History of the Monument Fund.

About twenty years ago the soldiers' of the Grand Army, conceived the idea of erecting a building of their own in which to hold their meetings and as a source of revenue. As a beginning to that end they set about raising money to buy a lot. It was at the height of Red Cloud's prosperity and lots were held at extravagant prices. After much effort and with the help of entertainments arranged by Captain Jinger who came here to help the soldiers, five hundred dollars were raised and paid for the lot cornering on the Odd Fellows hall. But hard times came caused by drouth and crop failures.
Money was hard to get and the soldier's have never been able to see their hopes of a building fulfilled, and now the soldier's are growing old and soon will need only that "low green bed whose curtains never swing outward" the post will have held its last meeting and the Grand Army surrendered to the universal foe. What then shall be done with the lot and small building fund now on hand. It is their wish to realize as large a sum as possible by the sale of the monument button each buyer to have a chance on the lot and use the money towards building a monument thus to place in an enduring form their plans and hopes, their toil and money. It will be their last work as an organization and they want to make it their best. What is all right for the old soldier's to take the loan in this work it should not be left to them alone nor considered that it chiefly concerns them.

A beautiful monument will adorn our city and show forth the public spirit of its inhabitants. As during the war many of these monuments were raised to the memory of the unknown dead by the citizens who stayed at home. So now it is the citizen who should hasten to show his gratitude for the peace and prosperity we enjoy, and which was purchased by the lives of those we seek to honor.

A subscription paper will be passed.

Don't forget the old man with the fish on his back.

For nearly thirty years he has been traveling around the world, and is still traveling, bringing health and comfort wherever he goes.

To the consumptive he brings the strength and flesh he so much needs.

To all weak and sickly children he gives rich and strengthening food.

To thin and pale persons he gives new firm flesh and rich red blood.

Children who first saw the old man with the fish are now grown up and have children of their own.

He stands for Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil—a delightful food and a natural tonic for children, for old folks and for all who need flesh and strength.
