KENTUCKY BOODLERS

HUNTER AND CONGRESS-MAN WILSON ACCUSED.

The Grand Jury Finds Indictments Against the Republican Caucus Nominee for Senstor-Five Thousand Each Offered for Four Democratic Votes.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 11.—Indict-ments charging bribery and conspiracy to bribe have been prepared by the Franklin county grand jury against three of the most noted Republicans in the state, and true bills may also be returned against ex-Congressman W. Godfrey Hunter of the Third district, Republican nominee for the United States Senate; Congressman J. H. Wilson of the Seventh district, one of Dr. Hunter's closest advisers, and E. T. Franks, one of the leading Republican politicians of the Second district.

The indictments were prepared upon the testimoney of Captain Noel Gaines, Captain Thomas Tanner, his brother-in-law, and Fred Gordon, all of this city.

The charges are indignantly denied by Dr. Hunter, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Franks all of whom say they will prosecute for criminal libel all who have testified before the grand jury. They all claim that it is the last desperate effort of the Blackburn Democrate to prevent Dr. Hunter's election.

The following authorized interview was given out this morning by Captain Thomas Tanner, one of the accusing witnesses: "I was first called to the Capitol hotel on April 1, and took Dr. Hunter to Captain Gaines's house. there heard the conversation which followed between Dr. Hunter and Gaines. I was in an adjoining room. My principal connection with the case was through Wilson and Franks. On various occasions I was called to consult with them and urged to take a hand in buying votes. They insisted they must have three or four Demogratic votes, and singled out Representatives Gossoma, Clarke, Johns and Lykens, whom they said we (Gaines and myself) must get, although any Democratic votes would be acceptable. I was called to the Capital hotel Monday night and had a conference with Wilson in room 21. Wilson had a big roll of bills-he said there were $5,000 in the package, and from all appearances there were. There were four such packages, or $20,000, and he said this would be paid for four votes for Dr. Hunter. He showed me the money as an evidence of good faith. He seemed to be the man who handled all the money. I had several conferences with Franks in the same room. I was last called there Thursday morning, when they seemed to think that some members of the legislature had offered to succumb for $10,000, but they thought this too high. Franks was in the plan and talked about buying votes, but he never directly offered me money with which to buy them."

Captain Gaines' statement directly charges Hunter with offering him $15,000 with which to secure three Democratic votes, and relates with ecific particulars all the details of the attempted bribery.

The greatest excitement prevailed during the first ballot for United States senator at noon. The call of the roll showed no quorum present, but a vote was taken which gave Hunter 57 and Boyle 1. Sixty answered to their names.

A motion to adjourn brought out the absentees and the vote stood 58 to 58, but President Worthington voted to continue balloting and the second ballot was ordered. In this there was in the Arbuckle-Sugar Trust Fight. TOLEDO, Ohio, April !1.-In the Arbuckle-Woolson injunction suit the circuit court overruled plaintiff's motion for a new trial and granted fifty days in which to file a bill of exceptions. The common pleas court sometime since dissolved the injunction to restrain defense from cutting prices of coffee. The court reviewed the facts and found that, in all probability, the American Sugar Refining company, or sugar trust, bought the stock of the Woolson company for the purpose of retaliating against the Arbuckles for attempting to enter the sugar business. The court also finds sugar business. The court also finds that the company is being run in the interest of the sugar trust, and not for the benefit of the Woolson company; that the declines in coffee were made for the purpose of forcing losses on Arbuckle Bros. and driving them out of the sugar business. But the court holds that the plaintiffs are not prospecting the plaintiffs are not prosecuting the case in good faith for the interest of the Woolson Spice company, but to protect their greater interest as Arbuckle Bros., coffee roasters, and, therefore, though an ordinary stockholder might have relief, the plaintiff cannot.

Indiana's Ex-Senator Succumbs Suddenly-Twenty Years a Senator.

Washington, April 11. — Daniel Woolsey Voorhees, United States senator from Indiana for twenty years prior to March 4 last, died of rheumatism of the heart at 5 o'clock this morning at his home here.

Mr. Voorhees had been in poor health for several years and for over two years had taken little part in the proceedings of the Senate. He had been a constant sufferer from rheumatism of the heart and his friends had come to expect that they might hear of his death suddenly. The last reports of him, however, were favorable, and his death, while not entirely unexpected, was a shock.

Mr. Voorhees' Long Record.

Mr. Voorhees was 70 years of age last September and prior to his retirement from public life on March 4 last, had been for many years one of the most picturesque figures in the Senate. He was born in Liberty township, Buffalo county, Ohio, and in his early infancy was carried by his parents to their pioneer home in the Wabash valley of Indiana. In 1849 he graduated from the Indiana Asbury (now Depauw) university, and after studying law began its practice in 1851. His first public office was entered upon in 1858, when he was appointed United States district attorney of Indiana. In 1861 he entered Congress and served in the House of the Thirtyseventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses He was defeated for re-election to the Forty-third by reason of the nomination of Horace Greeley by the Democrats for President. He was appointed United States Senator to succeed Oliver P. Morton, and took his seat November 12, 1877. He was assigned to the committee on finance and remained a member of that committee until he retired Marc 1878 he beat ex-President Benjamin Harrison for the Senate, having made the campaign on the free silver issue purely. In 1885 he was re-elected over ex-Governor Porter and in 1891 over ex-Governor A. P. Hovey. March 4 he was succeeded by Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican. During the last campaign, for the first time since the war, he failed to take a leading part in the work in Indiana, and it was then known, despite strenuous denials, that he was in precarious health. One of the incidents of Mr. Voorhees Senatorial career was his dispute with Senator Ingalls. Mr. Ingalls was speaking, when Mr. Voorhees entered the Senate chamber and interrupted the Kansan. This indirectly caused Mr. Ingalls to attack him in the bitterest language, recalling his war record in detail. The thorough manner in which the Kansan treated the story of Mr. Voorhees' life caused many to think that he had prepared himself for such an occasion and gladly taken advantage of the opportunity.

Thousands of Men are Guarding Levees

At Work Day and Night.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 11.-Everywhere the river is rising and the flood is bearing harder on the levees. Twenty thousand men are at work strengthening the barriers. Any tiny rivulet trickling through the broad embankments is cause for a signal of alarm, and rapidly a relief train responds to the call, hurriedly a lumber bulwark is built and earth-filled sacks packed in behind. So far each effort is met with success, but the water is growing greater in volume and might necessary for its adoption. ier in force and the alarms coming with more frequency and it is doubtful lacked 17,754 votes of receiving a mair the system can prevail against the jority of the total vote cast at the elecstrain which has just begun and will continue for at least a week.

The flood is already greater than ever known before, but each day's record will be broken for at least a week and the levees are being built higher ing the bulwarks and Mayor Flower has ordered all the city forces to be in readiness to aid the levee board in case of emergency.

Millions Lost on Cotton.

Sr. Louis, Mo., April 11.-The Post-Dispatch to-day, in a leading article on the flood throughout the cotton belt, says: "St. Louis factors say enormous damage has been done to cotton planting interests in the South as a result of the flood in Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana March 4, the "tall sycamore of the and a portion of Southeastern Mis-Wabash," as he had been nicknamed souri. It is estimated on a condated territory along the Mississippi river produces an annual average of 1,500,000 bales of the blakes. servative basis that the inunocrat of the Senate finance committee dated territory along the Mississippi cotton. From present indications the average output will be materially decreased by the ravages of the waters; in fact, in many localities, it is doubtful if any crop at all will be raised, while in others will be a sickly yield. A million and a half bales of cotton, even at the ordinary price, aggregates probably $50,000,000, and a conservative estimate places the damage to cotton alone at about this figure, not to take into consideration other losses ineident to the flood."

University of Illinois Deeply Involved in the Chicago Bank Failure.

CHICAGO, April 11.-C. E. Churchill, cashier of the suspended Globe Savings bank, for whose arrest a warrant on a charge of embezzlement was sworn out yesterday, surrendered himself to-day and furnished bonde for his appearance. Vice President Averill surrendered himself and was immediately released on bonds. President Spalding is not in the city, but in a letter written to a friend he says he will return Monday. In the meantime. officers are looking for him.

Developments have brought out the fact that a far greater amount of University of Illinois funds are involved in the suspension of the bank than has been supposed. Two years ago the state legislature appropriated $423,000, of which, according to the state laws, enough was to be drawn out monthly to meet the current expenses of the university. It appears, however, that, in consideration of 2½ per cent interest on the funds, the university trustees allowed Treasurer Spalding to withdraw the whole sum from the treasury. This is admitted by mem-bers of the board. Thus not only are $400,000 worth of school bonds missing, but $123,000 in cash is tied up, s total of $823,000.

FINDINGS OF THE RECAN-VASS COMMISSION

Legislative Recount Committee Makes IIs Report to the Joint Session-Amendment Declared Not Adopted - Tabulated Results of the Findings.

The closing scene of the recanvass of the vote for the constitutional amendment was enacted Tuesday. The joint session of the legislature declared the amendment had not received the votes tion, the necessary constitutional ma-jority. The board reported that 201,375 votes were cast for senator and 203,552 votes for representatives; that there were 97,644 votes for the amendment and 37,029 against it, and that the total vote of the state was 230,361. Taking to stand the water that is sure to the vote on senators for a basis for a come. Here in the city, despite the carefully built and solid wall around it, the engineers have advised increastotal vote of the state as reported by the commission, and the amendment lacked 17,537. According to the official vote, as returned to the state canvassing board, the amendment received 84,579, lacking nearly 31,000 of carrying. The aggregate increase for the amendment as found by the recanvassing board was 13,065.

The joint convention was called to order at 4 o'clock, with Lieutenant-Governor Harris in the chair. There were thirty-two senators and eighty-three representatives present. Lieutenant-Governor Harris stated that the convention had met pursuant to an act authorizing the recanvass of the vote on the constitutional amendment.

1,500,000 bales of the highest grade as recanvassed. The report contained the vote on senators and representatives, the vote for and against the amendment, and the total vote cast at the election.

Report of the Board.

The report was in this form:

Senator Conaway of York inquired KANSAS BOODLE STORIES. if there were any conclusions appended to the report.

Lieutenant - Governor Harris remarked that it was not in the province of the board or the legislature to arrive at conclusions.

Senator Murphy of Gage wanted to ture to investigate the charges of bribknow what was meant by the "grand total" mentioned in the report. Representative Loomis said it was the total and certain lobbyists yesterday caused taken from poll books and represented the number of persons voting at the election. Senstor Murphy suggested that the report ought to be made to correspond with the statement made by Representative Loomis; that it ought to be made more specific. Senator Conaway of York said that if it was not indelicate or out of order he would like to have the board's report on York county read to the convention. In view of the charge that the York county vote on the amendment had been doubled by frauds committed by persons unknown, this request at-tracted attention. It was granted. The vote was: For senator, 3,288; representative, 3,431; for the amendment 2,340; against the amendment, 163; total vote cast, 3,841. This gives an increase for the amendment of 1,058 over the official canvass for York county.

Senator Talbot of Lancaster moved that from the report of the recanvass-ing commission the joint convention declare the amendment not carried.

Representative Hull of Harlan arose to a point of order. He asked if it was within the province of the board or legislature to declare the result of the recanvass. He understood that the commission was appointed to submit findings and this convention was to meet to hear the report.

Representative Jenkins of Jefferson said he believed the act passed meant that the report was to be submitted to the convention for action, otherwise the bill ought not to have been prepared and the people's money expended.

Lieutenant-Governor Harris declined to pass on the point of order relating to the power of the legislature or the recanvassing board to declare the result of the recanvass, but in his remarks he wandered to the question of constitutional majority. He said it was unkind of anyone to ask him to rule on a point on which he believed the legal minds of the state were in doubt. He said even the court had ney amendment to the Senate railroad bill in the House. Representative Joseph W. Clark of Thomas county testified that Representative Smith offered him $250 to vote against the Brown maximum freight rate bill in the House. Warden Harry Landis of the penitentiary told the story on Lewelling and Representative Clem Fairchild made the insinuation about Stryker and the anonymous letters. The committee was making great progress and likely would have increased the list of sensations, but it suddenly struck a stump. Representative Clark, who had "peached" on Smith, refused to give the name of a personal friend who also had approached him on the subject of railroad legislation. The committee insisted, but Clark was firm and did not answer the question asked. "Gentlemen," he said, "it is no use for you to waste time trying to coax. I shall not answer the question." Finally the committee announced an adjournment till this morning at 9 o'clock. Meanwhile the committee will consult the attorney general in regard to its power to punish for contempt.

Money Offered to Speaker Street.

When the committee met this morning Attorney General Boyle stated that he had not yet decided as to whether the committee had power to compel Clark to testify, but that the investigation should go on and he would give a decision later.

Speaker Street was put on the stand. The important part of his testimony was that he was invited to eat oysters OFFICIAL VOTE with some friends and afterwards was invited to go to room 16 in the Veale block, where Harry Wilson, agent of the American Book company, offered him $1,000 if he would apply the twothirds rule on the vote on the text book bill. Having made this proposition, Wilson went into an adjoining room and returned with a $100 bill, 4009 2868 which he laid on his (Street's) lap, and renewed the offer. Street declined the proposition, refused to accept the $100 and left. Afterward Wilson sent him a number of notes. He made no reply until he finally wrote on the ttom of one of the notes that he uld be of no service to Mr. Wilson.

Senator Titus swore that Senator ewelling took him in a room in the ational hotel and said that there was something in it for both of them" it ey could get a substitute adopted r the original text book bill.

Afterward Doyle said that since e stories of bribery in the Senate, e men who were handling money ere afraid to use it freely.
