

'Just as well as I used to see.'

There is no one little thing on earth that will afford elderly people so much pleasure as to find glasses that will give them good vision after the eyes begin to fail—something that will enable them "to see as they used to."

We especially solicit a call from those whose present glasses are not satisfactory or who have failed to find glass satisfaction elsewhere.

We want to help you see as you used to see.

BAD WRECK AT HOLDREGE.

William Francisco Killed, Two Others Injured.

Last Monday, at about 12:30 p. m., occurred a disastrous wreck on the Burlington road just east of the round house at Holdrege, Neb. William Francisco, Engineer on freight train No. 147, was killed, and Ed Montague and A. E. Houchin were seriously injured.

Freight train No. 147, drawn by engine No. 191, was just pulling out of the main line and was to be followed by the light engine No. 116, with Ed Montague as engineer. Engine No. 116 was run up the high line, expecting to go down the cut-off onto the main line. An extra freight, with a double header, coming down the high line, struck engine No. 116 as it was partly on the cut-off and was thrown against engine No. 191, in charge of Engineer Francisco, on the main line. Both engines on the high line train were thrown from the track and were completely wrecked. Engine No. 116 had its tender wrecked, while No. 191 was stripped of its cab on the engineer's side, broken badly and the tender damaged.

All the engineers jumped. A car of shelled corn was thrown on Francisco, burying him and, it is supposed, causing death instantly. When his body was recovered it was found he had a great gash over the left temple. His chest was crushed in and several ribs broken.

Ed Montague had his right hip and lower part of his back injured, and A. E. Houchin, one of the engineers on the high line train, received a severe sprain of the right ankle.

Public opinion at Holdrege seems to lay the blame for the accident on the light engine and the wonder is that no more lives were lost.

Wm. Francisco, the man who was killed, was for a number of years a resident of this city. He began braking for the B. & M. about 1886 and a few years later quit the train service and went to work in the engine department. He moved from here, some time about 1892, to McCook, where he has since made his home. He was about 45 years of age and was twice married. His first marriage was to a Miss Anna Murphy of this city, a daughter of James Murphy, who died here a few years ago, and about a year after the death of his first wife he married a lady in Hastings.

Ed Montague has been an engineer on the B. & M. for a number of years and was at one time a resident of this city, but for the past eight or ten years has made his home in Oxford.

A. E. Houchin, or "Tink," as he is commonly called, is related to the Houchins of Garfield township and was brought up in this county. He began his railroading career at this place. His home is now in Holdrege.

All had an excellent time and a good lunch and came home in sensible hours.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.
J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unblock the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.
