

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

MEN ARE NOW LACING

Fashionables Find Stays Conducive to Proper Form.

Dainty Little Affairs for Cinching in the Portly Fronts of Masculine Esthetes Are the Correct Capers.

Man has fallen from his high estate into a "straight front." It is a stilly little affair, with yards of silk laces behind and steel hooks in front. It is composed of unimpeachable drilling and warranted whale bones, and it is for all the world like the cute little Olga Nethercole models that set the corset world aflame a short time ago. But for all its lightsome manner, it is a corset with a mission, and not autoerotic. He who compresses his increasing rotundity into its clinging confines doubts that it thoroughly understands its business, says the New York World.

He conceals it beneath a negligee shirt and a bland smile, to say nothing of a belt that betrays a downward tendency in front. You know it. Love-ly woman by its aid for the past year and a half has defied the most expert of the sterner sex to estimate the extent of her embolus by any number of inches. But then there was the pouch shirt waist and the marvelously gored skirt and all the other misleading "effects" to dazzle the eye of the uninitiated.

But with the man the elongated belt is quite another story. It is more than a suspicious circumstance. It is a distinct announcement that his new-found "chestiness" and the waggle of his walk do not alone emanate from proper pride. They have a good and sufficient reason—a reason that is three inches tighter than the trousers band, and guaranteed to give a "lovely form." It is another case of cherchez la femme. A woman is at the bottom of it.

Not content with the revamping of feminine figures, sagging manly outlines appealed to her sympathies, and in a moment of enthusiasm she vowed that man should part with the recognized trade mark of the epicure and acquire a "back." A "young back" is the thing. Even man himself yielded to this argument. But nobody said a word about "straight-fronts." They were far too wise for that. The corset, however, as evolved, fills the bill. The shortest style is ten inches in front, 12 inches and even more being the extent of different models.

Like those of the other gender, it is short about the waist and long below it, and it is intended for the stout man to curb a "front" with an impetuous curve and to keep his hips in elastic shape. "Bay windows," it is said, will disappear after a few months' wearing, and the line from neck to waist will lengthen several inches. The lean man, without any curves, exuberant or other, will find in the corset the happy change of contour he desires.

Whether or not in the case of those who are so far fallen into flesh that heroic measures are necessary for straight-front purposes, the feminine garter will be resorted to and the pulley process applied, is not yet known. Man is too new in harness to be able to speak for himself on this subject. As woman adopted the male stock and garter for her summer comfort, it would only seem a matter of fair exchange. But in the interest of his new-fangled hygiene his latest advocate should be given a demonstration of how to put on his corset.

EARLY WOMEN PHYSICIANS.

Were Beaten by Difficulties and Discouragements Unknown at the Present Time.

"How little the medical women of today know of the annoyances and irritations that women physicians were subjected to in their first years of practice," says Dr. Townsend, in her article on "New York's Medical Women and Their Work," in Pearson's, "of the snubs of male physicians, who declined to counsel with them, of the refusal of medical societies to admit them, even

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

the reluctance of druggists to compound their prescriptions. Frequently, their signs would be torn from their office doors. What they bore in the way of insults can scarcely be estimated. Now, nearly every college is open to them for the full and free pursuit of knowledge.

"It has taken only 44 years to accomplish this result—less than an ordinary lifetime. Since that time Canada and the United States have opened the doors of 53 medical colleges to both sexes, and eight for women alone now exist. The average number of medical women graduates each year is about 900, and it is estimated that there are nearly 6,000 women physicians practicing in this country.

"Fifty four years ago it required the greatest influence to admit medical women to visit the hospital wards; they were treated rudely and subjected to insult. To-day hundreds of hospitals welcome them cordially.

"Years ago, a medical woman had a hard time to make ends meet with the proceeds of her labor. At this period each large city will show the names of several who are earning $5,000, $10,000, $15,000 and $20,000 annually."

TISSUE LAMP SHADES.

Late Designs Have the Style and Color Effects of Silk and Satin Shades.

There is something entirely new for the woman who has tact in her fingers—and what average woman has not?—and delights in lamp and candle shades, reports the New York Times. They are made of tissue and crepe paper, and no one need scold, for they are not the old-time flower effects, which are pretty, to be sure, but not as generally useful as might be. These newer shades are made on the lines of the silk and satin shades, have equally as good color effects, and do not entail the expense of those made of more elaborate materials.

The lamp shades are made on the regular lamp shade frames to be found in different styles and sizes. There are the dome shades, the bell shades, and the flat-sided Empire shades. They are all made similarly, the different styles of paper producing different effects. The wires in the frames, which can be purchased with the supplies, are covered with plain tissue paper twisted over them, or with the colored, if desired, that any part that is visible may have a finished appearance. There are many fancy patterns in crepe paper, and these are used at will. These include the flowered papers showing flowers of different colors and shades, blue and white papers, which give Delft tones, and Persian papers, which work up excellently into shades for libraries, or possibly for dining-rooms. For candle shades, as a rule, the more delicate colors are used.

The tissue paper in white is first put on the frame, and over this is stretched the flowered crepe paper, and the top and bottom and ribs of the shades are outlined with narrow strips of black or gold, hiding the places where the paper is joined and giving the effect of wrought iron or brass frames. The result is a lamp shade that is inexpensive and exceedingly pretty.

One of these shades, which is attractive, is made of a crepe paper which has a white foundation, with a design of pale pink roses upon it. Another is in the blue, both of these outlined with the black paper, and a brilliant dark red shade is finished with the gold passe-partout paper. Candle shades are similarly made and shaped over a butter or cheese dish top, and the candle shade holders can be bought to mount them on. Pretty effects are obtained by using a colored paper, instead of the white as the foundation or lining of the shade, and deep and varied color tones can be obtained.

PRETTY THINGS TO WEAR.

New Notions in Dress That Have Been Introduced in the Season's Costumes.

The "multicolored idea" extends even to gloves this year. Kids come in all the cloth shades, with bindings and stitings of the brightest colors.

Plush tops and velvet underbrims will be frequently seen in the stylish winter hats, says the New York Tribune.

Persian lamb trimming of lustrous fiber is one of the important accessories of the season. It comes in galloons of various widths and appliques of different forms, which, however, are invariably edged with a plain or novelty fiber braid. These will be much used, both in millinery and dress trimming, as will also wool embroideries on chiffon or taffeta in oriental or pompadour colorings and cloth cut work in two colors, outlined in black and white or poncee colored silk cord. Garnitures of wool embroidery in multicolors, with fringe ornaments and dangles, are attractive novelties.

Cuffs are the center of interest in the sleeve line this season. Otherwise there is no radical departure in outline or architecture. The baggy puff, which is slightly diminished by means of gores, has been shifted somewhat more toward the elbow. But the cuff of the season, those specimens especially which adorn the more dressy costumes and coats, seem to combine the ideas and all the different eras in the history of dress, and are indeed glowing tributes to the ingenuity of the sartorial artist.

There is no tendency toward striking eccentricities in fall models, says Toilettes. They are graceful, smart and novel, but the difference in cut are slight and the chicness consists rather in the shaping of adjuncts and disposition of trimming. The eye has gradually become accustomed to an increased length of shoulder and fullness of skirt in the fashionable silhouette, and the replacing of the pouched blouse by fitted fronts has been too gradual for the result to appear really startling now.

Teaching the Child to Obey.

A mother should be careful to make only reasonable demands upon her child's obedience, but when once made, to enforce them implicitly. A thing once refused should never be yielded to again. When it is possible the reason for the refusal should be explained to the child. One should be very careful never to enter into a contest over a point that cannot be enforced. A child may be made to do certain things, but no power on earth can force him to do others, or to say words that he has made up his mind not to say. The prudent mother will enforce her authority and teach obedience on the ground that she is sure of being able to hold. Points that she knows she cannot carry she will avoid until the habit of obedience is formed and then there will be no discussion.

New Oyster Scallop.

Now that oysters are in again try this method of making a scallop for Sunday night tea. Instead of arranging the bread crumbs, oysters and seasoning in alternate layers, prepare the requisite amount of crumbs, which should be dry and crisp, not fresh and soft, by sifting salt, pepper and celery salt thoroughly through them. Pour oysters and liquor on the crumbs and mix lightly with two forks. Add a cupful of cream, or enough cream to fill the buttered dish, put bits of butter over the top and bake.—N. Y. Post.

Fried Cucumbers.

Peel and slice thin, dip in beaten egg and then in fine bread crumbs. Heat two tablespoonfuls of sweet drippings in a frying pan, put in the slices and fry brown on both sides. Serve on toast with a brown gravy.—Washington Star.
