The new B. & M. depot being about finished the force of carpenters and painters will soon leave. These boys during their stay here have shown themselves to be a fine set of men.
The Nation sets most everybody down as being a boodler or a thief who does not think and act as he does. He is an angel, but the wings generally credited as being supplied to these heavenly creatures are lacking.
H. E. Grice, has moved his drug stock to the room formerly occupied as a Bryan headquarters, where he will be glad to greet his patrons and old friends. He will remain here until December 1st, while his new store room is being built.

One can find more stupendous lies in an issue of the Nation than can be found in all the rest of the papers in the state. At the same ratio of space which it takes that paper to reply to several small items regarding him and the other "strictly pure" candidates on the populist ticket, it would take one full six column quarto paper without advertisements.

WANTED—A good girl at Bon Ton Bakery for kitchen work. No washing or ironing. Good wages to the right girl.—W. S. BENNE, Prop.

Pap Barkley never did think much of water and he don't think as much of it as he did since it filled up the cellar he was digging for the new building.

It is not necessary to state to our Webster county readers that we have had a rain but for the benefit of our eastern readers we will say that it still rains in Nebraska, 34 inches being the amount of our recent downpour.

A fakir on the street on Monday afternoon did up quite a number of the boys for their loose change. Quite a number of the victims were those who should have known better than to buck a man at his own game. The boys are carrying around as souvenirs some Colorado No. 2 pens which cost them a dollar a box containing three pens.

While the powers that be in the street fixing line are indulging in fancy grades and large box culverts on residence streets, it might not be a bad idea to do a little fixing up of the mud hole in the alley between Jake Nustein's cigar store and Polnick's liquor house. Someone without much thought for pedestrians lumped off a load of loose dirt on the crosswalk at that place and now the mud hole is worse than ever.

R. C. Best, who was supervisor during the time of township organization when we had seventeen members, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Best is a populist, but is honest in his statement and made the remark that Charley Robinson had kept the books and performed his duties in the treasurer's office as good shape as any one who ever was there or could be put there.

The populist candidates, or those most interested, have started the story that Charley Robinson, candidate on the republican ticket is a relative of J. S. White, and wish to make the impression that a succession of relatives are to be kept in the treasurer's office. The tale like seventeen hundred others told by this "strictly pure" crowd is a canard pure and simple.

These letters will be sent to the dead letter office Nov. 5th, if not called for before. When calling for above please say advertised.—F. W. COWDEN, P. M.

What possible excuse is there for any "free silver republican" voting the fusion county ticket this fall? The free silver issue is not involved in county politics this year and every voter who is any kind of a republican whatever will vote the republican ticket. The man who calls himself a "free silver republican" this year and supports the anything-to-beat-the-republican ticket is masquerading for political effect and has no right to the name republican no matter what sort of a prefix is attached to it.—Beaver Valley Tribune.

Wm. V. Price of Lincoln held forth in a populist meeting at the opera house Tuesday evening. The audience composed of men, women and children occupied 56 chairs. In the morning the gentleman asked the question, "what was the matter with the town that people did not take more interest and turn out." He might have been non-committed by an answer to the effect that he was talking for the wrong side and also that people have become tired of listening to any "old kind" of politician.

MORANVILLE—ROTHROCK.

It is with a great deal of pleasure we announce the marriage of Dr. J. W. Moranville to Miss Josephine Rothrock, which happy event was solemnized at Beatrice on Wednesday afternoon last. The newly married couple came through this city on the evening train at 8:30 p. m., on their way to the Yosemite valley, California, and expect to remain on the trip from two to three weeks. The announcement was a genuine surprise to most of the friends of the contracting parties. The bride, Miss Rothrock is the daughter of J. S. Rothrock of Inavale, and lived here during her early childhood and later with relatives at Reynolds, this state. She has also resided a greater part of the time for the past two or three years in this city where she is well and favorably known and has made many friends. The groom, Mr. J. W. Moranville, is an old resident of this county, where by strict attention to business he has secured for himself a splendid business, and is classed as one of our most able and successful practitioners. THE CHIEF along with a host of friends extends congratulations and best wishes.

Our Postmaster Putman had business in Hastings this week.
We are all rejoicing over the rain of last Saturday and Sunday.
Miss Mary Latta came home sick from Franklin on Wednesday.
Messrs. Colburn and Spracher shipped a car load of fat hogs on Monday.
Rev. Deakin attended the Republican Valley Association at Franklin last week.

Our farmers have a large acreage of wheat in this fall and the prospects for another good crop was never better.

Miss Kellogg of Red Cloud has been appointed to succeed Miss McCall as teacher in the upper room of our school.

The Sunday school convention held here last week was a decided success. The whole county was represented and the interest in the Sunday school work was shown to be steadily growing.

Thursday night the populist candidates on the county ticket addressed a meeting at the school house. The speeches were characterized by most exemplary moderation. The republican nominee for sheriff was in the audience and received an invitation to speak but politely declined as he was not on that trail.

Sunday was a very quiet day in town owing to the rain.
Henry Kenney went on a visit to Kansas this week.
The familiar face of A. D. Gilbert is seen on our streets again.
