A. B. PEIRCE, Com.

Ernest Jones of Guide Rock is a new acquisition to the professional circles of our city. He has opened up offices over the Wright hardware store for the transaction of the business of his profession, that of attorney. He is a young man, a former Red Cloud boy and has attended some of the best schools of law. We predict for him a bright future, before the Webster county bar and wish him success.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a course of entertainments which the high school will endeavor to give in this city this winter. The success of this undertaking depends greatly upon the manner in which our citizens patronize them. The course comprises some of the best musical and lecture talent on the boards today, and there is no reason why our people should not patronize them and help the educational cause along in preference to paying their money to go to a bum show.

Rev. J. H. N. Cobb, who has presided as pastor of the Methodist church of this city with such able ability and with such signal success for the past year has said his farewells to his congregation and other friends and has accepted a position with the National Life and Trust Co., of Des Moines. Although having resided here but a year he has endeared himself to the general public in a manner which few divines who have resided here a much longer time have done. He rose above the petty fanatical ideas of duty which are held by so many members of the cloth. He always interested himself in the needy poor and when soliciting for this laudable purpose he was not afraid to step into a saloon, shake hands with the proprietor and state the object of his business. The world would be better if we had more such men. A very pleasant farewell reception was given himself and family at the home of L. H. Rust on Tuesday evening. He will still make this place his home.

In our last week's write-up of the flower parade we unintentionally failed entirely to make mention of one of the very pretty rigs which took part. This was the one which was decorated by Miss Mable Saunders and Mrs. Hughes. The decorations were pumpkin blossoms, small pumpkins and vines and were very tastefully arranged and artistically designed. Our oversight was not noticed until after the paper was printed and it is due the ladies that we make this apology for our carelessness.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Robinson last Tuesday afternoon was given one of the most pleasant at home parties ever held in this city, which was given in honor of Mrs. E. B. Gaze of Baker City, Oregon, a sister of Mr. Robinson. The house had been very artistically decorated for the occasion, and the flower decorations were very unique and attractive. Over one hundred invited guests participated in the event. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, sherbet, etc., were served. The event was one of the most notable and elaborate social functions that it has been our pleasure to chronicle in this city.

High School Course of Entertainments.
The high school is arranging for a course of high class entertainments for the winter. The object of the course is not to make money but to furnish a class of programs by the best entertainers on the platform. This is an enterprise for the good of the school and the city, and we ask the co-operation of all of the people of the town. The course is expensive and unless the people assist in maintaining it the course will fail. Consider this an opportunity to get a winter's entertainment at a reasonable cost and not that you are contributing to a charitable cause. The course will consist of five numbers.

1st—November—"Haha-Parke Quartette." This consists of the following combinations: Mary Davis Hahn, first violin and soloist; Anna Dale Parke second violin; Ada Dale Parke, viola; Nina Dale Parke, alto. The Parkesisters quartet, Anna Dale Parke, first violin; Ada Dale Parke, viola and soprano; Nina Dale Parke, cello; Caroline Dale Parke, piano; Mr. Ass Howard, barytone. This is the greatest combination of talent the bureau puts out.

2d—December—Ralph Parlette. Humorist and impersonator called the second Bob Burdette. He says of himself: "I made my debut before an American audience thirty-two years ago on my first birthday. The affair wasn't properly advertised, but it was a howling success. I filled the public ear mightily and created a big sensation. Year after year my thinker ran on grinding out plain and ornamental tho'ts, orthodox and unorthodox tho'ts, patent roller, self-raising tho'ts, and half think tho'tlets. Our town got so lettered up with my tho'ts, that one night a mob of enthusiastic citizens called and urged me to go abroad and lecture. I started afoot that night amid great applause."

3d—January—Faller Swift. Mr. Fuller Swift has become famous in the lecture world on his lecture "Our Queen." He has the strong endorsement of the best men in the country.

4th—February—Spillman Riggs. Humorist, sob whistler and musical impersonator. There is such a demand

The following resolutions were passed at the late meeting of James A. Garfield Post No. 80:

Whereas, We are loyal to our country. We defended it under every hardship and trial of a cruel civil war; the hardest fought battles of the world's history. A rebellion of states against states, we successfully fought to a reunion of all the states. We love our country because it is the best the world has ever known. We love it because it teaches man the true value to become a good citizen. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we as members of Garfield Post deeply mourn the loss of our comrade, Wm. McKinley, our comrade president, who was a good soldier, an able representative, a wise and patriotic president, a christian citizen and a manly man. Who was shot to death by the hand of a cruel assassin and we earnestly and heartily endorse any movement by the loyal people of our beloved country that will suppress anarchy and banish anarchists and all other disloyal organizations from this our beloved country.
