HE LOVED TO GIVE The Touching Lesson of a Very Charl

table Life. The story of George Francis Train sitting in the park surrounded by birds and children is a familiar one. It is not so generally known that North St. Louis was the home of a child and bird lover who died some years ago, says the St. Louis Republic, It was this gentle old man's custom to leave home every morning directly after breakfast with his pockets full of bread crumbs and rock candy. He would go to one of the parks near his home and sit down on one of the benches there. No matter how cold it was he never forgot these bread crumbs.

At sight of him the birds would fly toward him. There were not so many sparrows then as now, but sometimes hundreds of them would flutter about him. He has often been seen sitting there quietly with the little birds perched on his hat and shoulders.

When the birds had collected he would bring out his store of bread crumbs, and then there would be a feast. The rock candy he kept for children and poor people. He was always generous with it. He would say that it was pure and would help the poor wretches to keep warm.

It is told of him that he once paid a debt of $150 for an old friend. The creditor was told to say to inquirers that the bill was paid by "one who loved him." When they asked the old man about it he smiled, but did not acknowl edge that he had paid it.. He merely

"Ah! Love has paid many a debt."

WHAT THEY BROKE. Th Old Farmer Found That He Had

Been Mistaken. There had been rather a bad runaway accident in a mountain town. Several persons had been injured, and the doctor was miles away. But, as good luck would have it, a clever young medical student happened to be on the ground and did excellent service, says the Youth's Companion. When the doctor came there was nothing to be done, but he listened with great interest to his young colleague's exposition of the cases. They talked for a long time on the hotel piazza. The farmer who had been driving the horses and was himself unhurt listened with eager interest to explanations wherein scapula, humerus and clavicle played prominent parts. Finally he took up the reins sadly and drove home to his wife. As soon as he entered the yard she threw her apron over her head and hurried forward to meet him. "Ephraim says some of the folks was hurt," she called. "How much was it? Did they break their legs or their arms

The farmer drew in his now pacified steeds at the post and let the reins stacken in his grasp.

"Well," he said reflectively, leaning forward, both elbows on his knees: "I thought one of 'em broke his leg and another a collar bone, an' so on, but I guess I didn't bit it right. I stood by while the doctors were talkin' on't over and 'peared to me as if, arter all, 'twas only some of them Latin parts."

Used for Life Saving Service Only. The telephone lines between the United States life-saving stations along the New Jersey coast will no longer be used for any other than official business, orders having been issued from the department headquarters to that effect. This will end the rivalry between several prominent ministers, who have from time to time been preaching to the crews of the stations by the aid of the 'phone.

We have returned from our Kansas city trip, and were never "touched." Two years ago a fellow touched us for about $10 while in that bloomin' town; but we suppose he was not aware of the fact of our presence in the city yesterday. However, our money was distributed as equally as possible about our elothes this time, having secreted fifteen cents in one vest pocket and ten cents in another, while a quarter er was half a dozen sixpenny nails which we would stir up every time a suspicious looking character brushed up against us, in order to attract his attention from the real hiding places of our wealth. And while in the business part of the city we walked in the middle of the streets, although it kept us dodging the street cars. It's a good thing to be careful. While we loitered along down Main street, looking at the magnificent display of holiday attractions in the big show windows, the newsboys kept saying something about rubberneck as they came to where we were standing; one of them in particular standing right behind us and screaming out: "Last edition of the Kansas City Times! All about the triple hangin' in Alabama. Rubber-We inquired of a policeman as to whether Rubberneck was the America's most eminent physicians, man that got hung, or whether he hung the other fellows. The officer only smiled as he picked a few hayseeds from our overcoat collar, and brushed some silicate dirt from the

On Wednesday evening, January 19, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle of Bladen, Nebraska, Miss Della E. Tuttle to Mr. John H. McCallum, son of John McCallum, Sr., Rev. G. W. Hummell of the Blue Hill charge officiating. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. After the ceremony and congratulations most delicious refreshments were served. The house docorations and all arrangements were in most exquisite taste. The bride is an excellent and accomplished young lady and one of Webster county's successful school ma'ams, where she has performed her duties with esuch faithfulness as impressed all who knew her. The groom who is a successful young farmer of this county, is also well known to the people in and about Bladen. John is a popular young man, highly esteemed by all who know him. Both of the residents of this county. Miss Nellie come. McCallum, sister of the groom, and Mr. Ernest Williams acted as best lady and man. Much excellent music was rendered during the evening. Many valuable and useful presents were received by the happy couple. We are confident that the citizens, and especially the teachers of the county unite with THE CHIEF in its hearty good wishes for the future of Mr. and Mrs. McCallum. Their future home will be near Bladen, Neb.

Written by Mrs. Nancy Hilton on the death of Mrs. Ank, who died in this city on Monday, January 3d, 1898.

Our mother's face no more we'll see. Her voice is ever still. And tho' our hearts with sorrow bleed, We must say thy will,

Her faithful head is now at rest, Her troubled heart is still. Those vellow hands so used to toil. Are folded now and still,

A sister from our church is gone, Her vacant place we see, she has joined the church above. Where all is peace and joy and love.

Oh, mother dear, we would not weep, Porjone so blest at least, For as we lay thy form away. We say, dear mother, rest.
