The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF FLORA.

Singular Effect of Shouting "Hello, Mac" in Some Parts of North Carolina.

"I was waiting for a train at a wayside station in Moore county, N. C., one day," said John Gilbert, the traveling groceryman, according to the New York Sun, "and in a man that came out of a store up the street a little way and was crossing over to another store I was sure I recognized Joe McCann, a fellow traveling man, although I wondered at his being down in that country, so I hollered at him:

"'Hello-o-o-o, Mac!'"

"Three men were walking up the railroad track at least a hundred yards away. They instantly stopped, turned around, and each one of them shouted back:

"'Hello!'"

"Two men came hurrying out of the waiting room of the station and asked what was wanted. A man who was nailing a board on a fence two blocks up the street dropped his hammer and walked smartly toward the station. A window in a house across the track was quickly raised, and a man with a shock of fair hair stuck his head out and hollered:

"'Hello!'"

"Four other citizens came hurriedly out of a store on the other side of the railroad, and looked inquiringly toward me, but Joe McCann didn't look around, and in a moment I saw that he wasn't Joe McCann at all.

"The train came along just then and I got aboard, puzzled at the commotion that shout of mine at the supposed Joe McCann had caused among so many citizens of the hamlet.

"I was followed into the car by a man who was standing on the station platform near me when I hailed the man of mistaken identity, and who seemed much pleased at the result of it. He sat down in the seat ahead of me and said:

"That was the first time you've tried 'em, I see. You didn't get a rise out of as many of 'em as you will after you get used to it. If I had hollered 'em up, now, you'd have thought there was a dog fight in town, the way they'd have bobbed out to see what I wanted. You want to put more lung in your holler to see 'em show up right smart."

"I began to think that the hamlet was a fresh-air lunatic asylum and that there was another of its patients out for a holiday. I guess I must have looked my thoughts, for the man quit his grinning and said:

"You was trying 'em. Wasn't you?"

"I told him I wasn't trying anybody that I knew of, and explained why I had happened to raise the shout that seemed to have turned everybody crazy.

"'Oh!' said he, 'that's funny. Then I'll have to tell you about it.'"

"It's all on account of Flora. Flora Macdonald. You know the story of Flora, of course? The beautiful Scotch lassie, who saved Prince Charley.

"Well, after she saved him she married a Scotch muckamuck of the same surname as hers, and came with him and a big colony of canny Scotch to this side of the water. They settled on the North Carolina coast, somewhere about the present site of Fayetteville, and got along first rate.

"When the colonies began to fight the mother country, Flora Macdonald didn't like it. She and her folks returned to her native land, and quit a number of her colonists went along.

"But there was plenty of them left when the war ended, and their descendants are thick in all this part of North Carolina. Thus it is, go where you may, hereabouts, you will find the woods full of Macs—Macleods, Macdonalds, McBrides, McNeils, Macphersons, McCrummenses, MacIvers, McDuffies, Mackenzies, McDades, Macleans, Macintoshes and hosts of other Macs. One man back here in the place we just left is what you might call a triple Mac. His name is Macdonald Macleod McIver.

"So, if you step into almost any settlement around here in Moore county, and along the Cape Fear river, and holler 'Mac!' as you did back yonder, only louder, you'll be apt to have pretty much every able-bodied man in the place answering the call. And that's why I thought you were trying 'em. So, if you ever do try 'em, put more lung in your holler, and you'll get a rise that would make Flora Macdonald weep tears of joy if she could only see it."

"I never tried it, but from what I saw at that little hamlet I don't believe the man was giving me very much of a jolly."

BLACK-DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCHELLE, GA., Jan. 30, 1902. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 20 per cent better.
