 When you cannot sleep for coughing take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always gives prompt relief. It is most excellent for colds, too, as it aids expectoration, relieves the lungs and prevents a tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by H. E. Gries.
 When a new man comes to town and enters into business or a professional vocation there is always a crowd who immediately flatter him and by so doing succeed in getting a good sized bill placed on the books and the new man wakes up some fine morning to find that the bill is not worth the paper it is written on.
 List of letters remaining uncalled for at the postoffice at Red Cloud, Nebraska, for the week ending Jan. 27th, 1897.
 Miss Valley Garlinger.
 These letters will be sent to the dead letter office Feb. 11th, if not called for before. When calling for above please say advertised.—F. W. COWDEN, P. M.
 William Clemmons of Hastings took possession of the eating house here the last of the week and is already fitted up in nice shape and doing business. He has a reputation of being a first class hotel man. S. C. Dilley, the former landlord has removed his goods to Hastings where he will store them for the present. He has not decided what he may do in the future but will perhaps engage in the hotel business elsewhere.
 The lady at the opera house the other night, who tapped her husband on the shoulder and said, "Love, it is growing late, I think we had better go home," is the same one who after getting home shook the rolling pin under his nose and said, "You infamous old snagged tooth scoundrel, if you ever encore such a mean, hateful, indecent, calico-faced, mackerel-eyed old thing as your eyes were riveted on tonight, again, I'll bust your cocoon wide open for you. See!"

 Since the new depot has been opened up here the last week in October, 1897, about three months, the B. & M. have had just five different night operators. It is to be hoped that the time will come when they can keep an operator here long enough for the people to find out what his name is.
 The marriage of Mr. Archie A. Boren and Mrs. Emma Dodge was solemnized by the Rev. James G. Day of the M. E. church at the home of the bride's parents on last Thursday. A number of relatives of the contracting parties were present to witness the happy event. The Chief extends best wishes.
 An alarm of fire was turned in Thursday morning about eleven o'clock, fire having been discovered in the residence of Miss Nora Young in the east part of the city. The fire originated from a defective flue in the kitchen. The house was occupied by Geo. Rickards and family. The damage was small and fully covered by insurance.
 The Industrial social held at the Odd Fellows hall by the ladies of the Christian church was fairly well patronized notwithstanding other counter attractions. In the button sewing event of the evening Rev. Hussong, carried off the prize, a silver handled pearl letter opener, by sewing on nineteen buttons and Jess Bean received a paper doll as booby prize in this contest. In the nail driving contest Miss Baker received a celluloid bound book of poems having driven 102 four penny nails into a block of wood in five minutes. Mrs. F. S. Henderson received the booby prize, a Chinese peanut doll.

A Colorado Springs special to the Rocky Mountain News is the author of a story to the effect that a Red Cloud man who operated a sawmill on the Cheyenne Mountain road near Camp Seward was placed under arrest by the sheriff for arson. The building burned was a residence occupied by the accused and it was while out there on business connected with the insurance that the accused was arrested, the insurance people believing the building was set on fire. Another Red Cloud man is mixed up in the deal and claims a considerable loss. We do not know anything in regard to the merits of the case; we do know that at one time this young man had the respect of the citizens of this city and filled positions of trust and honor. We believe that it was the company he kept that led to his downfall. Many a young man has been started off the down road in this way and his learners have generally escaped. We believe that had the Adonis faced beauty from New York stayed there and manipulated his Tammany ideas there many people of this city would have been spared great trouble.

MERE MENTION.

Hadley paints buggies.

 Elsewhere in this issue will be found a call for a Farmers Institute to be held in this city next Wednesday. Good speakers will be in attendance and the farming community should turn out en masse and make it a grand success.
 The "Si Plunkard" Comedy company held forth at the opera House last Monday evening to one of the largest audiences that has congregated in that popular place of amusement for several years. The street parade in the afternoon drew as large a crowd, if not larger, than the show in the evening.
 We call your attention this week to the new advertisement of A. R. Reynolds' meat market. Since the advent of Mr. Reynolds in this city our citizens have appreciated the fact that they could get what they wanted, and have it delivered when they wanted it. He has built up a good trade which is daily increasing on account of the fact that he is obliging and keeps good meats.
 In connection with the Inter-State Swine Breeders association next week will be held a Farmer's institute. Several gentlemen of note will be present and address the meeting on various subjects of interest to farmers and breeders. The institute will be held at the court house on Wednesday, February 2d. Hon. E. F. Stephens of Crete will address the people on "Horticulture," a subject that will be of great interest to our farming classes and all others who are interested in the development of the great state of Nebraska. The Swine breeders meeting will be addressed by several gentlemen among whom will be Prof. A. T. Peters, D. N. S. of the state university. Mr. Peters will be in attendance at the meeting both days. W. A. Points of Albion, D. P. Ashburn and other speakers will be present. A general invitation is extended to all to be present. Both meetings will be held in the court house, the breeders meeting February 1st and 2d, and the Farmers institute on the second.

Just as Good as Scott's and we sell it much cheaper," is a statement sometimes made by the druggist when Scott's Emulsion is called for. This shows that the druggists themselves regard of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as the standard, and the purchaser who desires to procure the "standard" because he knows it has been of untold benefit, should not for one instant think of taking the risk of using some untried preparation. The substitution of something said to be "just as good" for a standard preparation twenty-five years on the market, should not be permitted by the intelligent purchaser.

 Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper and $1.00, all druggists.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL.

For Homeseeker's excursion dates via the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, and information of their tourist sleeper arrangements, address G. A. McNutt, D. P. A., 1044 Union avenue, Kansas City, Mo.
 J. A. Baum has accepted a position in McFarland's store at Red Cloud and will quit work in Douglas' drug store next week. He has made many good friends during his residence in Superior who wish him success wherever he goes.—Superior Journal.
 POSTPONED.—Owing to the fact that Dr. Peters, professor of veterinary science of the State University of Nebraska will be unable to attend the annual meeting of the Inter-State Swine Breeder's association at the date set, the meeting has been postponed until February 1 and 2, 1898.
 The appointment of a postmaster for Blue Hill, to succeed our genial friend Josh Martin, has been made, and our friend Col. John S. Hoover will be the new postmaster, he having received official notice of the appointment this week. The colonel is quite popular here, and his appointment will give satisfaction as far as we can learn.—Blue Hill Leader.
 James Carter recently went to a drug store and purchased some pills for insomnia. Being unable to sleep again that night he groped about in the dark until he found what he supposed to be the pills and gulped down three of them, after which he slept soundly. It was discovered the next morning that he had swallowed three of his wife's shirt waist buttons.—Goodland Republic.
 Don't use bill heads or statements in which you have to write your own name. Get them printed in an up-to-date style. There is nothing which will make your customers think you are of the disposition to be penurious so much as this. If you are stingy in one way what reason is there to believe that you won't be in other ways. Get your printing done right at the CHIEF office.
 "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy to all who suffer from pains in the stomach," says Mr. Milt McKinley, editor of the Rawson, Ohio, Herald. "Until I used this remedy it was, at times, impossible for me to be in my office, owing to attacks lasting from one to two days. By taking it as soon as the first symptoms of the attack are felt, I no longer suffer this unpleasant sickness." For sale by H. E. Gries.
 A barber at Miller runs the following ad. in the Gazette of that village: "Whiskers amputated without pain (to the barber) while you wait. Hair cut in any style, either frescoed or plain. All work guaranteed. We also carry a full line of foreign and domestic cigars and candies both plain and varnished. Fruits of all kinds—May apples, pineapples, Mushrooms, etc. Lunch of all kinds, both hot or cold, with or without. Call and see us, put up the mon and take the stuff."—Beaver City Tribune.
 Here is a problem for readers to ponder over: A train one mile long starts from the first station to the second with the caboose at the first station, the engine, therefore, being one mile from the first station and four miles from the second. A man starts from the caboose at the first station and walks to the engine, a distance of one mile, arriving there just as the engine arrives at the second station. Question—How far did the man ride? Some argue that the train only went four miles, he could not possibly ride any further than the train went, but on the other hand he rode from one station to the other, a distance of five miles. He was walking during the entire trip. How far did he walk?

There are a few members of the two cent aristocracy in every town, that look down on the farmer as an inferior animal. They part their hair and their names down the middle, wear silk belly-bands and no socks in the summer, fur trimmed overcoats and no underclothes in the winter, and an idiotic stare the year round. Thank heaven such animals are scarce. The farm and city people in the west are one people. All the good stock traces its lineage to the farm, generally to the homestead. Take any of the rustling business men, those who get along and make a success in life; their folks farmed, and probably they have milked a few bales of hay and carried a reasonably large number of hogs themselves. They have every respect for their friend and relative, the farmer, and nothing but contempt for the peniless, brainless, mannerless whippersnapper who stands on the corner and yells "hey, Rube?" at an honest tiller of the soil, whose dominions contain more dollars than the dude ever earned in his life, whose stomach contains better food, whose coat sleeve contains more muscle, whose skull contains more brains, whose heart contains more kindness and whose whole constitution is superior to the dudes, from the big grown toeball on his left eye-foot to the mole over his right eye-brow. They are harmless whelps, though, and rather amusing in a way.—Hastings Record.
