Numerous and ridiculous were the mistakes made by voters at the late election, says the Papillon Times, but Papillon precinct furnishes the best one of them all. A voter made no X whatever on his ballot, but under the head of justice of the peace he wrote in the names of two of his friends and neglected to put an X after them, thus losing his vote entirely.

The Council Bluffs (Ia.) Nonpariel has the following to say regarding the Imperial Quartet, which will appear at the Opera House next Monday evening, November 6th: "The concert given by the Imperial Male Quartet of Chicago at the I. O. O. F. temple last night was very largely attended and proved a rare musical treat. The quartet, supported by Mrs. Mabel Chilcote-Cowan, accompanist, and Albert Wilson Tout, trombone soloist, presented an excellent program which was greatly enjoyed by those present."

The parties who are here to organize a singing school and in the future give a concert, held forth at the Methodist church last evening but received little encouragement. This was not because our people are not musically inclined but owing to the fact that a class has already been organized in the city.

If some of the musical organizations who complain because of lack of enthusiasm in the audience, would take a night off, listen to the Imperial Quartet and their superb company, get a few "pointers" and then "go and do likewise" there would arise a chorus of thanksgivings that might be heard from Oshkosh to Kalamazoo. At the opera house, Monday evening, November 6th.
Don't use bill heads or statements in which you have to write your own name. Get them printed in an up-to-date style. There is nothing which will make your customers think you are of the disposition to be pennywise so much as this. If you are stingy in one way what reason is there to believe that you won't be in other ways. Get your printing done right at the CHIEF office.

Did you ever reflect, said a young man, that there are more nice young ladies in Hastings than in any other city of its size in the country? Well, it is so, and you sit here a half hour and I will convince you. Now you just watch the first group that passes this way and see if I am not right. Just then three colored damsels floated around the corner and the man to whom this talk was addressed said, "I agree with you."—Hastings Democrat.

It is said of a woman who freely used her tongue to the scandal of others, that she made a confession to the priest of what she had done. He gave her a ripe thistle top, and told her to go and scatter the seeds one by one. She obeyed and then returned to her confessions. To her amazement he bade her go back and gather the scattered seed, and when she objected, that it would be impossible, he replied that it would be still more difficult to gather up and destroy all the evil reports she had circulated about others. There is a moral in this for the scandal monger.—Ex.

To satisfy a crowd of morbidly curious people surrounding the yard one old one ascended to the top of the five board fence ladder fashion, walked the top board partly round the yard, turned a back somersault to the ground with the gracefulness of a cat and at once won a place in the hearts of the sports assembled.—Lawrence Locomotive.

Another Scheme Finds Suckers. Sunday was the winding up in this vicinity of a very successful business enjoyed by women who registered at the Burr hotel as B. Wartelsky and I. Levy. After learning the name of our local jeweler, R. E. Piteher, they made out a copy of an order for $700 worth of jewelry. With this they visited a large number of farmers, principally north of Alma, and represented to them that they were closing out some jewelry from a store that recently failed in Holdrege, representing the goods to be first class, and as conclusive evidence would site their victims to the copy of an order for these goods, amounting to over $700 from the local jeweler. The prices on this order were made to correspond with the prices asked the farmers for the same goods, and as a result they sold several hundred dollars worth of absolutely worthless stuff. One farmer not far from Alma was duped for $30, and Mr. Piteher has been receiving an unusual number of friendly calls his week, from those who were taken in, inquiring the value of their purchases. It is a smooth gag and local papers everywhere should post their readers on the scheme. So far as the Record is concerned it is absolutely new to us, and we haven't noticed a line in print about it having been worked in other parts of the state.—Alma Record.

Modern Treatment of Consumption
The latest work on the treatment of diseases, written by forty eminent American physicians, says: "Cod-liver oil has done more for the consumptive than all other remedies put together." It also says: "The hypophosphites of lime and soda are regarded by many English observers as specifics for consumption."
Scott's Emulsion
contains the best cod-liver oil in a partially digested form, combined with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. This remedy, a standard for a quarter of a century, is in exact accord with the latest views of the medical profession. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

It is true," said a farmer friend, whose voice is like the voice of the bull-bul, singing to the rose in the gardens of the Alhambra "it is true as daylight that the country is over-run with rats. The oldest inhabitants never saw them so numerous in Nebraska before. Every old building has a colony under its sills, and barns and corn cribs are swarming with them. The amount of damage they will do this winter in the way of eating grain will be large. There is but little use in fighting them with cats and traps. It would take a whole army of cats to accomplish anything. I saw a similar rat epidemic in the east a good many years ago. For a couple of years the rats were so thick that they were a plague and the people fought to kill them off in vain. And then finally they disappeared as mysteriously and suddenly as they came, and the neighborhood was free from them for years after. I believe that the rats now here will stay in spite of all we can do, until they are good and ready to go; and when they are ready they will just slide out for pastures new."

We are informed that a set of swindlers are operating in this state. Their pretended business is that of establishing agencies for selling feed mills or grinders to farmers. The farmer solicited by these sleek fellows as their agent is one who never reads an agricultural paper, and one who is easily led to believe that a small fortune awaits him through the sale of the mills. A few days after signing the supposed contract this guileless farmer is confronted with a note having his signature attached and there is nothing better to be done than to pay it; and so the farmer is out at one fell swoop a sufficient sum of money to keep himself and family supplied with the right kind of reading matter for years. There is nothing pays a better premium on the investment than the habit of reading to a moderate extent and keeping one's eyes open.—Nebraska Farmer.

A Pleasant Thanksgiving. On Thanksgiving Day a gathering of about fifty persons met at the school house in Dist. No. 34. Each brought with him a basket well filled with edibles and suited for the time. Mr. Maynard, director, furnished the turkey for the crowd. After dinner a fine program was rendered by the school, and the teacher, Miss C. M. Hummel, read "The Day in History," which was appreciated by all. Then came some remarks by the honorable school board of that district and short talks by friends of the school, after which the teacher treated the assembly. After a short social chat all retired to their several homes feeling much benefitted by spending Thanksgiving in so fine a crowd.
Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. Sold by H. E. Grice.

MANY THINK!
when the Creator said to woman, "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a curse was pronounced against the human race, but the joy felt by every Mother when she first presses to her heart her babe, proves the contrary. Danger and suffering lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother, and should be avoided, that she may reach the hour when the hope of her heart is to be realized, in full vigor and strength.
MOTHER'S FRIEND
so relaxes the system and assists Nature, that the necessary change takes place without Nausea, Headache, Nervous or Gloomy Foreboding of danger, and the trying hour is robbed of its pain and suffering, as so many happy mothers have experienced. Nothing but "Mother's Friend" does this. Don't be deceived or persuaded to use anything else.
"Mother's Friend" is the greatest remedy ever put on the market, and all our customers praise it highly.—W. H. King & Co., Whitewright, Tex.
Of druggists at $1.00, or sent by express on receipt of price. Write for book containing valuable information for all Mothers, mailed free. The Bradford Register Co., Atlanta, Ga.
