Then I got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle made some improvement, and when the third bottle had been taken the sore was nicely healed. A year has passed since then and there has been no return of the sore." W. E. MAGNUMSON, Arnold, Nebraska.

Geo. Hagar met with an accident Thursday evening. In trying to remove a horse from an awkward position in Story's barn, he received a kick or blow which rendered him unconscious for some time. It is hoped the result may not be serious.

One of our oldest residents passed away to the "great beyond" this week. Henry Waller, or as he was familiarly called "Uncle Henry," came to this place from England just eighteen years ago and has since lived continuously in this locality. Having resided here so long, he will be greatly missed by the whole community. His final sickness was brief, only lasting from Sunday evening to Wednesday morning when he peacefully passed away at the age of 78 years. On Thursday the funeral services were conducted at the Waller residence and cemetery by Rev. S. Deakin and attended by a large company of friends. The arrangements were efficiently carried out by Mr. Taylor of Red Cloud.

Observer.

A county office ought to be non-partisan so far as the filling of it is concerned. The men selected to fill the various positions of trust should be chosen with regard to their fitness and capacity for performing the duties for which they are elected and not because they believe in the free and unlimited cobbling of railroad passes or have an abiding faith in a single standard of sixteen ounces to one pound. People ought to vote for the best man regardless of politics, but they probably never will.—Beaver City Tribune.

All attempt upon the part of the populist and popocratic brethren to stay the tide of prosperity must fail. Nebraska's soil is yielding over 100-million dollars worth of corn alone, while the wheat, oats and other farm products demonstrate that the laws of nature are not in harmony with populism.—Beatrice Democrat.

Eczema All Her Life.

Mr. E. D. Jenkins, of Lithonia, Ga., says that his daughter, Ida, inherited a severe case of Eczema, which the usual mercury and potash remedies failed to relieve. Year by year she was treated with various medicines, external applications and internal remedies, without result. Her sufferings grew steadily worse. All the so-called blood remedies did not seem to reach the disease at all until S. S. S. was given, when an improvement was at once noticed. The medicine was continued with favorable results, and now she is cured sound and well, her skin is perfectly clear and pure and she has been saved from what threatened to blight her life forever.

ANIMAL COMEDIANS.

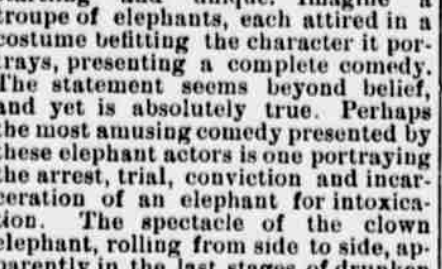

Ringling Bros. Create a Sensation with the Lockhart Elephants.

The announcement that Lockhart's famous comedy elephants have been secured by the noted Ringling Bros. for their World's greatest shows this season, has created a sensation throughout the United States. The Lockhart comedy elephants are universally acknowledged to be the most marvelously trained animal actors in the world. In Europe, where they have recently been delighting vast continental audiences, they created a veritable furore and excited more widespread interest than any arctic feature ever presented, even in the far-famed circuses of Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg. These elephant comedians distinctly depart from the old familiar order of elephant performances. They are not simply "trained animals;" they are veritable animal actors, displaying as much good sense and judgment, as great an appreciation of the humor of their several roles and as sincere a desire to please and entertain the public as any performer in the great exhibition. Their work is distinctly unconventional. They present none of the stereotyped tricks that constant repetition has familiarized with the public, but give a performance that is at once new, startling and unique. Imagine a troupe of elephants, each attired in a costume befitting the character it portrays, presenting a complete comedy. The statement seems beyond belief, and yet is absolutely true. Perhaps the most amusing comedy presented by these elephant actors is one portraying the arrest, trial, conviction and incarceration of an elephant for intoxication. The spectacle of the clown elephant, rolling from side to side, apparently in the last stages of drunken spree, is ludicrous in the extreme. In the midst of his revelry, the policeman arrives, armed cap-a-pie with a huge official helmet and jauntily twirling a club in his trunk. The offending elephant attempts to escape but the policeman is too quick for him. The officer is seized by the ear, marched away to the magistrate's office, solemnly tried and sentenced by an elephant judge sitting in his judicial dignity upon his judicial bench, and finally hurried away, a condemned prisoner, to suffer durance in the elephant jail. In addition to the several comedies presented by the Lockhart elephant comedians, these wonderful animal entertainers dance, march, perform the most difficult and intricate military maneuvers, play upon musical instruments, present complete pantomimes and betray numberless other evidences of their marvelously educated intelligence. Although they can give an entire performance, these wonderful elephant actors constitute only one of hundreds of superb features only to be seen with Ringling Bros. famous exhibition, which comes in all its magnificent completeness to Red Cloud, Thursday, September 2nd.
