the gentleman thither.

The juniors teased to take a trip to the depot to examine a steam engine but Miss McClelland was afraid some of the girls might climb up on the round house. VENUE.
