MIRACLES IN MEDICINE.

The Wonderful Progress Made Within the Past Few Years.

Diseases That Our Mothers Thought Incurable Now Cured By Paine's Celery Compound.

It is difficult, almost impossible, to overestimate the importance of recent advances in medicine and surgery. In surgery there is the application of the X-ray in determining the location of fractures.

In medicine there is the serum-treatment for germ diseases, and more important still, the extended use of Paine's celery compound in the treatment of the many diseases that arise from a faulty or impaired nervous system.

This class of ailments causes more suffering and earlier deaths than all others, and that is why so much public prominence was at once given to Paine's celery compound when its discovery was announced by Prof. Phelps of Dartmouth college.

The rapid and sure way that Paine's celery compound cures neuralgia, rheumatism and nervous debility is marvelous even in the eyes of this wonder-working quarter of the century.

Ancient miracles were contrary to laws, whereas the remarkable power of Paine's celery compound to make people well, comes from a better understanding of the natural causes of disease.

That wonderful set of nerves known as the "sympathetic nervous system," that knits every part of the body together and harmonizes all, is understood today as never before. Many persons are not aware that any such organs exist. They do not know that nothing goes on in any part of the body that every other part does not instantly "know of." The closeness of this sympathy is manifestly shown in the head-aches, indigestion, flatulency, nervousness, and every case of sleeplessness, nervousness and dyspepsia is a "sympathetic trouble" by brain, nerves or stomach, induced by the lowering of the general health.

People who think to get rid of these troubles by some medicine that disregards the general health of the body are on the wrong track. In getting such diseases as neuralgia and rheumatism out of the system Paine's celery compound proceeds at once to restore a normal appetite and regulate the nerves, as the foundation for building up the health and vigor.

It regulates the bowels without delay, and sees to it that poisonous humors that are bursting through the skin, in what are, for purposes of classifying, called skin diseases, are given a ready outlet. On this basis of purified blood and regulated nerves the permanent cure of every form of blood diseases, such as eczema, salt rheum, bad complexion, is now assured by this really wonderful remedy.

If the reader of this is not in perfect health let him simply try a first bottle of Paine's celery compound and carefully note the results.

From Nevada, Missouri.

The following letter of date of January 3, 1897, will interest our many readers who were neighbors and acquaintances of the writer while he lived in Webster county:

EDITOR CHIEF:—Another year having expired of my subscription to the RED CLOUD CHIEF and as I wish to continue my relation with the paper for another year, you will please find enclosed a postoffice money order for one dollar for the year 1897. Thinking perhaps you would like to know how year friend John Williamson is getting along in Missouri, I will say to you and all my friends in Red Cloud and throughout Webster county, that I have been gone from Webster county now two years but it seems to me the time has been twenty years. I am well pleased with my condition, but if I had my farm or any other farm in Webster county, I would not go to Missouri. I believe I would rather live and die in Webster county, Nebraska, than in Missouri. You may think that I have changed my mind in the last years; it is not that I dislike the Missouri country or dislike the people, oh no! I like the Missouri country very well, but I like Nebraska better because it is healthier and there is not so much mud. In regard to raising a crop of corn or any other vegetation, I can raise them just as well in Nebraska as in Missouri. We raise vegetables in Missouri but they will not keep long as the vegetation will rot quicker in Missouri than in Nebraska. I feel that Red Cloud and Webster county is my native home of twenty years standing. There is quite a good number of Webster county people in this, Vernon county, Missouri, and all think the same as I do. The old saying is "if you have bread don't look for cake." Do not neglect to renew my subscription to the great Red Cloud Chief. I remain,

Respectfully your friend,
JOHN WILLIAMSON.

OBITUARY.

The death angel has during the past few days invaded our midst and taken another precious little one from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sapp, this time little Cuma aged 2 years, 9 months and 9 days. The last remaining child of her parents was called to that beautiful world on high to join her little sister Enlah. Their separation was of only a few days. They are now singing the songs of angels in heaven while their home is vacant and lonely without them but we know that they are safe in that better land. The heart-broken parents have the sympathy of their many friends in this their time of greatest sorrow.

We had two little treasures once
That were our joy and pride,
We loved them, oh! perhaps too well
For soon they slept and died.
All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely are our hearts today
For the ones we loved so dearly
Have forever passed away.
Precious darlings they have left us
Left us, yes for evermore,
But we hope to meet our dear ones
On that bright and happy shore.
So we'll trust them with the Saviour
In his gentle loving care,
And when our life is ended
We hope to meet each other there.

A FRIEND.

Poisons engendered by food fermenting in a dyspeptic stomach are the direct cause of rheumatism, gout, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, asthma, pneumonia and many nervous ailments.

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. It is in itself a food and has power to digest other food taken with it. Thus it rests the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia. It acts promptly and fresh strength and increase of weight soon follows. The first dose, taken immediately after eating, abates the pain and distress so dreaded by dyspeptics. Trial bottles—enough to prove its merits—10 cents.

GRANDIS, Mo., July 5, 1896.

Dr. M. M. FENNER, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—I was run down, tired out, bilious, had no appetite, poor sleep, dizzy, dull, and had constant headaches. The first relief I got was from your Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic. One bottle brought a complete cure. I was thus able to recommend it, and I have since sold a great deal. The last bottle I sold cured a woman of palpitation of the heart and chronic inflammation of neck of bladder. She had "mothering spells" from her heart and had to get up many times of a night. The one bottle cured her completely of the disease. I never knew this medicine to fail wherever it was used.
