The prospects for a complete Republican victory in this county November 8 are very bright.

The Hastings Republican force must have had a good time Sunday. Monday evening's Republican had its headline reversed. This is the way it read: "Republican Hastings."

It is amusing to watch the World-Herald's manipulation of the Lincoln News' anti-administration editorials, claiming the News is a Republican paper. The News has never stood for anything in particular and is a renegade of the blackest type.

In another column we publish a fine photograph of A. Galusha of this city, Republican candidate for secretary of state, together with a brief but very complimentary sketch from the Seward Blade, which shows the feeling with which Mr. Galusha is regarded in the city which was his home before he came to Red Cloud.

The leading papers of Hastings, the Republican (Dem.) and the Tribune (Rep.) have for the past two weeks been engaged in a war of words over the action of the Blue Hill convention in turning down F. A. Swezey for float representative. It seems that Charley Putnam, chairman of the convention, has refused to sign the certificate of nomination for Eric Johnson of Hastings, who was the choice of the convention, claiming that the Webster county delegation was not fairly treated. Let them fight it out—both candidates are residents of Hastings.

A. Galusha, republican candidate for secretary of state, is a comparatively young man who has shown the elements of success in his career. Orphaned at an early age Mr. Galusha has had to combat life's obstacles according to his own judgment and ability. Placed thus so many fail, or at least drift into obscurity, that in contrast Mr. Galusha's business success is particularly creditable to him. The qualities which distinguish him are of the kind that warrant us in believing that his election to the office for which he is a candidate will be an excellent and safe move.—Hastings Tribune.

A "Howl."

The wildest dreams of fancy, the most extravagant flights into the misty realms of the unknown, the most profound indulgence in reveries could not equal the actual, vivid canine demonstrations of the past few nights. From the deepest stage of profound slumber to the wide-awake startling howls and lamentations of a thousand curs is far from pleasant. For months past the town has been burdened with dogs of every description and we humbly suggest to the powers that be that they take some vigorous measures to abate the nuisance. Common dogs, hounds, spaniels, terriers and curs unite to make the night hideous and terrifying. Was there a single dog tax collected this year? We should judge not, but some measure should be adopted, and that speedily. While enjoying the beneficent effects of roses and carnations, yellow candles shedding a soft glow over the rich cut-glass and silver.

Only the P. E. O. society, of which the bride is a member, and a few intimate friends were present, besides the relatives of the bride and groom.

The many presents of cut glass, silver, china and pictures were interspersed with a generous number of checks.

The bride wore a cream crepe de chine dress over cream silk, with orange blossoms in her hair, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Coon, as bridesmaid, wore a yellow silk tissue and carried yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Auld left on the two o'clock train for a short trip to St. Louis. The out of town guests were Mrs. Auld, from Iowa, T. W. Auld of Lincoln, Miss Murphy of Oxford and Mr. Douglass Cather of Casper, Wyo.

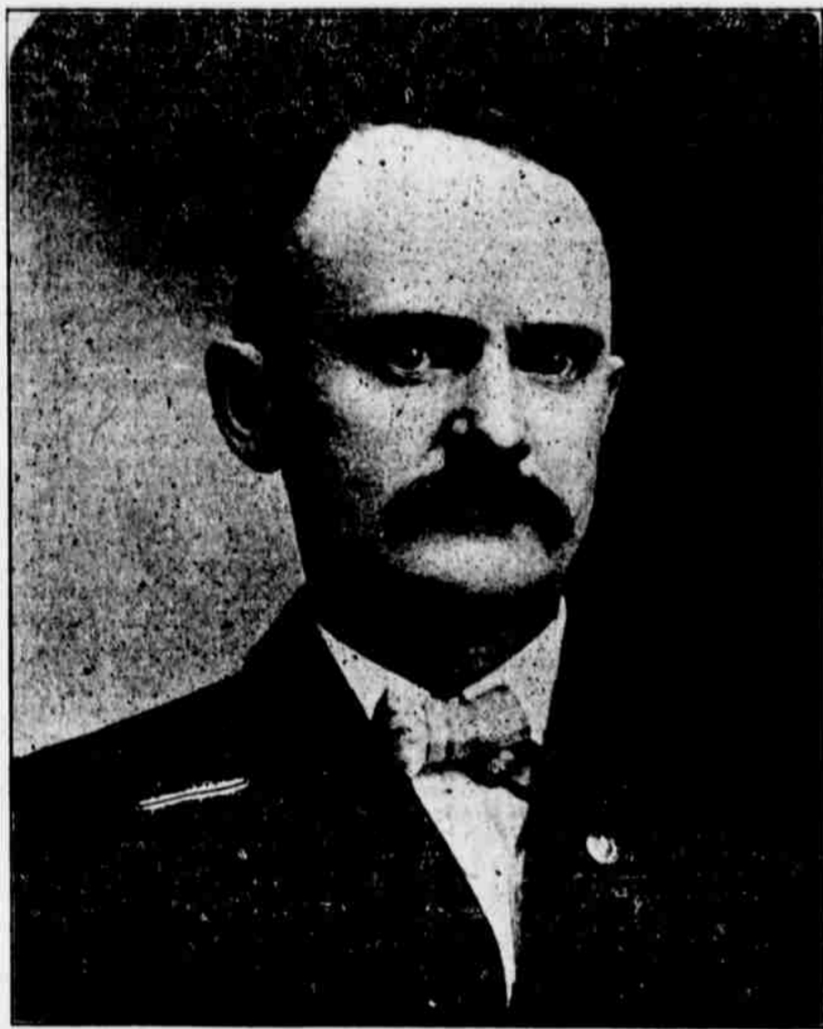

The bride is a native of Frederick county, Virginia, and came to this county with her parents in the early '80s. For the past two years she has been one of the most successful and popular teachers in the public schools.

"Will" Auld, as he is popularly known, was born in Marion county, Iowa, twenty-eight years ago. He is at present cashier and manager of the State Bank of Red Cloud, and is one of the most promising young business men of the city.

The happy couple have the best wishes of a host of friends.

ALGERNON GALUSHA.

(From the Seward Blade.)

An old Seward county boy who has made his mark in the world and although he is at present a citizen of Red Cloud, Neb., yet we feel that Seward county has a right to claim him as we sent him out to battle with the world in his young manhood.

Al, as we all learned to call him, was born at Franklin Falls, New York, July 29th, 1859, but moved at the age of eight to Laurenceville, same state, where he was educated in the academy. He struck the great western trail which led him to Seward in 1882, where he clerked in a store and gained many friends who well remember him as a bright young man of good character and very attentive to business.

In 1886 he went to Red Cloud and was for many years engaged in the mercantile business, but is at present traveling as a salesman, and although he has just been nominated by the State Republican convention to be their standard bearer for Secretary of State, instead of traversing the state looking for votes, he is attending strictly to his employer's business, and we judge the people will recognize that important fact.

Mr. Galusha is an honorable member of the Masonic order Blue Lodge No. 53, at Red Cloud, also of chapter No. 19 and Cyrene Commandery No. 14. He is a member of the A. O. U. W. No. 60 at his home, is a member of the Grand lodge and secretary of the finance committee.

of nature's sweet restorer, we have a decided antipathy to being rudely awakened by such frightful incantations as have disturbed the quiet and repose of all honest citizens. Might we humbly suggest that the county authorities give the dogs a passing notice?

Cather—Auld.

Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cather occurred the marriage of their daughter, Jessica Virginia, to James William Auld.

The house was handsomely decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and lighted with yellow and white candles. At 9:30, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Irene Miner, the bridal procession appeared, led by Rev. W. H. Willahan, pastor of the Baptist church, followed by little Jennie Miner bearing the ring on a white satin pillow. Next came the bridesmaid and best man in the persons of Miss Gertrude Coon and Mr. Douglass Cather. The bride entered bearing on her father's arm, and Mrs. Cather followed on the arm of the groom. The impressive ring ceremony of the Episcopal church was used by Rev. Willahan, and after the happy couple had received the congratulations of the guests an elegant wedding supper was served. The tables were beautiful with their decorations

Kansas City Market.

Special to THE CHIEF.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 4—Another decline of 10 to 20 cents on nearly all kinds of cattle last week put prices about down to the limit, and has had the effect of causing moderate receipts at all the markets first two days of this week. Top price today is $5, a little more than same steers would have sold for last week. Grass steers sell at $3.25 to $4.25, and those that have had considerable amount of grain rapidly grade up in price. Grass cows bring $2.25 to $3.25, and heifers up to $3.75; very little dry lot she stuff is being marketed. Choice light veal calves bring up to $5.50, but coarse and heavy calves seldom reach $4.75, stock calves range from $4 down. Good to choice heavy, deboned feeders now sell at $3.75 to $4.25, more than they have been bringing lately, but demand now seems best for this kind. Choice stock also bring some more, $3.50 to $4 but the medium to common grades on both stockers and feeders are not much changed in price from the low point, $2.25 to $3.25. Stock she stuff and feeding bulls sell at $2 to $2.50. It is thought that prices will not go any lower, as any decline will check the receipts, with the effect of immediately restoring prices. The hog run today is remarkable for two reasons, it is the heaviest run this year, and the quality is the best for a month past. Total hog supply at all the markets during September fell off 15 per cent from September last year, but for the past week packers have been conducting a successful bear campaign. Today, however, they bid up a nickel, and top is $5.95 only 15 cents under last Tuesday, when top was highest of the season. Bulk of sales today $5.75 to $5.90, with heavy hogs bringing most money.

The very liberal runs of Western sheep are being taken care of in good shape by the packers at steady prices. Lambs bring up to $5.25, mutton $3.25 to $3.85, fat ewes $3 to $3.35. Feeders in local territory are getting plenty of stuff now, but demand shows no falling off. Stock ewes bring $2.75 to $3.50, feeding wethers and yearlings $3.25 to $3.65, lambs $3.75 to $4.25.
