BRANDED AS FALSE.

Statement of the Editor of the Fake Daily Morning Glory is Untrue. The statement made by the editor of the fake morning daily of this city, which has been dubbed as the Morning Glory, that he had access to the special dispatches of the Omaha Bee and the copyrighted cablegrams of the New York World and received them from the Bee office, will from a perusal of the following be found to be false:
OMAHA, May 5, 1898.
W. L. McMILLAN, Publisher Red Cloud Chief.—Dear Sir:—With reference to your letter of May 3d, I have to say, that no one connected with the Bee as an employee is sending out any war news service to any Nebraska newspapers. On the contrary, The Bee is under obligations to keep its press service both that received from the Associated Press and from the New York World exclusive to itself.
No one engaged in sending out dispatches from this city has access to the proofs of The Bee's war news telegrams, and if any one is sending out such dispatches compiled from the Bee it must be after the Bee has gone to press and appeared upon the streets. The Bee is printing all the war news of the day that is reliable and authentic, and any telegrams, which are printed in any paper, or posted upon any bulletin boards, which are not confirmed by the Bee's dispatches may be put down as fake pure and simple.
Very truly yours,
VICTOR ROSEWATER, Managing Editor.

Warren Sheffer.

A quiet wedding occurred April 24th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Sheffer which was attended only by relatives of the contracting parties. The daughter of the house, Miss Lia, was united in marriage to Mr. W. G. Warren, of this city, formerly of Red Cloud.
Miss Sheffer is well known in Superior, having resided here since childhood and is loved and respected by all who know her.
Mr. Warren is an enterprising young business man and is rapidly forging to the front. We wish the young couple all the happiness possible and that life's pathway for them may always be strewn with roses.—Superior Journal.
At last Guide Rock is to have a brick yard and the Signal hopes in advance that it may prove a grand success. A Mr. Miller of Nelson has identified himself with the labor exchange of this place and work will be commenced next week. Lots have been secured south of the depot—and less than a block distant from the track—as good a location as could be desired. The Signal will probably be able to give further particulars next week.—Guide Rock Signal.
Many old soldiers now feel the effect of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. George S. Anderson of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. For sale by H. E. Grice.
The question has been asked, "Why do newspaper men all go to heaven?" An exchange explains it as follows: "The newspaper man is the public slave. He helps to make his neighbor rich and dies poor. He helps to elect candidates to fat salaries, gets a little patronage at starvation prices and waits till doomsday for his money. He builds up churches, schools and other public institutions, contributes his might to their support, and when they have paid job work and advertising to give they take it somewhere else or ask for bids from those who never aided them against those who did. He credits a man two years for a paper and when he sends in the bill the man gets mad and quits. That's why all newspaper men go to heaven, and why so many other sorts miss connection with the 'gospel train.'—Smith Center Pioneer.

A young man in Ellsworth, says the Messenger, was once so captivated with the thorough manner in which a young lady spanked her younger brother with a barrel stave that he married her. But each morning during the winter as he sits on her hands and reaches under the bed for a slat and remarks that it is time the kitchen fire was built, he has repented of his youthful infatuation for her muscular accomplishment.—Smith Center Pioneer.

Persistent Coughs

A cough which seems to hang on in spite of all the remedies which you have applied certainly needs energetic and sensible treatment. For twenty-five years that standard preparation of cod-liver oil, has proved its effectiveness in curing the trying affections of the throat and lungs, and this is the reason why: the cod-liver oil, partially digested, strengthens and vitalizes the whole system; the hypophosphites act as a tonic to the mind and nerves, and the glycerine soothes and heals the irritation. Can you think of any combination so effective as this?

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.
