A Texas editor wrote as follows: "The price of this paper is not increased by the Dingley tariff bill, but we wish to correct the misapprehension of some of our subscribers who seem to think that it is placed on the free list."

H. E. Grice, has moved his drug stock to the room formerly occupied as a Bryan headquarters, where he will be glad to greet his patrons and old friends. He will remain here until December 1st, while his new store room is being built.

How are the voters going to cast their ballots for preference for county superintendent is a question which should receive careful consideration. Mrs. Case, the republican nominee has been a resident of this county for years. Her life has been devoted to school work and that she is eminently capable for superintendent no one will attempt to deny. She has on an election to that office a number of years ago, received the highest number of votes ever received by any candidate in the existence of the county. The people will do their work well by placing her in the position again.

Chester Cox while coming to school on Thursday on his bicycle ran onto a long milk snake and his snakeship entangled itself neatly around the spokes of the hind wheel. The lad did not wait for further developments but took a header. After picking himself up he killed the snake.

Voters and candidates on the republican ticket will pay no attention to the attempts to create discussion which are being made by the "Little Abstracter J. H. B.", who wants to be deputy clerk under James Hale, "Cake Walk Wilson," our Nation "town bull," "Cap. Houchin," and one or two others. This is a nice crowd to give other people advice.

Stephen Girard said: "If I knew I should die tomorrow, I would nevertheless plant a tree today. Now old Steve used to keep this remark in pickle and interject it every now and then to prove that he had nerve and was still 'flying in the face of Providence.'" But where is he in the game with the Smith county man who, when informed by his wife that the family physician had just told her that he persisted in his mode of living he would die within six months, replied, "I'll keep right on, double the dose and die in three and fool him a trip."—Lebanon Criterion.

The voters are not going to be buncoed into voting for the populist nominee for superintendent by the self-complimentary articles written by him and printed in the Nation. The voters of this county have too much good sense to vote for a man who is practically a non-resident and elect him to an office so he may receive enough salary to enable him to live and study law. The voters want a superintendent who will attend to the duties of that office and not use the money received therefrom and the time which should be devoted thereto, to fit him for a new profession. In case of default "The Nation" will have to pay the salary of the superintendent.

The voters of Webster county will take no chances on election day when it comes to casting a vote for county treasurer, but will vote for Charley Robinson for that office. The people who have had business to transact at the treasurer's office in the past can't be fooled by the talk of the opposition. They know that in doing business with Deputy Robinson they have been fairly dealt with, and have found him not only obliging and pleasant but have noticed that he is competent as well. No better, fairer or more attentive man to his office duties can be found and the people will keep him there.

Is Being Fed on Angel Food. At a populist meeting held in the Searle school house in Stillwater precinct on the evening of October 6th, J. O. Burgess of Blue Hill made this wonderful little speech which shows that his bump of conceit is very prominent. "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen:—I am here tonight a candidate for county treasurer on the populist ticket. Little boys and little girls you sit before me to-night, if you grow up to manhood as honest as I be you will have nothing to be ashamed of. I haven't a dishonest hair in my head. We have the geneology of the Burgess' for five hundred years and they were always honest."

Rather Mixed. The foreman on one of our daily papers, by mistake, mixed up an article on the conversion of the heathen with a receipt for making tomato catsup, so it read thus: "They are accustomed to begin their work by securing heathen children and educating them. The easiest and best way to prepare them is to first wipe them with a clean towel; then place them in dripping pans and bake them until they are tender, then you will have no difficulty in rubbing them through your sieve, and save time by not being obliged to cut them in slices and cook for several hours."—Our Dumb Animals.
